HORROR ON THE TRESTLE.

An Evansville & Terre Haute Train Crashes Into White River.

EIGHTEEN PEOPLE KILLED.

Engine Rolls Over and Lies at the Bottom of the Stream.

CARS COMPLETELY SUBMERGED

A Sleeper Surmounts the Day Coaches With Their Victims.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., March 10.—The most disastrous wreck that has ever occurred on the Evansville & Terre Haute railroad occurred this morning between 12 and 1 o'clock to the "midnight cannon-ball" train from Chicago coming south.

The recent rains had a terrible effect on the road and the entire service has been directed since last Friday to getting the road in good shape for travel.

It was pronounced safe last night and the train service was resumed.

All the trains had orders to proceed cautiously on slow time for safety.

The train that was wrecked was coming on under these orders.

ENGINE TURNED OVER.

Three-quarters of a mile north of Hazelton, where the road bed is built on an embankment, the embankment suddenly gave way and the engine, baggage car and a part of the smoker went down.

The engine turned over, but the baggage car remained upright. The smoker hung over the abyss.

Engineer McCutcheon escaped death, but the fireman, Joe Boleman, was killed.

Conductor Sears of Terre Haute, who was in the smoker, was also killed.

FIFTEEN PASSENGERS KILLED.

It is reported that there were fifteen passengers in the smoker.

All of these were killed. It is impossible to get their names, as they are still in the wreck.

Shortly after the train went down the crevasse spread, and is now 100 feet wide.

The baggage car and the smoker, which contains the ill-fated passengers, has floated off into the field.

SCENE OF THE ACCIDENT.

Where the accident occurred there is a long stretch of embankment upon which the track is laid.

This is surrounded by the back water from White River.

It is supposed the ground hogs burrowed under the embankment to get away from the flood and the water followed, making the accident possible.

The sleeper and ladies' coach were taken back to Vincennes. Many Evansville people were in the sleeper, including State Senator Leich and wife, returning from Indianapolis, Sheriff Covert and wife and Miss Ada Ragon, returning from the inauguration of President McKinley.

George Sears of Terre Haute, Indiana and Fireman Boleman, Evansville, were killed.

The casualties as reported by officials of the road are: Conductor, fireman and three passengers, names unknown, killed.

COLLIDED AT CAIRO.

Another Big Wreck Attended With a Loss of Life.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WICKLIFFE, Ky., March 10.—At 12 o'clock this morning the St. Louis express on the Illinois Central, north bound, collided with a freight train at East Cairo, Kentucky.

Fireman Walter Rogers sustained fatal injuries, both legs being crushed off. The mail and express cars were demolished.

TRAIN HELD UP.

Bold Robbers Make Away With Plunder Down in Alabama.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LOUISVILLE, March 10.—A special from Birmingham, Alabama, says:

The north-bound express train on the Louisville & Nashville road, due at Louisville at noon Wednesday, was held up by six masked men near Calera Tuesday morning.

At the water tank in the woods two men boarded the engine, covered the engineer and fireman with pistols and forced them to uncouple the locomotive and express car from the remainder of the train and run forward half a mile.

Here four more men were waiting. The messenger refused to open the express car. The door was broken open, the messenger covered with pistols and forced to open the safe. A number of packages of money were secured. The total amount is not known, but it is said to have been large. A posse is in pursuit of the robbers, having gone from Birmingham on a special train at 2 o'clock this morning.

A BROKEN LEG.

Accident to an Old Friend of the President at Washington.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—President McKinley's old friend and companion in arms, General Hastings, is confined in the Emergency Hospital with a broken leg.

Hastings was the commander of the Twenty-third Ohio, McKinley's old regiment, and now lives in Bermuda. He came to Washington to see the inauguration and was to have sailed home on Saturday.

Early this afternoon he called on the President at the White House and while returning to the hotel, was knocked down by a wagon and the leg once fractured at the battle of Winchester by a bullet, was broken.

Word was sent to the White House that General Hastings had been injured.

President McKinley at once sent a messenger with a note offering to render him any service in his power.

An hour later when he could escape from the visitors he drove to the hospital with Colonel Taylor of East Liverpool, Ohio and Captain W. C. Williams.

Sitting down by the cot, he took his friends hand.

"I am very sorry to find you here, General," the President said and added, "but I am told it is not serious and that's good. It all comes from running away from us so soon."

After some conversation, the President remarked:

"The last time I saw you wounded was at Winchester and I hardly thought you would pull through that time."

The patient will be removed to Garfield Hospital.

THE SENATE.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—There was the usually large attendance of Senators when Vice-President Hobart called the Senate to order at noon today.

The first business was the reading of a letter from Governor Bradley of Kentucky, announcing the appointment of Andrew Wood as Senator to succeed Blackburn.

Hoar at once moved that the Senator-elect be sworn in.

Morgan moved that the credentials would be referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections.

Hoar said he would not object and the credentials were referred.

Then Hoar presented a written notice of two proposed amendments to the rules of the Senate of a radical nature, the most important of which was, according to Hoar's written notice "to enable the Senate to act on legislation when it desires, after reasonable debate."

It provides that when any bill or resolution had been under consideration more than one day, any Senator could demand that the debate be closed. If a majority of the Senators desired, there should be a vote without further delay and no motion should be in order pending a vote but one to adjourn or to take recess.

The other amendment proposed was to prevent the interruption of members of the Senate. It provides that when a Senator makes a point of no quorum there shall be a roll call and if the presence of a quorum is disclosed, business should proceed.

A memorial was presented by Shoup from the Idaho Legislature asking for the annexation of that part of Wyoming. It was not read.

Warren said that if the Wyoming Legislature has been informed of the memorial, it would have taken action.

It was decided, on motion of Hoar, that when the Senate adjourn it be until Monday 11:30 but, in executive session, the Senate reconsidered its action and agreed that the adjournment would be sine die.

This was found expedient as no business could be transacted in a half hour on Monday and nominations made in that half hour would fail if not immediately confirmed.

At 12:40 P. M. the special session adjourned.

FOR SUNDAY CLOSING.

Councilman Bassett Intends to Introduce an Ordinance.

Will Have the Effect of Putting Both Councils on Record.

Councilman Bassett intends to place both Councils on record in regard to the Sunday closing of saloons. Today he wrote the following letter:

"To the Editor of the Tribune—Sir: I am credited by several papers with having intended to introduce at the Council meeting last night an ordinance closing the saloons from Saturday night until Monday morning. It's a pretty long eared donkey that does not know that the only business that can be transacted at a called meeting is the business named in the call. I will introduce the ordinance at the next regular meeting of the Council.

"J. M. BASSETT.

"Oakland, March 10, 1897."

The next meeting of the Council will be held on March 15th, and at that time the ordinance will be introduced. It will probably be read, like most ordinances are, for the first and second time and passed to print.

It is very probable that the vote to pass to print will show the following ayes—Bassett, Dow, Kaufman, Marshall, Buckland, Manuel, Towle and Mott. The noes will probably be Heitman, Brosnahan, Watkinson. It may, however, be referred to a committee, and then it could not come up again until the new Council is in office. Should such be the case it will propably be killed by the following vote of the new Council: Ayes—Rowe, Pringle, Upton. Noes—Henneberry, Girard, Brosnahan, Fibush, Watkinson, Heitmann, Cuveiller, Earl.

COUNCILMAN PRINGLE.

He Is Well Fitted in Experience to Undertake His Duties.

William B. Pringle, who made such a splendid run for Councilman-at-Large is the youngest man ever elected to the City Council.

He owes his election to the enthusiastic support given him by the young men of the city who importuned voters of all parties in his behalf. Mr. Pringle was born in this city in 1871. He attended the Oakland public schools, after which he entered Yale College and completed his education. Returning to his native State he attended Hastings Law College, where he fitted himself for his chosen profession of the law, after which he entered the law office of his father, Edward J. Pringle.

Thoroughly familiar with all the details of the important litigation now pending regarding the water front he will be able to give valuable aid to the city and to the Council when matters affecting this city and relating to this great suit are brought up. A thoughtful, conscientious, industrious man,—whatever he does, will be only after careful investigation and it is certain that while in office he will endeavor to help along those measures that will best benefit the city and result most advantageously.

Mr. Pringle presents a good illustration of the true California types resulting from the mixture of races. On one side he comes from a Puritan stock which counts four or five of the old Governors of Connecticut,—one of them having been one of the founders of Yale College; on the other side he comes from the Cavalier element of South Carolina, his family now holding the original letter from Washington and Jefferson tendering to his great grand-father the position of United States District Attorney in that State and afterwards of Attorney General of the United States.

He will enter upon the discharge of the duties of the important office to which he has been elected with the best wishes of his many friends and regarded by his colleagues highly, it is believed he will be able with their friendly cooperation to accomplish much for the district where he resides in the eastern portion of the city.

THE "PURITAN" INJURED.

She Must Get a Convoy to Tow Her to a Dry-Dock.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 10.—The following telegram was received at the Navy Department at 1 P. M. from the captain of the Pritan via Norfolk, and dated Hatteras Cove:

"The Puritan's engines are disabled. One may run for a short time. Must have convoy ready to tow. We weathered the gale admirably. Have wired the commander in chief."

Though nothing further is known, the Navy Department officers take this to indicate that the Puritan is safely anchored in Hatteras Cove.

Captain Sands of the Columbia has been ordered to Cape Hatteras. He wires that he will start not later that 3 P. M. and should make the run in about ten hours.

SIXTY KILLED.

BERLIN, Mar. 10.—A dispatch to the Cologne Gazette from Candia says that in the fight between the Bashi-Bazouks detachment and the insurgents before the gates of that town, sixty of the Turks were killed or wounded.

SIGHT IS PRICELESS.

Old Age, However, Not the Only Cause of Its Impairment.

THE DEFECTS IN YOUNG EYES.

Attention of Parents to Be Directed to Them by Teachers.

NEW DEPARTURE IN SCHOOL.

Dr. Myra Knox Explains the Method That Is to Be Followed.

On account of the prevalence of defective eyes among school children, the Board of Education has taken measures to alleviate the evil by the introduction of a system by which the children's eyes may be tested.

A meeting of teachers will be called, where the use of physicians charts will be explained.

The method is very simple, no instruments will be used and no expense will be incurred.

Dr. Knox when interviewed today had this to say on the subject:

"The method is very simple, any one can use it, if the have the charts. Of course, it is simply a rough estimate. The child can or can not see the letters and lines at the normal distance from the chart which is twenty feet.

"That is all the teachers can do. If the child cannot see the lines and letters distinctly, the parents are notified that the child has defective vision and the parents can do as they see fit about having the defect remedied by glasses or otherwise.

"No advice is offered and no suggestions are made by the teachers. That is solely the business of the parents.

"It is simply in the interest of relieving children of physical hinderances in their studies, and adding to their health and happiness.

"The teachers do not need instructions in the use of the charts. A knowledge of English and common sense is all that is required.

"One of the most common defects is Astigmatism and a fruitful cause of headaches. The causes of defective vision are too numerous to mention. Among them are poor light, too bright or too dim, bad air, reading on cars, reading when lying down, reading when tired, or when the body is weak, heated rooms, etc."

COURT NEWS

Judge Ogder Scores One of the San Leandro Potato Thieves.

Facts of Interest Developed In and About the Courts.

Ben Chipman and Martin Dearson, two of the Wingate gang, charged with robbing Joe Martin, a San Leandro farmer, were sentenced this morning, Chipman to three and Dearson to six months in the County Jail.

Ed Brown, another of the outfit, is serving five years for robbery for his share in the crime, but Pearson, against whom the testimony was more conclusive, was found guilty of petty larceny only. In passing sentence, Judge Ogden commented on the inconsistencies of juries and expressed a belief that Dearson was the arch actor in the theft. He said he was sorry that he could only impose a six months' sentence and would make it six years if he could.

Chipman is rather weak minded, so was allowed to plead guilty to petty larceny.

FORECLOSURE SALE.

Samuel L. Potter has purchased the property 70x105 feet at the northeast corner of Eleventh and Jefferson streets for $17,440. Potter held a mortgage on the land and buildings for that amount, given to him by Amos Roberts, and the purchase was at the commissioner's sale in the foreclosure proceedings, which were instituted.

CORY DIVORCE.

Alice Cory has caused default judgment to be entered in the divorce action brought by her against J. E. Cory. The hearing was held this morning before Judge Ellsworth, and the testimony brought out the actions of the husband with women of questionable reputation while he and his wife resided in Chico.

MANUEL TO HOBART

The Councilman Denies Being Afraid of a Boycott.

OFFERS A THOUSAND DOLLARS

He Will Pay It to Charity When the Proof Is Produced.

WANTS MINISTERS TO DECIDE.

The Anti-Saloon Question May Yet Produce a Sensation.

Councilman Manuel declares that Rev. C. H. Hobart has not treated him fairly and offers the reverend gentleman a thousand dollars if he can prove that he (Manuel) knuckled to the dictates of the liquor dealers.

Mr. Manuel has written the following letter to Mr. Hobart:

MANUEL'S CARD.

"Rev. C. H. Hobart, Oakland, Cal:—Assuming that you are correctly reported in last night's issue of the Tribune, I deem it my duty as a man and as a citizen to make reply.

"It is my judgment that from the position you hold in the community, and as a minister of the gospel, you are a conscientious, God-fearing man, and believing that you are such, I answer you. If I held you in less high esteem your interview would be unworthy of notice or subject to a suit for criminal libel.

"In denying the charge that you make, towit: 'That I knuckled to the dictates of the liquor dealers to avoid a boycott,' I want most of all to be believed, otherwise, such denial is without effect.

"It is true, that if my past life and regular deportment are not sufficiently known to you to be an absolute guarantee of honesty and good faith, there is little that I can say other than that the statement you make is absolutely false and untrue, and is more or less an injury to my reputation in the community; but I will say to you further, that I have not conversed with the managers of the liquor dealers or had any intercourse with them whatever on this subject for about two years.

"That you may have an incentive for further investigation in this matter, I hereby say to you that if you can discover one scintilla of evidence to support your charge, other than my vote in the Council, I will present to your church, for charitable purposes, $1,000 leaving the decision to the Protestant ministers of Oakland. Nor is this an idle boast, for if you will call upon me I will undertake to satisfy you of the sincerity of my intentions.

"Now, if you are as much a man as I believe you to be, you will either accept this proposition, or do me the justice to make as public the denial of this charge as you have made public the charge itself.

"WALTER G. MANUEL."

WHAT MR. HOBART SAID.

The language to which Mr. Manuel takes exception is the following which was published in an interview with Rev. C. H. Hobart yesterday afternoon:

"It is my opinion that Councilman Manuel knuckled to the California Protective Association, for he was so anxious to submit the question of Sunday closing to a vote of the people but when the time came to do it he knuckled to the dictates of the Liquor Association. I do not mean to be hard with Mr. Manuel for he has stood by some good measures in the Council, as he says, but that only makes his late conduct appear in that much worse light. If the California Protective Association did not cause him to knuckle to avoid a boycott I am greatly mistaken."

MORE TROOPS APPEAR.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CANEA, March 10.—When the sun rose this morning it was seen that there were strange vessels at anchor here. They were the British and Italian transports loaded with troops, evidently a part of a foreign force which, as the admirals recommended, will occupy all the principal seaport towns of the island. The Turks assert that these troops will be used to drive the Greek forces out of Crete, but this belief is not shared by the foreign population generally. Owing to the receipt of advices that a band of armed volunteers from Greece were on the way to Crete with the intention of reinforcing the Cretan insurgents, the foreign admirals agreed to dispatch a cruiser to prevent their landing. The Mussulmans besieged at Candamo have arrived here on an Italian warship.

THE RESULT OF GATES' SUIT.

Judge Greene Advises That a Charge of Fraud Be Prosecuted.

The $115,175 damage suit brought by George Gates against the promoters of the San Benito Irrigation Company was dismissed this morning by Judge Greene, but before the order was made, some testimony of a strange character was taken.

W. H. Eastland, the chief promoter, gave the evidence. He stated that although the articles of incorporation were filed no other steps were taken by any of the incorporators save himself. That he caused stock to be issued over his signature as president and Frank H. Fowler as secretary, although neither of them had ever been elected. Much of this stock was floated and George Gates got some of it. He is a large land holder in San Benito County and claims that the transaction caused his property to depreciate the amount asked for in the suit. He also said that he was out $11,000 in cash.

S. M. Eastland, now insane, H. W. Westphal, C. H. Walker, Wm. F. Halliday, Lea and Shores, Joseph Rosenthal, A. M. Jones, Jerome Perrier, Raphael Fiege, and Henry Peterson were also made defendants as stock holders, but the evidence showed that they had taken no part in the matter and the court held them not liable for Eastland's misdeeds. He also advised Gates to bring another suit setting up fraud practiced by the self-elected president as the grounds of action.

SECRETS OF A FURNACE.

Why the Air Warmer World Would Not Do Its Work.

She was a large, determined looking woman, and when [illegible] the real estate man [illegible] doubt from her looks [illegible] summoned the [illegible].

"Say," she [illegible] that house you sold me is the coldest place I ever saw. I have had the [illegible] kind of fire built but can't get it warm."

"H'm," said the real estate man. "There must be something [illegible]."

"Well, I should say [illegible] was, and you've got to fix it. You guaranteed that house, and I want you to come right out there and look at it. Why, a person'd freeze to death in that place sitting in front of a stove or [illegible] sit down in a night [illegible] -takes-all-winter manner."

"H'm," said the real estate man, reflectively stroking his [illegible] growth of chin whiskers. "Well, all right. I'll see about it."

And with that promise the woman went away, and the real estate man hunted up a furnace repairer and sent him out to see the house.

"Well," said the furnace man when he had returned from his examination, "what you need there is a draft. You haven't got enough draft in that furnace."

"Why, man alive," ejaculated the real estate man, "there's [illegible] draft in that furnace that runs through the back wall to the top of the house."

"Well, that's all right," said the furnace man, dubiously. "You'll have to have a draft there or that thing'll never work. The [illegible] will have to be raised about six inches, and it will cost about $30."

And after the real estate man had [illegible] him down to $20 the furnace man went to work and finished up the job.

And the next day the real estate man went out to look at it.

"Wow!" he said as the maid let him in the front door. "What's the matter here? Where's your mistress?"

But just then she came down muffled up in a great wrapper.

"This house is not a bit warmer," she said angrily. "Why, it's as cold as it can be in here, which was [illegible]." Then the real estate man turned up his coat collar and thrust his hands deep into his pockets.

"What's the matter?" he demanded pettishly. "Doesn't the thing work?"

"I don't know," she said with a puzzled air. "It ought to be all right, but my goodness, it don't give any warmer—there must be something wrong."

And the real estate man concluded that there was and making an excuse of getting the furnace man again, he made haste to get out in the enervating sunshine.

That afternoon he turned up with another furnace man.

"Ho, ho," said that worthy as soon as he got into the furnace room. "What you need here is more draft to this furnace."

"What's that?" yelled the angry real estate agent. "Why, man, there's draft enough in that furnace to lift the mortgage on this house. Why, I just had the concern raised six inches."

"Well, I can't help that," said the furnace man, decisively. "This room is too small, there isn't room for the draft to get to the fire; what you need is a draft box built to the rear of the house. This will give a supply of good clear air which will pour in and go freely through the house and warm it up in a jiffy. The furnace's all right. That job will cost about $25," he added.

And the fire box was constructed while the real estate man stood about with compressed lips and the woman shivered under a dozen or so Navajo blankets in the kitchen.

The concern was started again, but with poor success and the furnace man went about with an anxious look upon his face and got the servants to go through the pipes while he tinkered at the registers and let down weights through the holes. But nothing was discovered, and yet the house remained cold enough to frost the steam from the [illegible].

[illegible] said the furnace man finally, "I'll tell you what to do. You go and get the man that built the house and bring him out here and I'll consult with him about it and we'll get it fixed up."

And the real estate man hired a carriage and spent two hours hunting up the furnace man.

"What's the matter—that furnace wrong?" queried the furnace man after he had looked up the statistics on that particular house. "Why that's one of our best furnaces."

But nevertheless he buttoned up and went along with the real estate agent.

A minute inspection ensued while the parties all stood around anxiously and awaited the decision of this eminent authority.

"Well, I'll tell you," he remarked finally, "the concern probably chewed off the end of an air pipe. This craft is constructed wrong. It is all right when the wind is from the west, but when it veers around it is more of a detriment to the working of the furnace than anything else. It ought to run to the front wall here—you'll have to have a new draft constructed. It will cost about——"

But then they fell upon him. And he held out the real estate agent's carriage to get home in.

And after they had all gone the woman [illegible] with blood in her eye on a tour of investigation and discovered at the top of the house a skylight which acted as a [illegible] to the furnace down below.

And the natural draft had scurried up into the ceiling and ascended the specially constructed draft and shot out the open skylight at the top in cheerful volumes.

The house is now warm and so is the real estate agent, while the man that [illegible] the furnace is chiefly the woman [illegible] and the furnace repairers don't care.—Chicago News.

GEN. EZETA DEAD.

The Well-Known Salvadoran Soldier Succumbs to Disease at Panama.

By Associated Press to The Tribune

COLON, March 9.—A dispatch was received here from Panama this morning to the effect that Antonio Ezeta died in that city today.

Later the news was confirmed.

(General Antonio Ezeta mentioned above came to this country about two and a half years ago having been forced to leave Salvador because of the unsuccessful issue of the revolution in which he and his brother ex-President Carlos Ezeta took part. He escaped federal extradition with some associates among them General Casin and Villator. Later he and his companions went to Acapulco, Mexico, where they again undertook to raise a revolution in Salvador. The attempt was unsuccessful. Antonio returned to San Francisco but later took his way toward the South American and Central American republics again.

Since his departure but little was heard of him until a few weeks ago when it was rumored that the General was ill. This rumor was followed by another that the General had died, which now seems at least to have been verified.

Antonio's brother Carlos, the Ex-President of Salvador, is a resident in this city with his family, the residence being on William's street.

The Ex-President grieves greatly over the death of his brother—the general, because they had long been together in feats of arm and in troublesome times.)

PARDEE WILL CONTEST.

The Widow of Dr. E. H. Pardee Makes a Deposition in the Case.

Charges That Geo. C. Pardee Tried to Prejudice His Father's Mind.

The examination of Mrs Emma Pardee, widow of the late Dr E H Pardee was resumed this afternoon before Notary B H Griffiths. The taking of the deposition began yesterday and is a preliminary to the contest filed by her for the Pardee fortune.

Yesterday Mrs Pardee testified to the undue influence which she alleges her step-son George C Pardee, used to persuade his father to dispose of his property as he did. She said that the son visited their home frequently and talked with his father. She declared that on such occasions he had tried to prejudice her in her husband's mind.

She also testified that during the last years of his life her husband took powerful drugs to alleviate pain and that they produced a marked effect on his mind, on some occasions making him the victim of strong hallucinations.

WOMEN AS ARTISTS.

How They Thrive in Their Business in This City.

THE RESULT OF EXPERIENCE.

Facts Concerning the Fad of Decorating Rare China.

THOSE WHO USE OIL AND WATER

Struggle of Many to Overcome the Competition of the Metropolis.

One of the less prosaic pursuits of life by which daily bread may be honestly earned lies within the field of art. China painting as a fad has reached such dimensions that not a few young women have taken it up as a means of support, while society ladies of artistic tendencies have adopted it as a pastime. It is a sad fact, though nevertheless true, that Oakland as a city does not offer many advantages to artists. It has no art school, no opportunities for exhibit of the work of local artists, and does not possess metropolitan advantages. The tastes of its people may be artistic enough as the many homes artistically beautiful, testify. But it lacks that stimulus which only large centers of population can give to art and artists. The artists say that the people of the coast have not grown up to it yet, have not fully developed their powers of artistic appreciation. But they have hopes of a promising future for artists on the coast.

HOME PATRONAGE

There is another thing—lack of home patronage—which one of the artists seen by a Tribune reporter complained of. It is the same in respect to buying pictures as in buying some other products. San Francisco attracts considerable of Oakland patronage which ought to support her home industries.

On account of the hard times, sales in pictures have not been lively of late, but the artists look forward to better times in the spring. During the holidays, however, business was brisk.

WOMEN OF THE PALETTE

Among the women artists in Oakland are Mrs Benton and Mrs Gelwicks. Mrs Benton came to California in the early days of its history, and Mrs. Gelwicks was one of the first pupils in the Art School in San Francisco.

Among the younger artists who have studios here, Miss Briggs is said to be very promising. Miss Nicholls also is said to do very good work. Miss Lou Wall, Miss Herrick and her sister and Miss Hyde who is president of a sketching club, have studios in San Francisco and are prominent in art circles. Miss Wall is at present traveling abroad.

Among other women artists of our city are Miss L MacBride, whose specialty is pen and ink sketching; Mrs Buteau, well known as a teacher of china painting, Mrs MacDonald, Miss Colby, Miss Burrall, Miss Collins, Miss Roberts, Miss Holmes and Mrs. Miller, who prints in pastel.

Mrs Benton enjoys the distinction of being the oldest artist on the coast besides being among the first in Oakland. She was the first teacher in drawing ever employed in the San Francisco and Oakland schools. When the Oakland High School opened Mrs Benton took charge of the drawing department. The year 1856 had marked her advent into the public schools. Her career as a teacher did not, however, begin there. Ever since her thirteenth year she taught in different branches of art.

"There is hardly any department in art," she said, "in which I have not practiced—oil painting, water colors, tapestry, etc. At present I am not doing much teaching, nor do I make an effort to sell my pictures in Oakland, having, usually, orders from other places. I do not now make any exhibit of my work. Ten years ago I used to place my pictures in the Mechanics Fair, but now I am perfectly willing to leave room for the younger artists. I have had some very talented pupils. Miss Burrall, Miss Briggs and Miss Hyde used to be among my scholars, and they have become quite promising artists.

SUBJECTS SELECTED.

"I have chosen my subjects from Italian scenery, also from California, as the Yosemite, the Mission and Monterey. Figures are, however, my preference. I make a specialty of perspectives and have invented a mechanical appliance for its study. I am also preparing a work on the subject, the idea being not only to show the theory but to furnish also a means by which the eye may be convinced while the ear is taught."

Miss Benton is also an artist, though at present she is engaged principally in literary work and giving lectures on cities in Europe which she and her mother have visited during their travels.

WORKING IN LEATHER.

"I am most interested," said Miss Benton, "in the revival of the old German art of working in leather. The design is raised by hand and is worked on both sides. It is both durable and beautiful. Tapestry painting, in imitation of the old German art, has also attracted and fascinated me very much.

"There have not been many artists in Oakland," Miss Benton continued. "In fact, Oakland is not as artistic as it ought to be. Its people do not buy works of art. Nor has the city been able to support an art school. We need a great deal to make us an artistic city."

CHINA PAINTING.

Miss E M Porter paints the most beautiful china. Speaking of her work, she said: "I had some very good sales during the holidays. Hand painted china is very fashionable, you know. Miniatures are my specialty. I believe there are not many artists in Oakland beside myself that paint heads on china. It is very difficult, and it is necessary to mark a drawing first, which I do not usually do, putting the colors on at once, unless it is a conventional design."

Miss E. L. Knowlton also makes a specialty of china painting, but the art of oil painting is not foreign to her. "I have been very successful since I came to Oakland about six months ago," she said. "I find that Oakland is an extremely artistic town. Her young people certainly show a great deal of talent. My favorite design in china painting is flowers, and my favorite among flowers is the violet, and I never meet with any difficulty in disposing of my violet pieces. I always make the drawing first and then lay on the colors. Scroll work in gold around the edge of a plate is very fashionable now and has been for two or three years. Purple seems to be most in demand among colors. In oil painting I choose for my subjects landscapes, fruits and flowers. I have no preference among these Californian sunsets and the hills furnish my subjects in painting."

Miss Knowlton had some very handsome work in her studio. There were plates, one in pale delicious pink, another of violets with pale green background, a third decorated with hawthorne blossoms of pale pink, with leaves of a delicate green and scroll work of gold. In painting, her work is characterized by soft distant effects.

LOCAL SCENERY

Mrs D W Gelwicks is one of Oakland's first artists both in point of time and excellence. Her studio was richly adorned with products of her art, she being equally at home in oils and water colors. Mrs Gelwicks makes a specialty of local Californian scenery. The wild flowers of the State she knows well how to transplant to her canvas in warm and true colors. "Oaks and Oaks," a piece of the water front with Alameda hazily in the distance, a few characteristic sketches of the Missions, how the scope and character of her work, which has been pronounced good and true to nature by those who know. Some pink tea roses and a study in pink were beautiful in rich and warm colors. Mrs Gelwicks echoed the views of many others of the local artists when she said that the market at present is somewhat dull resulting from the hard times. In San Francisco the market generally is better, but for several years even that has been dull. In hard times naturally the first things people must do without are the luxuries of life. As a rule no large sales have been made lately anywhere, according to what many of the artists say.

HAVE TO WORK HARD

Mrs S P Lathrop was hopeful of better times. "I think business is picking up," she said. "It is generally good here, and artists are like others—they have to work hard to get established. But with the spring times will be better. Oakland as a rule is an artistic town, but it is conservative. It is not ready to embrace every one who aspires to be an artist. But Oakland has people of refinement and culture who love art. My field of work lies in figure painting, but I often choose flowers and landscapes as subjects for my pictures. In my religious painting, I work without models. I made good sales before going to Los Angeles. One of my pictures, a life-size painting called the "Virgin and Child," is now in the possession of Father McCarthy of Riverside, to whom it was presented by the Sisters of Mercy in Los Angeles."

Miss Culver pursues art along the lines of china painting and in oils. "I have the best sales in painted china," she said, "and like that work best. Prices however are only fair. I usually choose my subjects from California scenery and flowers."

DECORATIVE WORK.

Miss Lizzie Gremke is also partial to china painting. "The violet is my favorite flower, and I use it a great deal in my work. Violet designs always find purchasers. I do not originate all my designs. We can take more liberty in copying in decorative art than in oil painting. China painting is a fad that is increasing more and more, but prices are becoming lower, because crockery dealers hire artists to do work by the piece and as they procure their crockery at wholesale prices they are able to sell it for less. Pictures sell very well through the hard times have made the demand somewhat slack. But the great trouble in Oakland is that there is no place to exhibit pictures except two or three store windows which the owners kindly offer at times."

Only a Shower.

By Associated Press to The Tribune

CINCINNATI, March 10.—Serious apprehensions were created here last night by a thunder shower early in the evening, which gave three-quarters of an inch of rain fall in a short time. The shower turns out to have been of a local character and the indications today point to not more than fifty-two feet of water in the Ohio river.

MISS HANNA'S FIANCE.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Miss Hanna, daughter of the Senator from Ohio, appears to be a good deal of a manager herself. Senator and Mrs Hanna admit that their eldest daughter really is engaged to Mr Beery, the successful young bridge builder of Toledo, who has for some little time permitted it to be known that he was Miss Hanna's fiance.

Mrs Hanna, speaking for public, stated that the denial of her son arose from a desire to have the engagement kept out of the papers for the present, and not from any disapproval of her daughter's choice. Mr Beery early in the autumn first approached Senator Hanna for the purpose of formally asking his daughter's hand in marriage. At the time the Senator was too busy with political matters to give the answer desired by the young people, and put them off by saying that he could not then give it proper attention. Again Mr Beery approached the Senator in the very height of confusion attendant upon his selection for the Senate. Again the Senator said that he could not give the matter attention at that time. Then the young people decided to take matters in their own hands, and engaged themselves forthwith. When the family left Ohio to come to Washington Miss Hanna, after the train had moved out of the station, showed her mother the handsome engagement ring given her as a parting present by Mr. Beery.

Mrs Hanna went on to say that while she thought her daughter should have waited for her father's formal consent, in the matter she could not blame her for taking matters in her own hand as she had done. Personally, Senator and Mrs Hanna like Mr Beery and approve of the match, but for the present did not care to have anything mentioned in public. Having brought about the engagement despite Mr Hanna's desire to procrastinate, the young people next contrived to steal a march on the Senator by giving the news to the public. Miss Hanna, before leaving her home in Ohio, wrote to her grandmother in Toledo and told her to have the announcement of her engagement made in the Toledo papers. No time has as yet been set for the marriage, as Senator and Mrs Hanna do not care to have their daughter leave them for a while.

HOLDS WORLD'S RECORD.

Champion Watson Recommends Paine's Celery.

Professional Athletes Find This Remedy Invaluable in the Spring

Brings Fresh Blood and Regulates the Whole Nervous System.

It is useless to attempt to compare any other remedy with Paine's celery compound.

Paine's celery compound is another sort of thing entirely from any substitute that was ever handled over a counter.

It puts fresh blood into the shrunken veins, regulates the expenditure of nervous energy, and positively cures general nervous debility and such specific nervous disorders as neuralgia, sleeplessness, melancholia, hysteria, headaches, lassitude—in a word, Paine's celery compound is able to soundly build up the nervous system and make it healthy and active.

Among the testimonials received last month by the proprietors of Paine's celery compound was the following:

Boston, Feb. 8, 1897.

Gentlemen:—The strongest of athletes sometimes feels languid and drawn out. I have often found myself feeling so, more especially in the spring before the outdoor season begins. I have tried many things, but have found nothing that does me so much good as Paine's celery compound. I say this with much pleasure. Respectfully yours, J. P. Watson.

Mr. Watson is the world's professional champion jumper and pole vaulter. He defeated Tom Burroughs and others at the world's fair in Chicago.

Not long ago Hjertberg, the champion steeplechaser, wrote to Wells, Richardson & Company that Paine's celery compound had been of great benefit to him, and said that he wished to recommend the remedy to others.

John Graham of the Boston Athletic Association, who took the victorious American team to Athens; James Michael, the champion long distance bicyclist, and George Wright of Wright & Ditson, are among those who have recently indorsed this best of all spring remedies. Advice from such men is worth following in a matter of health and strength.

Gen. Solomon Dead.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SALT LAKE, March 10. General Fred Solomon, late of the United States Volunteer Army, died in this city last evening. At the outbreak of the Rebellion he was a resident of St. Louis, and was mustered in as Captain of the Fifth Missouri Cavalry, was afterwards appointed Colonel of the Ninth Wisconsin Volunteers, and was promoted Brigadier General in July, 1862. He was breveted Major General in 1864.

General Solomon was Surveyor-General of Utah under three administrations.

Bismarck's Views.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, March 10.—A special to the Herald from Berlin says:

"Prince Bismarck's organ severely condemns the participation of Germany in the Cretan question, it says: "It is not correct policy to risk the sound bones even of a single German soldier for Oriental interests, which are not ours, or from alleged Christian and humanitarian motives, such as England uses to cloak her efforts to advance her own interest."

Worthless Guns.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, March 10.—A special to the Herald from Montevidio says:

"While the crew of the old-fashioned cruiser Yantic were exercising at target practice in La Plata river, one of the guns was discharged prematurely, killing one man, and seriously wounding two others.

TO FLOAT IN THE BREEZE.

Old Glory to Be Raised by Patriot Hands at San Leandro.

Hastings' New Pole Will Be Used for the First Time.

Tomorrow will be a gala day for San Leandro, when the large flag donated to the town by F. S. Hastings will be unfurled at the top of the new 175 foot mast which has been erected on the plaza, also as the gift of Mr. Hastings. The school children and several of the fraternal organizations will participate in the demonstration, and an interesting time is promised.

VOLUNTEERS REJOICE.

Result of the First Year's Work of the Army of the Lord.

The first anniversary of their organization was celebrated with a camp fire last night at 1060 Broadway by the Volunteers of America.

Among the speakers were: Lieutenant Kellaway, Captain Brundage of Hope Hall, No. 2 of San Francisco, Lieutenant John Anderson of Hollister, Lieutenant Moore and Charles Barnes of the San Francisco headquarters.

A brief review of the movement was given by Lieutenant Kellaway. In August, 1896, the Oakland branch was established, having now twenty-five members. A debt of about $160 had been incurred, but this, it was hoped, would be cleared in three months. California has seventeen posts and about 500 soldiers. The progress since March, 1896, has been encouraging. It was particularly emphasized by the speaker that every Volunteer must be a supporter of the churches.

The work done among ex-prisoners was the subject of Captain Brundage's talk. During less than a year, the home had had thirty-two inmates, twenty-four of these have afterwards been accounted for as leading a reformed life. For about sixty, positions have been secured. Three other such halls have been established in the United States during the year by Mrs. Ballington Booth.

DEATH OF MRS. JONES.

She Was Formerly a Well Known Resident of This City.

A telegram was received this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Poor of 1320 Filbert street, announcing the death of their daughter, Mrs. John Winston Jones at her home at Pittsburg, Pa.

Mrs. Jones was well known in this city where she spent the greater part of her girlhood. She was a graduate of Mills' Seminary and had many friends in San Francisco and Oakland. She maried a prominent Eastern man, nine years ago and went East to live. She leaves two small children.

MARRIED IN SECRET.

The friends of T. M. Stateler of Alameda have been given a surprise. The statement has been made that he is a married man and has been married for the past two years. The statement originated from Mrs. H. R. Jacobson of Kingsburg, Fresno County, who claims that Stateler married her daughter, Lotta, January 15, 1895.

Stateler refuses to discuss the subject and refers questioners to his attorney, Robert A. Friedrick. The attorney admits that he has received knowledge that a marriage contract was signed by Miss Jacobson and Stateler when the latter was a minor but Stateler never assumed any marital rights, duties or responsibilities. The attorney has also been informed that proceedings for divorce will be instituted with Stateler for the defendant. Stateler is 22 years old and is the son of Thomas K. Stateler, general passenger agent of the Northern Pacific Railroad. The son lives with his parents in Alameda and Miss Jacobson also lived in that city two years ago. Stateler paid the young lady many attentions then but no one suspected a secret wedding.

PHYSICIANS BANQUET.

The Alameda County Medical Association gave an elaborate banquet last evening at the Hotel Metropole.

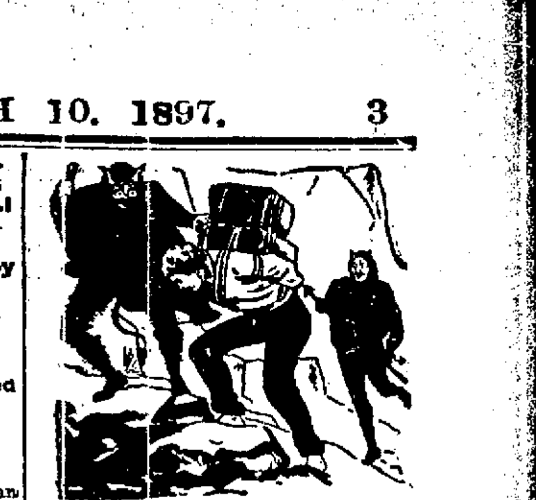

The menu contained many toothsome delicacies and excellent music and witty speeches contributed largely to the enjoyment of the banquet. Responses were made to toasts by Harry Melvin, Alexander Rosborough, Dr. H. D. Boyes, Dr. Edwards, Miss Mollie Conners and John P. Irish. The guests included Dr. F. S. Buteau, Dr. H. G. Thomas, Dr. F. R. Muffer, Dr. E. J. Boyce, Dr. Myra Knox, Dr. J. L. Adams, Dr. W. J. Wilcox, Dr. A. Fine, Dr. H. E. Muller, Dr. Rucker, Dr. W. E. Huntington, Dr. O. D. Hamlin, Dr. J. P. Dunn, Dr. Carl Knox, Dr. F. W. Morse, Dr. Milton, Dr. Currigan, Dr. Taylor, Dr. Medros, Dr. Beckwith, Dr. Porter, Dr. Patterson, Dr. Wakefield, Dr. Kitchens, Dr. F. L. Adams and Dr. Shannon.

MORE SCHOLARSHIPS.

The Regents of the State University have decided to create fifty-six undergraduate and seven graduate scholarships, in addition to those already existing.

Thirty-five hundred dollars a year was appropriated by the Regents for the purpose of aiding not more than twenty-eight students each year. These scholarships are to be divided equally between the seven Congressional districts and are to be awarded by the faculty of the University, in accord with mental ability, character and needs. They are to be known as the University of California scholarships.

Levi Strause has supplemented the appropriation of the Regents with a yearly contribution of $3,500

The demons of despair follow the footsteps of the man whose ignorance or carelessness has loaded him with a burden of weakness and disease. There is no royal road to health. No one can trespass the laws of nature and escape the consequences. True, some may do what others may not. Each one has his limitations. The puzzle is to understand it all. Before any one thoroughly understands his system, many mistakes are made. This is ruinous to health, disastrous to pocket. What must it not be for a family of three, or four, or a half-dozen? In the average family, the mother is the manager, the nurse, the general superintendent. Her wisdom directs the household. She is responsible for manners, morals, health. How necessary then that she have able assistants. Most especially in the matter of health. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser was written for her especial benefit. It is what its name indicates—a home physician—a common-sense medical adviser. In its 1008 pages of plain language, with its 300 illustrations, she will find ample descriptions of symptoms of failing health, with simple inexpensive prescriptions for the arrest of disease. It contains more information about the human body in health and disease than any other book ever published. It has had a larger sale (680,000 copies at $1.50 each) than any medical book in the English language. This great book may be had absolutely free, in paper covers, by sending twenty-one one-cent stamps, to pay cost of mailing only, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y. If you prefer fine French cloth binding, send ten cents extra (thirty-one cents in all).

WORK FOR OAKLAND MEN

Home Mechanics Will Be Employed on the Eighth Street Bridge.

Promise to That Effect Made by the Contractors to the Board.

The Board of Public Works held a meeting this morning.

The question of awarding the contract for repairing the Eighth street bridge, was taken up last Wednesday, but the matter was put over for one week in order to allow the Board time in which to confer with the Bridge Company regarding the employment of none but Oakland men on the work.

This morning Colonel McMullan representing the Bridge Company was present, and verbally agreed to employ Oakland men in all positions save the Chief Engineer and Superintendent.

Mr. Wilson wanted a clause to that effect put into the contract, but the question of its legality arose and the matter was compromised by McMullan's agreeing to write a letter to the Board to the effect that he would employ Oakland men.

The contract for repairing Eighth street bridge was then awarded to the San Francisco Bridge Company. The bid was: Planking, $10 a thousand; fencing, 8 cents a foot; piling 25 cents; iron bolts, 3 cents a pound.

The cost of the improvement will be $5,203.40.

The Secretary was directed to re-advertise for filling on Lake Shore avenue, and to re-advertise for bids for fire hose. At the time the bids for the Lake Shore avenue were received, the avenue was too wet to be worked and the contract was not awarded.

"THE TRIBUNE" THANKED.

The following letter has been received:

"W. E. Dargie, Esq., Editor of Oakland Tribune—Sir: On Sunday evening, March 7th, the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Methodist Church of Oakland, Calif., passed a resolution of commendation and gratitude, complimenting the Oakland Evening Tribune for being the only paper in the city that had come out fairly and squarely for the temperance cause. By order of the society.

Elmer Leterell, the burglar, who, while trying to escape from the Hotel Metropole on the 27th of February, was shot by Officer Henderson, was held over by Judge Wood to answer before the Superior Court, with bonds fixed at $2,000.

Died in San Francisco.

WEDNESDAY... ....MARCH 10, 1897.

When Vice President Hobart was sworn in he made a very modest speech craving as a presiding officer the indulgence of the Senate, making the impression that he was unused to Parliamentary ways. Now as a matter of fact, Vice President Hobart is an old hand with the gavel. He has been Speaker of the New Jersey Assembly, and President for two terms of the New Jersey Senate. If he has kept unruly Jerseymen in order he will be quite able to maintain order in the Senate.

It is assumed in some of our exchanges that if President McKinley were to sign the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill which failed to become a law at the last session of Congress, the bill would be renewed and take effect as law. The President has no power to sign such a bill because it died with the last Congress. It can only be renewed by what is equivalent to the passage of a new bill which must go through all the stages of progress in the next Congress. All that may be accomplished in a few weeks, or the Appropriation Bill may be delayed many months, or possibly go over to the regular session, of Congress which begins next December.

"Megargee," a contributor to the Philadelphia Times, describes General Garfield's trip to Washington when he was going to be installed as President. Only one incident is here noted. "About ten miles beyond Baltimore General Garfield's mother observed that the lamps in the car were still burning though it was bright day. They had been left lighted on account of the tunnels in Baltimore and the porter had forgotten to extinguish them after the last tunnel had been passed. 'James,' said the old lady 'put out them lamps.' Her sense of thrift did not relish the waste of oil the needless illumination was causing. The general obeyed his mother. Standing on the arms of two of the seats of the car he turned down the wicks of the lamps until their light was extinguished. He did this so quietly and unostentatiously that I could not help admiring the man who thus honored his mother's simple request."

No more striking difference than the one here noted has been known of late of the methods of our own country in dealing with Cuba and the methods of France. Consul General Lee wanted war vessels in the harbor of Havana and a premptory demand made for the release of American citizens from prison. Nothing came of that demand. Here is a dispatch from Santiago de Cuba detailing the French way of backing up a demand:

A young French girl, Mlle Louise Flament by name, who was arrested here a week ago by the Spanish authorities, as a political suspect, has been liberated. After she had been kept seventy-two hours in the incommunicado state, the French Consul demanded her trial or immediate release. The demand was refused. Two days later a little French warship steamed into this port from Martinique, and, accompanied by its commander, the Consul renewed his demand, this time insisting on the prisoner's unconditional release, the withdrawal of all charges against her, apology for the outrage committed upon her, acknowledgment of a reasonable claim for damages and a royal salute to the French flag. To do all this the Spanish authorities were given six hours' time. In the meantime the Frenchman cleared for action, and then calmly awaited results. Before the expiration of the third hour everything had been acceded to, and when the Spanish cannon began to boom their salute of regret to France the young French girl was already at home receiving the congratulations of her friends.

The Next Message.

It is assumed that President McKinley will send a brief message to Congress next week which will be confined principally to a statement of the objects for which the extra session has been called. If there had been no tariff question there would have been no extra session. The tariff is so closely related to the question of finance in its broader aspect, that some reference may also be made again to that subject. It is of course not in the power of the President to confine legislation to the subjects which he outlines in his message. But if there is an understanding in advance that only certain measures will be considered the Speaker can be relied on to do the rest.

Aside from the chief measure to be discussed, a special interest attaches to the coming session because it will at an early day disclose just the strength which the new Administration has in Congress. There is no doubt about the Republican strength in the House. But while it is believed that there will be a small majority in the Senate for the Administration, it may possibly go down to zero on some test question. Until the first vote is taken on some important question which divides parties, it cannot be accurately known how many Senators beyond an actual tie, will stand by the Administration.

At the Two Universities.

The twelfth anniversary of the founding of Stanford University was celebrated at that institution yesterday. Founder's day will be more and more accentuated as the years go by. In twelve years great things have been accomplished at Palo Alto. Where there was little more than a country house and a horse ranch, there is now a great University with permanent buildings, a large faculty, and more than a thousand students. A town is growing up around the University which will finally become one of the most important educational towns in the State. It is not at all likely that Stanford University will ever be less than it now is. The prospect is that it will be a far greater institution as it ripens with years.

It has been suggested that the number of students should hereafter be limited to the present accommodations. One of the most interesting and inspiring facts is that students seek the advantages of a university beyond its present capacity to receive them. They want just what is to be found there. It is hard to turn away young men and women who are hungry for an education. As the institution ripens it becomes more attractive. It is comparatively poor at the start even if it has millions for a foundation. There is a great deal of wealth outside of money which cannot be gathered in a single decade. The old universities of Europe are rich in the facilities that have been acquired in three or four centuries. Harvard University is comparatively rich because it has had time to gather treasures in all lands.

Stanford University has been fortunate in having a President who is great enough for the place, and broad enough to cherish a catholicity which cannot be confined to any narrow limits. The commonwealth of science and scholarship has the world for its theatre. The modern scholar is in touch in some sense, with all the scholars of the world. The President of a great University is much more than the administrative head of such an institution.

The University of California is now beyond the contingency of financial want. Its annual income has been doubled by a recent act of the Legislature. It will be able hereafter to accommodate all the students that may ask for admission, if properly qualified. Nearly a hundred high schools, seminaries, and private schools have become feeders of that institution. The unsightly tents will give place to buildings which will finally appeal to the sense of fitness of things by their architectural beauty.

When the income was increased the Regents proposed to set apart $3,500 for scholarships. Now comes Levi Strauss, a well known citizen of San Francisco, and offers to give $3,500 for a series of years for the same purpose. Mrs. Hearst has already founded a number of scholarships for young women.

There will soon be a hundred scholarships affording just enough help to enable poor students to pull through from year to year. Every year some students are compelled to leave because they have not the means to meet current expenses. At Harvard University for a long time past it has been understood that no student, if he has real merit, shall be compelled to leave that institution for lack of means to pull through. Yet that University is not rich enough to make tuition free. Some day there will be equal facilities for hungry students without money at Berkeley. One of the best things that can be said now about the University, is that while in its earlier days it had little favor with the public, it is now in favor with the whole community.

A correspondent of the Chicago Record, writing from Circle City, Alaska, under date of December 21, describes the cold of the winter as ranging from 20 degrees to 40 and 50 degrees below zero, yet one hears less complaint about the cold there than is heard in Chicago. These are among the more important statements made by this correspondent:

To those who stay and work the country offers great rewards in comparison with what the average man can make below, and the chance of a fortune. In this district the mines offer the only source now, for Circle City is fully built, and the men who worked at it last summer will have to do something else, for there will be no building to speak of. At the present time it is very quiet. Many men went out, and almost all the rest have gone to the different creeks to sink prospect holes or to drift out pay dirt, which in some creeks does not have to be burned, as there is no frost after they get down to the pay. Last summer $500,000 was taken out of Birch Creek District, and this winter they expect to take out $200,000, allowing $500 to the man, a very low estimate. As the country has not yet been thoroughly prospected this amount will probably be increased next year and for some years to come.

Parties are now out and more are going to prospect creeks over the range, and before spring new discoveries will undoubtedly be made. The new Cloudyke strike in the Northwest territory (Canada) is an example of how little is known of this region. Only fifty miles up the Yukon from the old Forty Mile Post, where the Canadian Government now has a police force, it has been casually gone over several times by prospectors who kept to the main creek or river. Last summer, a squaw man was induced to go up a side creek of the Cloudyke by his Indian brother-in-law, and they found the gold on what is now asserted to be the richest creek in the gold region, and one of the richest ever struck anywhere. I myself have panned and seen panned some wonderfully rich prospects on the surface, as high as $3 to the pan. If the reports now coming down from Cloudyke are true they have it richer still on bed rock.

Ohio has a new State tax law, known as the Goodale law by which nearly $500,000 is annually paid into the Treasury drawn from electric light, express and railroad companies. These are some of the details of the income: Adams Express Company, $3,420.36, American, $3,299.88; National $231.96; Pacific, $57.60; Southern, $146.40; United States, $5 016.60; Wells, Fargo & Company, $1,110.64; Pullman Palace Car Company, $3,465.45; Wagner, $2,295.82; freight line and equipment companies, $7,363.39; total, $466,545.39. Various enterprises paid the State as follows: Electric light companies, $11,142.74; gas, $19,173.29; natural gas, $8,266.93; pipe line companies, $29,763.56; water works companies, $3,368.72; street railway companies, $42,185.30; messenger and signal companies, $650.04; railroad companies, $326,559.71; total, $440,110.20."

Nearly the Same Old Story.

Can any one remember a date during the last third of a century when there was not either a crisis in Europe or one said to be close at hand? The storm that was supposed to be brewing has never broken over Europe. Great navies have been constructed. In thirty years naval warfare has been theoretically revolutionized. New armies have been created with new and more effective small arms. Guns have been constructed with a range exceeding twelve miles, and high explosives have been generally adopted.

All this preparation does not bring about war. The tendency has been to make it more remote. The fact is the nations do not want war. They want unbroken peace. The people are turning towards arbitration treaties as the hope of the world. Now when there is so much talk of Greek and Turkish complications the most powerful nations of Europe are enlisted to prevent a crisis which might break the peace of the world.

Four great nations are intervening to prevent Greece from engaging in a war with Turkey. For many weeks the news has been of such a character as to impress many with a belief that war was inevitable. And yet these four great nations are holding Greece back, warning and even chastising her in a mild way into less belligerent behaviour. The war talk is of course uppermost. It makes stirring news. But how is Greece to engage in war as a serious business with four great nations holding her back, and actually pledged to preserve the peace?

The cost of the Federal Government per capita has been constantly increasing during the last quarter of a century. The New York Sun recently prepared an exhibit of the cost of the Government from the year 1800 to 1895. The expenses during that time have gone from $1.91 per capita, to $5.48. This is the sum exhibit:

1800	5,308,483	$7,400,000	$1.39
1810	7,239,881	5,300,000	73
1820	9 683,822	13,100,000	1.36
1830	12,866,020	13,000,000	1.01
1840	17,069,453	24,100,000	1.41
1850	23,191,876	37,200,000	1.60
1860	31,443,321	60,000,000	1.91
1870	38,558,371	164,000,000	4.25
1880	50,155,783	170,000,000	3.39
1890	62,480,540	321,700,000	5.14
1895	70,000,0000 (est.)	383,900,000	5.48

The estimates for 1897, the population taken to be 72,000,000, is a per capita tax of $7.16 or about double what it was at the close of the Rebellion.

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

A captain in a regiment stationed in Natal, when paying his company one day, chanced to give a man a Transvaal half-crown, which, as one would naturally expect bears "the image and superscription" of President Kruger.

The man brought it back to the pay table and said to the captain: "Please, sir, you've given me a bad half-crown."

The officer took the coin, and, without looking at it, rung it on the table, and then remarked: "It sounds all right, Bagster. What's wrong with it?"

"You look at it, sir," was the reply.

The captain glanced at the coin, saying: "It's all right, man; it will pass in the canteen."

Thus apparently satisfied Bagster, who walked off making the remark: "If you say i's a' right, sir, it is a' right; but it's first time I've seed the Queen wi' whiskers on!"—Answers.

Maggie had never heard of George Washington until Monday. She is a domestic employed in an uptown apartment house, where she has spent most all of her time since she came to this country from Ireland eight months ago. The janitor of the building informed her early Monday morning that she must take in coal enough to last until Tuesday, because he was going to celebrate Washington's birthday. "Please, ma'am who's Washington?" asked Maggie of her mistress an hour or so later. The statement of a few historical facts which followed failed to thoroughly enlighten Maggie, although she seemed to be greatly impressed with the importance of the person whose birthday the janitor proposed to celebrate. "Washington was the father of his country, Maggie," volunteered a member of the family. "The father of this country? Oh, my, my! What a big man he must be! Does he live here?" When informed that Washington had been dead a great many years, that he was a great general and the first president of the United States, Maggie asked impulsively: "And was it Washington, then, that owned the American eagle?" "Well, not exactly," was the reply, "but he was the man who drove the British out of this country." At this remark Maggie's countenance brightened and she exclaimed with animation: 'Oh, now I understand. He was the St. Patrick of America."—New York Times.

A lawyer recently wrote to Edward Everett Hale a letter in which he said: "I do not know what use Boston has for Murphy," meaning Francis Murphy, the temperance advocate. Mr. Hale quotes this statement in a communication to the Transcript, and then proceeds to give statistics that seem at least to show a considerable need, on the city's part, for strenuous efforts by somebody or other to lead its residents back into the path of sobriety. In the first three weeks of 1897 the number of arrests for drunkenness in Boston was 605; this was 257 more than in the corresponding weeks in 1896. Mr. Murphy then arrived. At the end of his first week the arrests had been twenty-five less than in the corresponding week of 1896; in the second week they were twenty-three less, in the third thirty-six less, and in the week ending February 21st there were 184 less. In other words, in the four weeks of Mr. Murphy's stay in Boston the arrests for drunkenness have been 268 less than they were last year, while in the three weeks before his arrival here they were 247 more. With a logic perhaps not quite defensible, Mr. Hale says that this improvement is to be credited to the great blue ribbon orator, adding, as a second thought and saving clause, "and of those higher agencies to which he would himself refer its successes."—New York Times.

By a recent order of the Pension Bureau at Washington the number of pension agencies in the United States is now reduced to nine. The estimated saving to the Government by this change is something in the neighborhood of $160,000 annually. The following list of agencies and the number of pensioners to be paid there at is: New York, 98,883, Boston, 94,457; Philadelphia 106 375; Washington, 140,265; Columbus, 94,194; Indianapolis, 116,066; Chicago 125,133; St. Louis, 101,709, and San Francisco, 23 008. The number payable at Washington includes the pensioners now residing in foreign countries, being a total of 3,781. The total number on the pension rolls is 970,67. . No change is made in the payment of naval pensioners.

Grecian Imbroglio.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, March 10.—A special to the Herald from Canea says:

"The Turks in Candiamo have been relieved by a detachment from the foreign warships.

"The insurgents attacked Fort Hierapetra on the refusal of the Turkish garrison to surrender. Thereupon the foreign warships bombarded the insurgent position, and the latter were forced to withdraw.

"The Italian commandant here has ordered the correspondents of Greek papers to leave Canea and they will, in case of refusal, be forcibly transported hence to Cerigo on board a torpedo boat. A similar notice of expulsion has been served upon all Greeks remaining in Canea.

"M. Baraklyss the Greek vice-consul, who was ordered to leave Canea by Commandant Amerette, under pain of being treated as a prisoner, and who refused to submit except by force, was taken off by an Italian steam launch with the dragoman of the consulate and placed on board a Greek warship.

"Fighting took place between Turkish troops and insurgents at the outposts in the Akrotiri. Numbers were wounded and brought to town."

HOSTS OF CHALLENGES.

Why the Day of St. Patrick Was Chosen for the Fight.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CARSON CITY, Nev., March 10.—There was a decided increase this morning in the number of sporting men who arrived to witness the fight. More of them came this morning than any day yet, and it is expected that from now on, the increase will be steady. A majority of those already on the ground is of the sort who prefer to live without working and all sorts of sharpers are on hand. In justice to the Carson officials it must be said, however, that they are using every effort to keep known confidence men out of the place. They have already sent out a large number of men known to be laden with gold bricks and the like and whenever the town marshal spies a man whom he has reason to suspect he invites him to take a ride forthwith to Reno. A large number of prominent pugilists is looked for by the early part of next week, and if all reports are true, there will be more talk around the ring after the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight is decided, than ever took place after any single fight in the history of the prize ring. It is said that a representative of Joe Goddard will be here to challenge the winner; Peter Maher is also prepared to bet all kinds of money that he can defeat the man who wins March 17th. Joe Choynski will also be here, and it is said he will have a challenge to hurl. Last of all, Charley Mitchell is expected to be present, and that means that there will be all sorts of challenges and defiances flying around. It is reported that Mitchell intends to dare the victor to enter a contest with him. It is also said he will issue a few challenges for other people.

Dan Stuart was asked this morning how he came to select St. Patrick's day for the date of the fight, and was accused of catering to the Irish element in the Corbett camp, in so doing.

"Oh, I guess not," said Stuart. "When I put the date of the fight on March 17th, I never thought of it's being St. Patrick's day. If anybody had come to me and asked when St Patrick's day came, I could not have told him to save my life. Corbett signed articles of agreement December 17th, and I set the day of the fight three months from that day. That is all there is in the story, and that is how the fight came to be set for the 17th of March."

NEW TARIFF BILL.

The Effect It Would Have on Goods Now in Bond.

By Associated Press to the Tribune.

NEW YORK, March 10.—The World says.

The dispatch from Washington predicting that Congress at its special session will at once increase the revenue by adding from 10 to 35 per cent to the schedules of the Wilson bill, has created a small panic among importers and an almost unprecedented rush to get bonded goods out of the warehouses before the threatened increase takes effect.

The proposed summary action of Congress has taken merchants completely by surprise. While they were prepared for a special session to pass a new tariff law, they expected that the new bill would occupy the attention of Congress for at least six months, which would give them ample time to withdraw the $19,500,000 of goods which were in bond on January 31st.

It had never occurred to them that Congress might adopt a temporary measure for increasing the revenue, and the possibility of such a thing, with only about ten days to get their goods out of bond, at the present rate of duty, caused a genuine sensation.

It is understood that Butterfield & Company and other importers, of dress goods are among the heaviest withdrawers.

In banking circles, there is a greatly increased demand for loans on commercial paper. At one of the banks a loan of $500,000 was negotiated by a big importing firm for the purpose of withdrawing goods from bond, and the payment of duties thereon.

WAR AGAINST TURKEY.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, March 10.—A special to the Herald from Athens says:

"The general feeling here is that war against Turkey is unavoidable. It is believed that armed bands that have been sent out by the National League to different points in Epirus and Macedonia will give the signal for the struggle and the Greek army on frontier will then proceed to an invasion of Turkish territory.

"The gunboats Action and Ambrayla, with the gun vessel Approsesia, have been ordered to blockade the Gulf of Arta in order to prevent the landing of Turkish troops.

"The papers criticise favorably the Government's reply to the note of the Powers.

"The Greek vice-consul in Canea, M. Baraklys, having been forcibly conveyed on board the Alphios, by order of the Italian commandant, Ameretta, the Greek Government protested to the ministers of the Great Powers against the action of the soldiers."

GIANT HOAX.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

ST. LOUIS, March 19.—A theatrical advertising agent started a sensation in St. Louis by causing card boards to be tacked and hung and pasted in the city wherever his men could find space, these cardboards bearing in flaming letters the words "Bulletin, Bulletin, Warning."

A tornado is coming.

A large big black faced flag, like the one used by the weather bureau represented the idea that the pasteboards were issued officially. The condition of the weather was threatening, and when the people saw the cards they became very alarmed. Soon the police, the weather bureau and the newspapers offices were flooded with telephone and private messages, asking if a tornado was really predicted. The resident portion of the city gathered their families together and prepared for trouble. Many of the schools on the west and south side closed as soon as word was received of the supposed approaching storm, and the frightened children came home trembling in tears to tell the bad news to their parents. The scare reached the south side at noon. All through the locality where the fearful tornado of last May spread so much death the terror of the women especially was pitiful. Many families took refuge in the cellars and it was not until late in the afternoon when the murky clouds began to disappear, that they could be pursuaded to leave them.

In the meantime the police were busy tearing down the awe-inspiring placards, and assuring the people there was no danger. A cold reception awaits the Tornado Company and its advance agent has suddenly disappeared.

TROUBLE IN BRAZIL.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, March 10.—A special to the Herald from Buenos Ayres says:

"The situation in Rio de Janiero and Sao Paulo, Brazil, according to the Herald's correspondent in the former city, is very serious.

The Government, it is reported, will issue a decree declaring martial law, and will at once expel from the country the chief leaders of the Monarchist party. The troops on the Bahia will also be re-inforced by a corps composed of 6,000 men. This was decided upon by the Government, after an important Cabinet meeting.

"The people are greatly excited over the disastrous turn of affairs in Bahia, and their rage at the Monarchist's who are accused of fomenting the rebellion in that State, knows no bounds.

"An attack was made on the office of the Journal Libertad and the editor and proprietor, Colonel Gentil Castro, was killed. The office of the newspaper was destroyed. Viscount Curapreto a prominent Monarchist was attacked in the street but escaped with slight injury, friends coming to his assistance. The officers of the Journal Brazil and other Monarchist papers, have been threatened, and are strongly guarded by Federal troops.

"A mob in Sao Paulo destroyed the office of the Journal Commercio."

Peaceful Settlement.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, March 10.—A special to the Herald from Constantinople says:

"The evasive answer of Greece to the note of the Powers has been made known here. Seeing that the Powers have not yet changed their views respecting the measures to be taken in case of a refusal, the diplomatic circles here is of the opinion that it will be impossible to have recourse to eventual coercive measures before the expiration of two weeks.

"It is rather believed that the Powers will continue to negotiate with Greece to come to an amicable arrangement.

"However, the separate action on the part of Germany against Greece is not dissimulated. In that case it is not supposed that other Powers would interfere since they could only reap advantage should Germany eventually compromise her position in the East."

ORATORS ON DECK.

Law-Making Side-Tracked by the Senate Bribery Investigation.

THE LOBBY IS IN LUCK,

More Trouble Arises Over the Hour for Adjournment Sine Die.

A RUSH OF BIG WORK.

How the Closing Hours Are Being Passed In Sacramento.

(Special correspondence of the Tribune.)

SACRAMENTO March 9—The whole work of the Legislature today has been practically devoted to the bribery investigation for although the actual proceedings were confined to the Senate they were participated in by so many of the Assemblymen that calls of the House were frequent as the day wore on

Such an outpouring of Sacramentans has seldom been seen as that which packed itself into the Senate chamber at both the morning and afternoon sessions for in addition to an attendance nearly all the transient population, the residents proper came to the scene to participate in the promised drama

And the visitors were well rewarded for their trouble Three of the most masterly speeches rendered on the floor of the Senate this session were made by Morehouse Boyce and Stratton the two first named being against the Examiner and the Oaklander for the newspaper men Then there was the able argument of Col George Knight to enjoy so striking one consideration with another the day was a red-letter one in the history of this memorable session.

George Knight who appeared as counsel for the Examiner, made one of his characteristic speeches in presenting the case Though suffering from a severe cold which brought about a marked hoarseness, he made the echoes of the Senate hall ring again with his fiery eloquence as he pleaded for his client's His point was that the Legislature was not the proper place for such an investigation but that the doors of the court rooms were open for it Then he delicately stirred up a hitherto slumbering issue, for he protested that politics seemed to be figuring in the case

Senator Morehouse's address as attorney for the Senate Investigation Committee, was the most notable of the many stirring speeches he has made during the session That he was worked up to the fighting point was easily seen, and the additional toasting he had received in the Examiner that reached his hands during recess gave a spice to his already peppery condition He gave quotations classical references and Shakespearean excerpts and he warmed up his audience so thoroughly that he was frequently interrupted by applause

A few cross fires then took place and Senator Fred Stratton commanded attention with an argument on the legal points involved He gave a very scholarly presentation of the facts and points at issue and quoted law as if he were an encyclopedia Then he, too took a turn at oratory and made a very clever conclusion to his remarks

Senator John Boyce of Santa Barbara surprised all except his intimate friends His speech was full of sarcasm, irony and fine invective and he flayed the Examiner with a stock of adjectives that became stronger with each succeeding word Two or three times he became ludicrously dramatic, and friend and foe alike admitted as he took his chair that his speech was one of the most masterly ever heard in the Capitol.

From the first it was easy to see how the sentiment was running, for despite the declamation by every orator that politics cut no figure whatever in the affair, it was very apparent that they not only did figure but that they predominated The best evidence of this was when the roll was called on the question of committing Managing Editor Lawrence to prison, for with the single exception of Senator Chapman, who by the way had been directly charged in connection with the bill, the entire Democratic vote was for the Examiner people Thus is how the ballot stood

Against commitment—Bert, Braunhardt, Denison, Doty, Dwyer, Feeney, Hall, Henderson, Langford, La Rue, Prisk, Seawell, Stratton—13

The vote to commit Reporter Levings was the same with the exception that Stratton voted aye instead of no, as in the Lawrence case, and Smith no instead of aye. Stratton's reason for changing was that the question put to Levings was a material one Smith thought that the record did not properly convey the subject matter

Sergeant-at-arms Leslie Blackburn had an important part to play after the passage of the resolution, for the newspaper men went into his custody After taking them to dinner he turned them over to the sheriff, from whom they obtained their freedom directly afterwards on habeas corpus proceedings. The writ was made returnable Thursday afternoon and Judge Hughes who issued it admitted the two prisoners in $1 000 bail, the security being furnished by Senator La Rue and Attorney Charles F Hanlon of San Francisco

There promises to be some sensational proceedings during the next twenty-four hours, for Senator Morehouse is very wroth over the action of Judge Hughes in admitting legislative prisoners to bail. He threatens impeachment proceedings for the judge, so there are chances that the Senate may be plunged in another vortex of investigation.

ADJOURNMENT IS NEAR.

Meantime the hours between now and the day set for adjournment are fast slipping away in a very unsatisfactory manner Work in the Senate has been practically at a standstill for two days and with the crowded condition of the files and the various complications of legislation that are staring the members in the face the situation is fast becoming a serious one.

In the first place the general appropriation bill has not even been considered in Senate committee as yet This will take at least two days, so that it will be Friday at the earliest before the measure appears on the floor of the Senate The usual fight is inevitable and those who have gone through the mill once know that two days is a very small allowance to give for consideration of the bill on the floor of the Senate

This will bring the time to the close of the present week The bill will then have to go to the printer so it will be Monday before it can come up for final passage This will bring the session up to the 15th and it will be a sheer impossibility to get the bill through the Assembly again by the next day, for a Conference Committee is certain to be in demand, and doubtless a free conference also It can easily be understood therefore why it will be impossible to adjourn before the 20th

Meantime war is quietly waging on the subject between the two houses. The Assembly refuses to set the day for adjournment, as the members of the lower House think they will then be in the power of the Senate. However the Senate is retaliating by adhering strictly to the rules and the result is that all the Assembly claim and deficiency bills are blockaded, as are also all the constitutional amendments.

In order to get even some of the Assemblymen are now talking up a proposition that will put the Senate in a hole It is to refuse to consider Senate bills as long as the claim and deficiency measures sent over from the Assembly are barred from the Senate urgency file

The Senate, though, will give tit for tat if the House puts the threatened conditions into effect for the programme in such an event is to refuse to consider Assembly bills of any description until the House recedes from its position This the Assemblymen say they will never do, and as the Senators also refuse to surrender, the prospects of a legislative deadlock are hourly increasing.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT

The county government bill will not be left out in the cold anyhow, for it will be through the Assembly in a few hours The changes made in the Alameda County schedule at the recent caucus of the delegation were all offered as amendments to the bill today, and went in without any opposition

The fee bill is also moving much faster than most of the large measures. The Assemblymen have put in some good licks at it and it will be before the Senate in the course of two or three days

As for litigation in general the wholesale slaughter of the closing hours is now showing its ill Measures carefully drawn either by constituents or the members themselves are to die by the wholesale, for although many of them have escaped the dangers of committee, it will be absolutely impossible to bring them up for consideration.

A LEGISLATIVE LESSON.

This condition of affairs, by the way, conveys a moral that all persons directly interested in prospective legislation should bear in mind It is to put in all bills of any importance as early as possible in the session—the first week if it can be done It is true that this first batch of bills gets an overhauling and a scrutiny that can be escaped during the latter part of the session, but at the same time one thing is certain—the early bill will get a hearing

There is nothing so annoying to members of the Legislature as the tardiness of many of their constituents The session will be three parts over and then up will suddenly and expectedly come a measure, frequently of much local importance In order to get it in a position where it can even be considered the legislator has to rush around from desk to desk to get his friends to stand in with him in pushing the bill along and then, after all this trouble it is frequently impossible to reach the measure at all.

ONE ON MURPHY.

"Blinker" Murphy, whose political articles in the Examiner have given him a national reputation is quite a wag in every-day life, as well as with his pencil He has a quiet way of going about everything that thoroughly disarms all suspicion and he generally manages to land his joke before his victim awakens to the fact that there is anything in the wind "Blinker," or Al, as he is called among the boys, got a bad setback the other day, though.

Over the portico of the Speaker's desk in the House appears the legend "Legislatorum est jus as leges condere" The Assemblymen have this precept confronting them all day long, yet nine out of every ten are ignorant of its meaning As Al had a few minutes on his hands the other afternoon, he thought he would have a quiet little joke with Assemblyman Keegan.

Keegan hails from Santa Rosa, is a Populist and evidently of the middle-of-the-road brand It looked like a pretty good bet that he might as well be asked about so much Sanskrit as to interpret the Latin on the wall in front of him So Al dropped into a chair by his side and after apparently looking around the chamber aimlessly suddenly centered his gaze on the Latin phrase and turning to Keegan, said, "By the way, what does that mean?"

Al thought that Keegan would have to throw up his hands and plead ignorance, and he chuckled to himself at the approaching discomfiture Much to his surprise, though, Keegan not only translated the words for him, but gave him the course to be pursued in framing a Latin sentence, and wound up by saying in rather loud tones, "Bring anything like that to me every time you get stuck. I used to teach school and I can help you out"

The few friends Al had invited to witness how he did up Keegan are inclined to think now that the joke is on him and he has evidently got the same idea himself, for he is willing to buy a two-bit cigar for anyone who brings up the subject

Thinks That They Predisposed His Mind to False Impressions.

The attorneys in the Pardee will contest resumed the taking of the deposition of Mrs. Emma Pardee yesterday before Notary E. H Griffiths, and probed into the effect of the morphine which the widow alleges he used to relieve his sufferings

During the few months prior to the doctor's death she said he had had hallucinations At times he would imagine that hobgoblins of all sizes were about his bed and that they came for the special purpose of annoying him

She made no claim that her husband was insane but that he was in a highly nervous state was much debilitated and that under the strain this mind slowly weakened This she thought left him in a highly susceptible condition and that he was easily influenced by Dr George Pardee who she claimed, visited him frequently during this time

The further taking of the deposition will be resumed Saturday.

MESMERIZED.

Bad Habits Make a Man Act Like He Was Under a Spell.

A man will try to convince himself by arguments so poorly founded that if they were presented by another they would be treated with contempt As an instance He may be ailing from the heavy poison of tobacco, or the lighter poison of coffee, the weakened condition will show somewhere in the body, eyes, head, stomach, heart, liver, bowels or somewhere His doctor tells him to stop the habit but each day the thought comes, O coffee and tobacco don't hurt me its my stomach that is at fault, I'll have that cured and everything will be all right," so he keeps on with his habits and goes to drugging a poor old stomach that would do its work beautifully if the master would furnish enough vitality to run it, but he poisons his nervous system and robs the members of strength to carry on their work When a man wakes up to what he is doing, exchanging his health and chance to succeed in this world for a paltry habit or two, he quits them and follows nature's wise laws

It is easy to give up coffee if one can have Postum, the food drink, which is a fac simile in looks of fine Mocha coffee In taste it retains a like pungency with coffee, but has a distinct flavor of its own It is made entirely of pure grains, and has the ability to make red blood quickly

Tobacco morphine, whiskey, strychnine and coffee each contain much the same poisonous alkaloids, but vary in strength Postum is a delicious breakfast drink it is fattening and nourishing, for it is made of the grains intended by the Creator for man's natural use and scientifically prepared by the postum Cereal Co, Lim., of Battle Creek, Mich.

Beware of the fraudulent imitations of the original Postum Cereal grain coffee, Insist on Postum.

TO ENTERTAIN THE PEOPLE

The Congregational Orchestra Tomorrow Night, With Trebelli.

The Black Flag on the Boards at the Oakland Theater.

Trebelli, Miss Jean Hush, and the Congregational Orchestra are surely a great combination when one is looking for a high classed concert. This is the combination that is to be heard at the Orchestra concert tomorrow evening at the Congregational Church, corner of Twelfth and Clay streets and if one is to judge from the advance sale of tickets, a large and fashionable audience will surely pack the big church.

Trebelli, the bright and shining star at present in the musical firmament will sing on this occasion, to her last California audience as she leaves Friday for the East to sing the remainder of the season with the famous Boston Symphony Orchestra Trebelli is considered by most of our critics who have had the pleasure of hearing her, to be the greatest artist that has visited the coast since Patti, not excepting Nordica who lately visited the coast. Trebelli has the advantage over Nordica in as much as her voice is younger She sings on this occasion the numbers she has mostly pleased her San Francisco audiences with

Misses Jean and Florence Hush will assist at this concert, playing Greig's Sonate in G a masterpiece of violin and piano They met with great success last night in the Trebelli concert in the city and received much merited praise in this morning's papers

The Orchestra under the leadership of Mr. William J McCoy, has made great progress and a glance at the programme showing a varied and pleasing set of compositions by the great writers The idyl for flute and four horns is the first of the musical novelties to be given by the orchestra and will be very pleasing

Tickets are rapidly selling at the music stores.

THE OAKLAND

The "Black Flag" is being given a spirited production at the Oakland Theater and it receives hearty recognition The individual work of May Nannary and Al H Hallett, is particularly praiseworthy and the completeness of the mountings add materially to an excellent production.

Next week will inaugurate a season of laughter in music, when Lottie Williams and Ed J Heron, the talented young mirth-makers, appear in Hoyts' "Bunch of Keys." This laugh-creator is the oldest and most lasting of all farcical pieces and its humor is of the catchy order

Lottie Williams and Ed. J. Heron have been delighting the theater-goers of San Francisco for the past six months and their retirement is regretted Their season of four weeks at the Oakland Theater should be attended by crowded houses as laughter and music are potent drawing cards

Politics had a detrimental effect upon athletics this week. In the clubs the all-absorbing topic was the election, and though some little work was done, there is nothing of any material moment to chronicle.

THE UMPIRE.

The California League of last year was not a grand success because it had at its head a man who did not consider the public, the players or anybody else except himself in regard to the way a League should be run.

Mr. Arthur Blake filled the positions of president, secretary, treasurer, general manager, advertising manager and every other position within the gift of the above offices.

He was the "Poo Bah" of the League, and he showed his great generalship and knowledge of baseball by engaging team after team until he had demoralized the League, the players and the public and wound up his season by charging the players more for the use of the grounds than they could hope to receive from the gate receipts.

The California League for this season will be handled by competent men who will furnish the best quality of baseball by California talent that can be found.

Prominent business men who are well known to the baseball public are interested in the affairs of the League, and as soon as the deal is closed for the grounds the plans of the League will be given to the public.

The League will be represented by the same teams as last year, the San Franciscos, Oaklands, Imperials and Stocktons, but many changes will be made to strengthen them.

Krug, Murphy and Moynihan of the San Franciscos, Eddie Smith of the Imperials and Russell, Pequiney, Sullivan and Shea of the Oaklands, have received offers to play in the East next season.

* * *

The following letter from Jack Donovan regarding last season's ball games is self-explanatory:

"Sporting Editor Tribune—Dear Sir: A criticism appeared in your last week's sporting column which came from a San Francisco correspondent and I consider it very unjust.

"The article stated that the San Franciscos, Imperials, Stocktons and Oaklands disgraced the ball field.

"Having played forty odd games as captain of the Oaklands (Acmes) and during that time I did not witness one act either on or off the ball field, which could be considered the least bit disgraceful by any of the Oakland players, I feel compelled to answer the aforesaid article.

"The reason this article was published was on account of an act of the captain of the San Francisco team in a game against the Imperials in which he threw the ball over the fence and ordered his men off the field, because the umpire would not call the game on account of darkness, and for this one act for which one man alone was guilty, forty or more players are accused of disgracing the diamond. Yours truly,

"J. DONOVAN."

For some time past plans for a gigantic indoor meet have been maturing, but the promoters of the scheme were in a quandary as to who they should put in to manage the meeting. None of the local people were capable of handling such a gigantic piece of work and for a time it looked as if the meet would fall through, but a happy thought struck one of the directors and the name of Dave Shafer was proposed as the right man to fill the position and so he was placed in charge.

Mr. Shafer has gone about his work systematically, and has outlined his ideas to the directors of the company which is promoting the affair, with the result that they have told him to go ahead. He has given orders to Frank D. Elwell, the well known builder of bicycle tracks, to construct an eight-lap track on the fastest lines that he can think of, and it is very probable that an eight-lap track, as near round as the ground floor of the Mechanics' Pavilion will permit and banked high enough to permit of the introduction of quadruplets for pacing purposes.

The programme has not yet been decided upon, but it will be such that all classes of racing men, from the sprinter to the six-day grinder, will have an opportunity to ride during the three weeks' carnival. The first week, as the programme is at present decided upon, will be devoted to short distance racing for both professional and amateur riders. The second week will be devoted to semi-long distance racing, such as hour races, fifty-mile races, twenty-four races, in fact races of almost any distance to try the endurance of the riders and to please the spectators by the hard competition which these races will bring about, as all kinds of pacing machines will be used to make the riders pedal to their utmost. The third week will end the tournament and will be given over to the six-day riders. It is a long time since a six-day race was witnessed on this coast, the last time being about five years ago, and then the riders only rode eight hours a day.

Bald, Cooper, Kiser, Murphy, Ingraham, Loughead, Wells, Ziegler, Kimble, Gardener, Sanger, Eaton and a dozen other men more or less prominent will be here. Jimmy Michael, the fastest of the foreign riders, has been telegraphed for, and will leave Chicago for this city next week.

Of the long-distance riders (the six-day men) the following may be mentioned as possible entries in the six-day day race. They represent the cream of the talent in this country and their number will be increased by many other riders from all over the country. They are Schinneer, Hale, Waller, Gimm, Lawson, Ashinger and Miller.

BASKET-BALL PLAYERS.

A Fine Game at the Y. M. C. A. Tomorrow Night.

The fourth week of the series of basket ball games played between teams from Oakland and San Francisco will be opened in Oakland Thursday night, March 11th, in the gymnasium of the Y. M. C. A. at 8:15 P. M.

The teams to contest in this game are the two strongest of the league, having defeated all other opponents.

Basket ball is rapidly proving its right to be called the most popular of indoor games and to those who do not understand its principles and wish to see an exhibition of rapid and scientific play, an opportunity will be given Thursday night.

From present indications the championship of the cague lies between these two teams. The Business Men's Team (San Francisco), claim the championship of the coast and as this has been an additional stimulus to the Athens Team (Oakland), the members are in a condition to play them the hardest game they have ever had.

In this game, Hatzer, the star guard of the Business Men's team, will make his first appearance in Oakland. He is a marvel at this position and the fact alone that he will play should be a guarantee of a large and select audience. He and Titus, their goal thrower, are valued, so Captain Auger says, at no less than $10,000. Hatzer having the ability to watch two men at once and Titus having a record of never missing the goal.

Admission to non-members ten cents, members free.

BOXING CONTESTS.

The Acme Club Entertainment Tomorrow Night.

The programme of boxing at the Exposition Building tomorrow night for the benefit of the Acme Athletic Club, promises to be particularly interesting. The contest between Chas. Tye of the Acmes and Ely, the champion of the Northwest, will undoubtedly be an exciting one, as the men are both exceptionally clever and anxious to win. They have been training hard for the match and will enter the ring in perfect condition. The Acmes naturally expect to see their man win out, but Ely will not be without supporters, as he is at present a member of the Olympic Club, many of whose members will be on hand to cheer him on.

The second match of the evening will be between Fields of the Acme and Reno of the San Francisco Athletic Club, and will be no less interesting than the first. Reno is the champion of the Pacific Coast in his class, has won many contests and has a reputation as a quick and thoroughly scientific boxer, while Fields is a veteran of the ring, capable of taking a great deal of punishment, strong and aggressive and equally scientific. Reno will have the advantage of height and reach, but it is expected that Fields will at least offset this in close work and mix-ups.

Lon Agnew, who is matched for a twenty round contest with Spider Kelly, will give a three round exhibition with E. J. Smith, one of the Acme's most promising amateurs. In addition to these there will be seven three round contests between the best of local men.

It is a much easier matter to arrange a match between third rate professionals than between first rate amateurs, and certainly from the standpoint of a spectator the amateur contest is the more interesting.

The Acme Club is deserving of praise for its efforts to advance contests that are distinctly amateur.

The general admission has been placed at 50 cents, stag seats $1. Only those seats back of the stage have been reserved.

The affair is in charge of a special committee composed of Frank Kitchen and Staples, and all the details have been perfected.

Philip Ward of the Olympic Club will be the referee, J. Bird the announcer and W. Sharp timer.

The preliminaries will be between Gilbert vs. Brown, Agnew vs. Smith, Simpson vs. Arena, McNamara vs. Kirchner, Lawler vs. Beatty, Easterbrook vs. Shimick and Wagner vs. an unknown.

RELIANCE WHEELMEN.

Preparations Are Being Made for the Relay Race.

Percy Hayselden, who had his wrist broken in a fall while visiting in Stockton, has entirely recovered from his injury. It will be remembered that he easily won the last road race given by the club.

Percy Mott and Charlie Gooch will ride at San Jose on Wednesday, the 10th, and Mott and Deacon will ride at Sacramento.

Joe Keating is visiting in Sacramento and when the boys go up there he will probably be prepared to take care of them.

Bert Elford has been chosen to ride the first relay and the selection meets

From now on all of the riders will go

From no won all of the riders will go into active training for the relay. If weather does not permit, the preparatory work will have to be done in the gymnasium and on the home trainer.

One of the new members of the wheelmen is Fred Blanchard of the Oakland High School team. He is considered quite a fast rider.

Encouraging reports are received from our members in New Zealand, namely, Fred Wilkins, Ben Dusenbury and L. A. Peckham. All three are succeeding quite well in business.

Wilkins will be remembered as one of last year's relay men, while Peckham was the rustling captain of the Reliance wheelmen in 1894, when the racing team swept everything before it.

Dusenbury, while not a rider, was considered a trainer of no mean ability.

All the talk amongst the wheelmen is in relation to the relays and no suggestion of club runs will be considered until after April 4th.

President Al Swain of the Associated Cycling Clubs and Chairman Adams and Chester G. Myrick of the Road Racing Committee, have commenced training for a 100-mile race over the relay course. Adams, on account of his well known sprinting abilities is the favorite in the betting.

All the boys are just commencing to get well from their injuries in the twenty-five mile race.

Helping the Needy.

The efforts of the San Francisco committee appointed to secure aid for the army of unemployed and destitute persons in the city is meeting with the success it deserves. There are many good, but poor families who are absolutely in need of food to sustain life. The hard times have had bad effects all over the country, but particularly so in San Francisco. Hundreds of laborers and mechanics with large families dependent upon them, have been forced to ask for assistance. This has been given in many instances, but yet there is not enough to go around.

Charitably inclined persons are urged by the committee to help along, either by contributions of money, food or clothing. These can be forwarded to the committee or to the Armory on Howard street, where they will be used to the best advantage.

Efforts are being made to secure work for the men and it is expected that with some help during the next month or so, the worst can be tided over until better times relieve this distress.

THE BURIAL OF BOURDON.

Solemn Ceremony Is Now Under Consideration by Students.

Preparations for the Forthcoming Election for Town Officers.

BERKELEY, March 10.—At a meeting of the Faculty held last week it was decided to change the hour of drill to 11:15 A. M., on Mondays and Wednesdays, and to devote the same hour Fridays, as a student's hour, in which meetings may be held and college spirit aroused. This latter is the result of a student petition. The change will not go into effect until next term. The drill at present is held at 3:45 P. M., Tuesdays and Thursdays, and many students from across the bay and from Oakland, are forced to spend an otherwise free afternoon in Berkeley. The new change has not yet been publicly announced, but it will probably meet with favor.

The sickness of C. R. Miller, President of the Freshman Class, has delayed preparations for the Bourdon burial, but he was out yesterday and has called a meeting of the class Friday afternoon. A secret committee will probably be appointed with full power to arrange the time, place, etc., in order to keep the sophomores in the dark.

A practice game of baseball was played with the Berkeley High School team, on the campus, this afternoon. On Saturday afternoon a game will be played between the University and the Olympic Club in San Francisco.

Miss Perkins, late of India, addressed a meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association, yesterday afternoon in Stiles Hall.

Professor E. O'Neill will address the chemistry section of the Science Association Friday afternoon, in the Chemistry Building.

President McWade, of the senior class, has elected the committees for class day arrangements, but the names have not yet been announced.

The tuberculin test for cows was finally adopted by the trustees Monday evening at the recommendation of Dr. Rowell. It was not decided whether the expense, which will amount to about $800, will be borne by the town, or the dairymen.

The Unda case came up for the last time, and Unda's license was rescinded with one dissenting vote. This confirmation of Lloyd's action will aid him in the coming campaign. The date of the election was set for April 12th.

The resignation of Captain John Gage of the First Ward, was accepted and Captain W. H. Marston was chosen in his place. He is the candidate on all the party tickets in the coming election.

The trustees have appointed the election officers for the election on April 12th, as follows:

Ward One—Inspectors, J. E. Rincke and E. N. Buthead; clerks, H. A. Nelson and J. O. Hanscom; judges, E. D. Wheeler and W. B. Byrne; ballot clerks, F. H. Welch and E. J. Condon.

In mixing the concrete, the sand and cement in the given proportions shall be thoroughly mixed while dry, a measured batch of sand evenly spread in a layer not more than ten inches thick, shall be covered with an evenly spread layer of cement equal in quantity to one-third of the sand, and the whole turned twice over at least with shovels, and then spread in an even layer on top of a layer of broken rock, the rock being first measured, and spread to a uniform depth not exceeding twelve inches.

The proper proportions of the cement and sand mixture being spread upon top of the broken rock, then the whole to be thoroughly mixed by turning over twice while dry with shovels. A fine spray of water shall then be turned on while the mass is again being turned, until the whole is thoroughly dampened. The mass shall then again be turned with shovels and deposited on the street in uniform layers, so that, when thoroughly rammed, it shall be six inches in thickness.

When prepared for asphalt or bituminous wearing surfaces, clean, broken stone not larger than two inches in any direction shall be scattered over the surface of the concrete with one stone to each three square feet of surface. The stones shall be pressed into the concrete for about one-half their depth, after which the concrete shall be protected and maintained free from disturbance or injury for seven days, during which time it shall be kept moist.

The concrete shall be thoroughly dry and clean before being covered with bitumen, asphalt or wooden blocks. When prepared for wooden block wearing surfaces, the concrete foundation shall be given a perfectly smooth and even surface by "striking" the top of the concrete with cement mortar, mixed in the proportion of one of cement to four of coarse, sharp sand, which when hard and dry shall be covered immediately before the blocks are laid, with a coat of boiling liquid asphalt, not less than 1-16 of one inch in thickness.

On business streets, the finished concrete foundation shall present a surface cross section to conform with the plan on file with the City Clerk for the improvement of the street. The concrete shall have a uniform thickness of six inches between the outer gutter lines, between which and the curb it shall be four inches in thickness.

All concrete provided for in these specifications shall be thoroughly mixed by hand on a prepared platform, or by improved rotary machine mixer, and tamped to the satisfaction of the Street Superintendent or his inspector, and shall be in place within thirty minutes after mixing, and thereafter not disturbed.

ASPHALT CONCRETE.

The asphalt shall be in the proportion of one part coarse sand or fine gravel, two parts of fine, clean, sharp sand, and four parts of clean, hard crushed stone of a size that will pass through a one and one-half inch ring, and refined asphaltum in the proportion of ten pounds of asphaltum to each 3 and ½ cubic feet of the mixture of sand, rock and gravel.

The sand, rock and gravel shall be thoroughly mixed in the given proportion by hand or by machine mixer and heated in a suitable apparatus to 300° Fahr., and when the mixture has attained this temperature, there shall be added to it, refined asphaltum which shall be previously melted, and which shall be applied to the aforementioned mixture of sand, gravel and rock while at a temperature of 250° Fahr.

The refined asphalt shall be at least 90 per cent pure, and shall be applied to the mixture of sand, rock and gravel gradually; the mass being turned constantly by hand or machine mixer during the application so that each stone and particle of sand and gravel will become thoroughly coated with asphalt. Any of the materials in the mixture shall not at any time be subjected to a temperature exceeding 350° Fahr.

When thoroughly mixed, the concrete, while still hot, at a temperature of at least 200° Fahr., shall be laid in place in such a manner as to avoid disintegration of its mass, and shall then be thoroughly tamped. The concrete shall be of a thickness specified in the Resolution of Intention for said work, and its surface shall be "struck" smooth and even.

SECTION VIII.

BITUMINOUS ROCK PAVEMENTS.

Upon the foundation of concrete there shall be spread a layer of bituminous rock, which shall be two inches in thickness when finished, and which shall be prepared and laid in the following manner:

The bituminous rock shall be of the best quality, and shall contain not less than 12 per cent and not more than 17 per cent of bitumen. The bitumen must be hard, firm and elastic, and it shall not vaporize below a temperature of 250° Fahr. It shall be free from all coarse sand, clay or vegetable matter, of a medium degree of hardness and of such a quality as to make a good cement.

Before laying, it shall be heated in properly prepared kettles to a temperature of at least 250° Fahr., and not to exceed in any case a temperature of 350° Fahr. Any material overheated or burnt will be rejected.

The bituminous rock when thus melted or disintegrated shall be spread over the foundation in a uniform layer while at a temperature of at least 200° Fahr. by means of hot iron rakes, and it shall be immediately rolled with hot rollers weighing not less than 250 lbs to the lineal foot, and not less than two feet in width, until the layer thus treated presents a smooth and uniform surface and has a thickness of at least two inches.

The disintegrated bitumen shall be entirely free from lumps when placed upon the foundation before rolling; and while still warm and plastic, the pavement must be dusted with fine Portland cement and then be rolled with a roller of at least ten tons weight, which rolling must continue for not less than five hours for each 1,000 square yards of pavement laid, and then be closed to traffic for at least three days to allow for cooling and consolidating.

In all bituminous work provided for in these specifications, the raw materials will be subjected at all times to inspection by the Street Superintendent or his authorized agent, and any material rejected or condemned by the proper officer shall be immediately and permanently removed from the work.

SECTION IX.

ASPHALT PAVEMENTS.

Upon the foundation of concrete there shall be spread and constructed an asphaltic layer which shall be two inches in thickness after ultimate compression, and shall be composed as follows: Asphaltic cement, 10 to 17 per cent by weight; sand (thoroughly dried), 88 to 76 per cent by weight; impalpable powder of limestone, 2 to 7 per cent by weight. The proportions of asphaltic cement, sand and limestone powder shall be such that, after the asphaltic pavement layer has received its utmost compression, the voids between the particles of sand shall be completely filled up with asphalt, and no more asphalt shall be present than may be necessary to secure this result.

All asphaltic cement used shall be composed of either refined Bermuda or Trinidad Lake asphalt, or a refined natural solid California asphalt, each of which shall be at least 85 per cent pure, and be mixed with a refined natural liquid California asphalt, no less than 97 per cent pure, and it shall be free from all deleterious substances, such as non-bituminous organic matter, soluble salts and loam. It shall not be the residue obtained from the artificial distillation of coal, coal tar or petroleum oils. It shall be of even and uniform composition, and shall contain nothing that will vaporize under a temperature of 300° Fahr. under ordinary treatment. Its contained asphalt shall be of a permanent and cementitious nature, suitable in all respects to make, upon proper admixture with the refined natural liquid asphalt, a durable and satisfactory cement.

The refined natural liquid asphalt shall be obtained by treating in suitable vessels, and at a suitable temperature, a natural liquid asphalt, so as to deprive it of all water, of all oils vaporizable under a temperature of 250° Fahr., and of all other injurious substances, and the refining process shall be so conducted as in no wise to impair the valuable qualities of the liquid asphalt. It shall be absolutely free from admixture with any compounds of paraffine or of coal tar, and it shall be of no less than 97 per cent pure.

The resulting asphaltic cement shall be free from water, volatile oils and all other deleterious substances, and its contained asphalt shall in all respects be suitable to meet the requirements of an adhesive and lasting cement, and it shall in all respects have the temper and other qualities necessary to produce a pavement that shall not be too soft in the summer, nor too hard and brittle in the winter.

The sand shall be clean, sharp, silicious sand free from loam, mica, clay or any earthy impurities. On sifting, it shall have at least 15 per cent of material that will be caught on a forty mesh per inch sieve, 25 per cent of material that will pass an eighty mesh per inch sieve, 10 per cent of which at least must pass a one hundred mesh per inch sieve. If the sand to be used does not contain the desired fine material, mineral dust unaffected by water may be used to make up the deficiency.

The sand and the asphaltic cement shall be heated in separate vessels to about 300° Fahr., and in no case shall the temperature be permitted to reach over 350° Fahr. After being thus suitably heated, the proper proportion of the limestone powder, cold, shall be added to the hot sand, and the sand, limestone powder and the asphaltic cement in their proper proportion shall then be mixed together in a suitable power mixer so that every particle of sand shall be thoroughly coated with a thin layer of asphaltic cement.

The mixture shall then be brought on to the street in suitable carts, and shall be spread at a temperature of about 250° Fahr. on the foundation which has been previously prepared and cleared of all rubbish, and which has thoroughly set and dried.

The asphaltic mixture shall be uniformly spread with hot iron rakes to such a depth that after receiving its ultimate compression, the finished asphaltic layer shall show a thickness of no less than two inches. After being spread, the mixture shall be ironed and compressed with hot iron rollers, weighing at least 250 lbs to the foot run, after which a small amount of hydraulic cement shall be swept over it, and the whole thoroughly compressed by a steam roller weighing not less than 250 pounds to the inch run, the rolling to be continued for not less than five hours for every 1,000 square yards of surface.

Special care shall be given to the heating and manipulation of the materials to insure a thorough mixture at the given temperature, without over heating or burning, and the asphaltic mixture and the materials contained therein shall be at all times subjected to inspection by the Superintendent of Streets or his inspector. The resulting pavement shall show an even and smooth surface, true to grade and official cross section, and free from all hollows and inequalities.

SECTION X.

SPECIFICATIONS FOR IMPROVING AND PAVING MAIN THOROUGHFARES.

Main thoroughfares shall be improved in the manner and with the materials specified in the Resolution of Intention for said improvement. SECTION XI.

SPECIFICATIONS FOR IMPROVING AND PAVING RESIDENCE STREETS.

Residence streets shall be improved in the manner and with the materials specified in the Resolution of Intention for said improvement. Unless otherwise specified in such Resolution, the construction of all work on residence streets shall be governed by and executed in accordance with the specifications herein set forth for "Improving and Paving Business Streets," excepting as follows:

That upon residence streets the concrete foundation shall not be less than four inches in thickness, and the asphalt or bituminous rock wearing surface shall not be less than one and one-half inches in thickness, and shall cover the street from curb to curb; also that curbing on residence streets shall be built in accordance with the provisions of Section 12 of this Ordinance.

The curb shall be, when finished, eight inches wide and sixteen inches deep, the outer edge rounded to one inch radius. The concrete shall be thoroughly tamped in place within three-quarters of one inch of surface grade. The top shall be finished with Portland cement mortar three-quarters of an inch in thickness, which mortar shall be mixed in the proportion of one part Portland cement to one and one-half parts clean, sharp sand.

The front or street face of the curb shall be finished with same quality of cement mortar one-quarter of an inch thick, to a depth of at least ten inches from the top of curb, and the opposite face shall also be plastered and dressed to a depth of two inches downward from the top of the curb.

The curb shall be built between mould boards, placed to provide clear space for full width and depth of curb. The ground foundation shall first be tamped hard and solid, and the concrete shall then be put in place in layers not exceeding six inches in thickness, and each layer shall be thoroughly tamped. When finished, the curb shall be covered with boards for two days, or until the cement becomes hard, after which the curb shall be covered with earth six inches deep for not less than six days, during which time the earth shall be kept moist.

The back filling behind curbs shall be thoroughly tamped in place in layers not more than six inches in thickness.

COUNCIL NEARS ITS END.

The Water Rate Ordinance Was Sent to the Printer.

A Number of Routine Matters Disposed of in a Rapid Manner.

The Council chamber in the City Hall was filled with curious people last evening. A rumor had gained currency that Councilman Bassett would introduce an ordinance closing the saloons on Sundays, and representatives of both the saloon and anti-saloon factions were in attendance.

Councilman Bassett, however, failed to put in an appearance and the sensation seekers were doomed to disappointment. Councilman Towle was the only other member absent.

The meeting was an unusually short one and had been specially called to consider an amount of business that has been hanging fire for some time.

Among the matters that were to be considered was the fixing of the water rates for the ensuing year.

Ex-Mayor W. R. Davis was present to represent the Oakland Water Company, and asked that the matter be deferred till some evening when the Council could consider the water rate question in detail.

Mr. Heitmann asked that this be done, but it was objected to by Manuel and Marshall, the latter saying he did not wish to attend another Council meeting this week. On motion, the question was laid over till the other business had been transacted.

When the water rate question finally came up Attorney Davis spoke at length on what he termed the unjust rate which had been fixed. The ordinance under consideration fixed the rates the same as last year.

Davis quoted statistics and claimed that the price per hydrant should be $3.50 or $4, rather than $1.75. At the conclusion of Mr. Davis' remarks the ordinance was passed to print unchanged.

ORDINANCES DISPOSED OF.

Regular routine business was then taken up, and the following ordinances were disposed of:

Authorizing the City Assessor to procure valuation of property from the County Assessor. Passed to print.

Changing grades of East Twenty-first street. Passed.

Granting J. P. Taylor the further privilege of occupying the foot of Franklin street with his coal bunkers for one year and eleven months.

Directing the Board of Public Works to replace the box sewer at the foot of Castro street with a vitrified ironstone pipe of sufficient diameter to carry off the storm water and sewage matter which backs up and overflows on the block bounded by First, Second, Castro and Grove. Street.

RESOLUTIONS OF INTENTION.

To sidewalk Vernon street from Perkins to Bay Place. Adopted.

Ordering the work on East Twelfth street sewer from First to Eleventh avenue. Passed.

Ordering paid the claim of Walsh & Koenig for $150 for land purchased as a roadway to the park recently acquired in West Oakland. Auditing and Finance.

At the conclusion of the routine business the Council adjourned to meet again next Monday evening.

License Up North.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 10.—At the village and town elections held in many parts of Minnesota, the issues were generally local, party lines not being drawn. At Waverly, the contest was between the young and the old men, the former electing the entire ticket.

Wells voted on high or low license for the liquor traffic—low license winning. The issues mostly voted on was license or no license. The following voted in favor of license: St. James, Hector, Morristown, Atwater, Glencoe, Fairmount, Slayton, Sherburne, Cokato, Morgan, Mountevidio, and Hayfield.

Those voting against license were: Winnebago City, Elmore, Windom, Brownsdale, Elbow Lake, Minnesota, Heron Lake and Bellingham.

River Rising.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, March 10.—The melting snows and heavy rains caused a rise of 23 inches in the Mississippi River during the last 24 hours. Old river men predict the highest water known for ten years.

Regulating Stockyards.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 10.—The Assembly by a vote of 25 to 7 passed a bill to regulate stockyards in Nebraska. It is very stringent in its provisions.

The Merchants' Exchange Talks About Telegraph Avenue Repairing.

At a meeting of the Merchant's Exchange last evening the members decided to protest against the "pocketing" of the bills Nos. 558-559 by the Assembly.

Chairman Arper said that he had heard the Assembly had "pocketed" these bills, which were introduced for the purpose of permitting the garnishment of government officials' salaries. The members of the Exchange, by a unanimous vote, decided to protest against any such forgetfulness on the part of the Assemblymen.

LETTERS RECEIVED.

The results of the distribution of "Facts and Figures" in the Eastern States was shown by letters received by Secretary Pearce from residents of Tennessee, Illinois, and Indiana. Some of the letters were as follows:

"Webb Pearce, Secretary Merchants' Exchange—Dear Sir: Book on Alameda County and Oakland received. Thanks. I want to live in California and would like to buy ten or twenty acres of improved fruit land with the intention of engaging in fruit raising and poultry. Will poultry do well in Alameda County? At what price can I buy a place. Give me prices and terms on several different places.

"E. D. ALLEN."

"Webb N. Pearce, Oakland, Cal.—Dear Sir: Received "Facts and Figures." I send you a whole volume of thanks from a Yankee who is coming to California just as quick as circumstances allow me to sell out some real estate. I want to put out for the Pacific at once. We have had several families go from here, but they all seem to have struck for Southern California. I will not. Alameda County seems good enough for me.

"HENRY E. THOMPSON."

Secretary Pearce was instructed to answer the letters.

H. H. Pitcher of Livermore sent a request to the Exchange asking that that part of the county be permitted to have a share in informing the East of the advantages of Livermore, and that neighborhood. The matter was at Mr. Theo Gier's suggestion, referred to the publishers of "Facts and Figures."

The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce sent a request to the Exchange asking that the members interest themselves in the passage of the Trans-Mississippi appropriation bill. It was decided to comply with the request.

A. H. Rott's resignation as a member of the Merchants' Exchange was accepted.

J. P. W. Sohst made a lengthy report on the condition of Telegraph avenue paving. "Superintendent of Streets Miller says we are cobblers," said Sohst, "in trying to have the holes in that pavement filled.

"Miller is a poor cobbler himself or he would put the avenue in repair. We will keep right on working for that street until it is fixed.

As there was no other business the meeting was adjourned.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., March 10.—The most disastrous wreck that has ever occurred on the Evansville & Terre Haute railroad occurred this morning between 12 and 1 o'clock to the "midnight cannon-ball" train from Chicago coming south.

The recent rains had a terrible effect on the road and the entire service has been directed since last Friday to getting the road in good shape for travel.

It was pronounced safe last night and the train service was resumed.

All the trains had orders to proceed cautiously on slow time for safety.

The train that was wrecked was coming on under these orders.

ENGINE TURNED OVER.

Three-quarters of a mile north of Hazelton, where the road bed is built on an embankment, the embankment suddenly gave way and the engine, baggage car and a part of the smoker went down.

The engine turned over, but the baggage car remained upright. The smoker hung over the abyss.

Engineer McCutcheon escaped death, but the fireman, Joe Boleman, was killed.

Conductor Sears of Terre Haute, who was in the smoker, was also killed.

FIFTEEN PASSENGERS KILLED.

It is reported that there were fifteen passengers in the smoker.

All of these were killed. It is impossible to get their names, as they are still in the wreck.

Shortly after the train went down the crevasse spread, and is now 100 feet wide.

The baggage car and the smoker, which contains the ill-fated passengers, has floated off into the field.

SCENE OF THE ACCIDENT.

Where the accident occurred there is a long stretch of embankment upon which the track is laid.

This is surrounded by the back water from White River.

It is supposed the ground hogs burrowed under the embankment to get away from the flood and the water followed, making the accident possible.

The sleeper and ladies' coach were taken back to Vincennes. Many Evansville people were in the sleeper, including State Senator Leich and wife, returning from Indianapolis, Sheriff Covert and wife and Miss Ada Ragon, returning from the inauguration of President McKinley.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 10.—Word has just been received at Union station, this city that fifteen people are known to have been killed in the Evansville and Terre Haute wreck near Princeton this morning.

No names are yet obtainable.

Express Messenger Hill, who arrived fom Terre Haute at 11 o'clock, said the information had been received that all the passengers in the day coaches were dead and still under the water and the sleeper was resting on top the coaches.

OFFICIALS' STORY.

What They Tell at Long Range of the Big Accident.

CHICAGO, March 10.—The following statement was made to the Associated Press at 1:25 P. M., by the officials of the Evansville & Terre Haute railroad; the Evansville & Terre Haute train No. 5, which leaves Terre Haute at 12:01 A. M. was wrecked by going through a trestle at the White river bridge at Decker, Indiana. The engine, baggage, mail and smoking cars went into the river.

George Sears of Terre Haute, Indiana and Fireman Boleman, Evansville, were killed.

The casualties as reported by officials of the road are: Conductor, fireman and three passengers, names unknown, killed.

Another Big Wreck Attended With a Loss of Life.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WICKLIFFE, Ky., Mar. 10.—At 12 o'clock this morning the St. Louis express on the Illinois Central, north bound, collided with a freight train at East Cairo, Kentucky.

Fireman Walter Rogers sustained fatal injuries, both legs being crushed off. The mail and express cars were demolished.

Bold Robbers Make Away With Plunder Down in Alabama.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LOUISVILLE, March 10.—A special from Birmingham, Alabama, says:

The north-bound express train on the Louisville & Nashville road, due at Louisville at noon Wednesday, was held up by six masked men near Calera Tuesday morning.

At the water tank in the woods two men boarded the engine, covered the engineer and fireman with pistols and forced them to uncouple the locomotive and express car from the remainder of the train and run forward half a mile.

Here four more men were waiting. The messenger refused to open the express car. The door was broken open, the messenger covered with pistols and forced to open the safe. A number of packages of money were secured. The total amount is not known, but it is said to have been large. A posse is in pursuit of the robbers, having gone from Birmingham on a special train at 2 o'clock this morning.

A BROKEN LEG.

Accident to an Old Friend of the President at Washington.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—President McKinley's old friend and companion in arms, General Hastings, is confined in the Emergency Hospital with a broken leg.

Hastings was the commander of the Twenty-third Ohio, McKinley's old regiment, and now lives in Bermuda. He came to Washington to see the inauguration and was to have sailed home on Saturday.

Early this afternoon he called on the President at the White House and while returning to the hotel, was knocked down by a wagon and the leg once fractured at the battle of Winchester by a bullet, was broken.

Word was sent to the White House that General Hastings had been injured.

President McKinley at once sent a messenger with a note offering to render him any service in his power.

An hour later when he could escape from the visitors he drove to the hospital with Colonel Taylor of East Liverpool, Ohio and Captain W. C. Williams.

Sitting down by the cot, he took his friends hand.

"I am very sorry to find you here, General," the President said and added, "but I am told it is not serious and that's good. It all comes from running away from us so soon."

After some conversation, the President remarked:

"The last time I saw you wounded was at Winchester, and I hardly thought you would pull through that time."

The patient will be removed to Garfield Hospital.

THE SENATE.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—There was the usually large attendance of Senators when Vice-President Hobart called the Senate to order at noon today.

The first business was the reading of a letter from Governor Bradley of Kentucky, announcing the appointment of Andrew Wood as Senator to succeed Blackburn.

Hoar at once moved that the Senator-elect be sworn in.

Morgan moved that the credentials would be referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections.

Hoar said he would not object and the credentials were referred.

Then Hoar presented a written notice of two proposed amendments to the rules of the Senate of a radical nature, the most important of which was, according to Hoar's written notice "to enable the Senate to act on legislation when it desires, after reasonable debate."

It provides that when any bill or resolution had been under consideration more than one day, any Senator could demand that the debate be closed. If a majority of the Senators desired, there should be a vote without further delay and no motion should be in order pending a vote but one to adjourn or to take recess.

The other amendment proposed was to prevent the interruption of members of the Senate. It provides that when a Senator makes a point of no quorum there shall be a roll call and if the presence of a quorum is disclosed, business should proceed.

A memorial was presented by Shoup from the Idaho Legislature asking for the annexation of that part of Wyoming. It was not read.

Warren said that if the Wyoming Legislature has been informed of the memorial, it would have taken action.

It was decided, on motion of Hoar, that when the Senate adjourn it be until Monday 11:30 but, in executive session, the Senate reconsidered its action and agreed that the adjournment would be sine die.

This was found expedient as no business could be transacted in a half hour on Monday and nominations made in that half hour would fail if not immediately confirmed.

At 12:40 P. M. the special session adjourned.

FOR SUNDAY CLOSING.

Councilman Bassett Intends to Introduce an Ordinance.

Will Have the Effect of Putting Both Councils on Record.

Councilman Bassett intends to place both Councils on record in regard to the Sunday closing of saloons. Today he wrote the following letter:

"To the Editor of the Tribune—Sir: I am credited by several papers with having intended to introduce at the Council meeting last night an ordinance closing the saloons from Saturday night until Monday morning. It's a pretty long eared donkey that does not know that the only business that can be transacted at a called meeting is the business named in the call. I will introduce the ordinance at the next regular meeting of the Council.

"J. M. BASSETT.

"Oakland, March 10, 1897."

The next meeting of the Council will be held on March 15th, and at that time the ordinance will be introduced. It will probably be read, like most ordinances are, for one first and second time and passed to print.

It is very probable that the vote to pass to phint will show the following ayes—Bassett, Dow, Kaufman, Marshall, Buckland, Manuel, Towle and Mott. The noes will probably be Heitman, Brosnahan, Watkinson. It may, however, be referred to a committee, and then it could not come up again until the new Council is in office. Should such be the case it will propably be killed by the following vote of the new Council: Ayes—Rowe, Pringle, Upton. Noes—Henneberry, Girard, Brosnahan, Fibush, Watkinson, Heitmann, Cuvellier, Earl.

COUNCILMAN PRINCLE.

He Is Well Fitted in Experience to Undertake His Duties.

William B. Pringle, who made such a splendid run for Councilman-at-Large is the youngest man ever elected to the City Council.

He owes his election to the enthusiastic support given him by the young men of the city who importuned voters of all parties in his behalf. Mr. Pringle was born in this city in 1871. He attended the Oakland public schools, after which he entered Yale College and completed his education. Returning to his native State he attended Hastings Law College, where he fitted himself for his chosen profession of the law, after which he entered the law office of his father, Edward J. Pringle.

Thoroughly familiar with all the details of the important litigation now pending regarding the water front he will be able to give valuable aid to the city and to the Council when matters affecting this city and relating to this great suit are brought up. A thoughtful, conscientious, industrious man,—whatever he does, will be only after careful investigation and it is certain that while in office he will endeavor to help along those measures that will best benefit the city and result most advantageosuly.

Mr. Pringle presents a good illustration of the true California types resulting from the mixture of races. On one side he comes from a Puritan stock which counts four or five of the old Governors of Connecticut,—one of them having been one of the founders of Yale College; on the other side he comes from the Cavalier element of South Carolina, his family now holding the original letter from Washington and Jefferson tendering to his great grand-father the position of United States District Attorney in that State and afterwards of Attorney General of the United States.

He will enter upon the discharge of the duties of the important office to which he has been elected with the best wishes of his many friends and regarded by his colleagues highly, it is believed he will be able with their friendly cooperation to accomplish much for the district where he resides in the eastern portion of the city.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 10.—The following telegram was received at the Navy Department at 1 P. M. from the captain of the Pritan via Norfolk, and dated Hatteras Cove:

"The Puritan's engines are disabled. One may run for a short time. Must have convoy ready to tow. We weathered the gale admirably. Have wired the commander in chief."

Though nothing further is known, the Navy Department officers take this to indicate that the Puritan is safely anchored in Hatteras Cove.

Captain Sands of the Columbia has been ordered to Cape Hatteras. He wires that he will start not later that 3 P. M. and should make the run in about ten hours.

Old Age, However, Not the Only Cause of Its Impairment.

THE DEFECTS IN YOUNG EYES.

Attention of Parents to Be Directed to Them by Teachers.

NEW DEPARTURE IN SCHOOL.

Dr. Myra Knox Explains the Method That Is to Be Followed.

On account of the prevalence of defective eyes among school children, the Board of Education has taken measures to alleviate the evil by the introduction of a system by which the children's eyes may be tested.

A meeting of teachers will be called, where the use of physicians charts will be explained.

The method is very simple, no instruments will be used and no expense will be incurred.

Dr. Knox when interviewed today had this to say on the subject:

"The method is very simple, any one can use it, if they have the charts. Of course, it is simply a rough estimate. The child can or can not see the letters and lines at the normal distance from the chart which is twenty feet.

"That is all the teachers can do. If the child cannot see the lines and letters distinctly, the parents are notified that the child has defective vision and the parents can do as they see fit about having the defect remedied by glasses or other wise.

"No advice is offered and no suggestions are made by the teachers. That is solely the business of the parents.

"It is simply in the interest of relieving children of physical hinderances in their studies, and adding to their health and happiness.

"The teachers do not need instructions in the use of the charts. A knowledge of English and common sense is all that is required.

"One of the most common defects is Astigmatism and a fruitful cause of headaches. The causes of defective vision are too numerous to mention. Among them are poor light, too bright or too dim, bad air, reading on cars, reading when lying down, reading when tired, or when the body is weak, heated rooms, etc."

COURT NEWS

Judge Ogden Scores One of the San Leandro Potato Thieves.

Facts of Interest Developed in and About the Courts.

Ben Chipman and Martin Dearson, two of the Wingate gang, charged with robbing Joe Martin, a San Leandro farmer, were sentenced this morning, Chipman to three and Dearson to six months in the County Jail.

Ed Brown, another of the outfit, is serving five years for robbery for his share in the crime, but Dearson, against whom the testimony was more conclusive, was found guilty of petty larceny only. In passing sentence, Judge Ogden commented on the inconsistencies of juries and expressed a belief that Dearson was the arch actor in the theft. He said he was sorry that he could only impose a six months' sentence and would make it six years if he could.

Chipman is rather weak minded, so was allowed to plead guilty to petty larceny.

MANUEL TO HOBART

The Councilman Denies Being Afraid of a Boycott.

OFFERS A THOUSAND DOLLARS

He Will Pay It to Charity When the Proof Is Produced.

WANTS MINISTERS TO DECIDE.

The Anti-Saloon Question May Yet Produce a Sensation.

Councilman Manuel declares that Rev. C. H. Hobart has not treated him fairly and offers the reverend gentleman a thousand dollars if he can prove that he (Manuel) knuckled to the dictates of the liquor dealers.

Mr. Manuel has written the following letter to Mr. Hobart:

MANUEL'S CARD.

"Rev. C. H. Hobart, Oakland, Cal:—Assuming that you are correctly reported in last night's issue of the Tribune, I deem it my duty as a man and as a citizen to make reply.

"It is my judgment that from the position you hold in the community, and as a minister of the gospel, you are a conscientious, God-fearing man, and believing that you are such, I answer you. If I held you in less high esteem your interview would be unworthy of notice or subject to a suit for criminal libel.

"In denying the charge that you make, towit: 'That I knuckled to the dictates of the liquor dealers to avoid a boycott,' I want most of all to be believed, otherwise, such denial is without effect.

"It is true, that if my past life and regular deportment are not sufficiently known to you to be an absolute guarantee of honesty and good faith, there is little that I can say other than that the statement you make is absolutely false and untrue, and is more or less an injury to my reputation in the community; but I will say to you further, that I have not conversed with the managers of the liquor dealers or had any intercourse with them whatever on this subject for about two years.

"That you may have an incentive for further investigation in this matter, I hereby say to you that if you can discover one scintilla of evidence to support your charge, other than my vote in the Council, I will present to your church, for charitable purposes, $1,000 leaving the decision to the Protestant ministers of Oakland. Nor is this an idle boast, for if you will call upon me I will undertake to satisfy you of the sincerity of my intentions.

"Now, if you are as much a man as I believe you to be, you will either accept this proposition, or do me the justice to make as public the denial of this charge as you have made public the charge itself.

"WALTER G. MANUEL."

WHAT MR. HOBART SAID.

The language to which Mr. Manuel takes exception is the following which was published in an interview with Rev. C. H. Hobart yesterday afternoon:

"It is my opinion that Councilman Manuel knuckled to the California Protective Association, for he was so anxious to submit the question of Sunday closing to a vote of the people but when the time came to do it he knuckled to the dictates of the Liquor Association. I do not mean to be hard with Mr. Manuel for he has stood by some good measures in the Council, as he says, but that only makes his late conduct appear in that much worse light. If the California Protective Association did not cause him to knuckle to avoid a boycott I am greatly mistaken."

MORE TROOPS APPEAR.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CANEA, March 10.—When the sun rose this morning it was seen that there were strange vessels at anchor here. They were the British and Italian transports loaded with troops, evidently a part of a foreign force which, as the admirals recommended, will occupy all the principal seaport towns of the island. The Turks assert that these troops will be used to drive the Greek forces out of Crete, but this belief is not shared by the foreign population generally. Owing to the receipt of advices that a band of armed volunteers from Greece were on the way to Crete with the intention of reinforcing the Cretan insurgents, the foreign admirals agreed to dispatch a cruiser to prevent their landing. The Mussulmans besieged at Candamo have arrived here on an Italian warship.

THE RESULT OF GATES' SUIT.

Judge Greene Advises That a Charge of Fraud Be Prosecuted.

The $125,175 damage suit brought by George Gates against the promoters of the San Benito Irrigation Company was dismissed this morning by Judge Greene, but before the order was made, some testimony of a strange character was taken.

W. H. Eastland, the chief promoter, gave the evidence. He stated that although the articles of incorporation were filed no other steps were taken by any of the incorporators save himself. That he caused stock to be issued over his signature as president and Frank H. Fowler as secretary, although neither of them had ever been elected. Much of this stock was floated and George Gates got some of it. He is a large land holder in San Benito County and claims that the transaction caused his property to depreciate the amount asked for in the suit. He also said that he was out $11,000 in cash.

S. M. Eastland, now insane, H. W. Westphal, C. H. Walker, Wm. F. Halliday, Lealand Shores, Joseph Rosenthal, A. M. Jones, Jerome Perrier, Rophael Fiege, and Henry Peterson were also made defendants as stock holders, but the evidence showed that they had taken no part in the matter and the court held them not liable for Eastland's misdeeds. He also advised Gates to bring another suit setting up fraud practiced by the self-elected president as the grounds of action.

SECRETS OF A FURNACE.

Why the Air Warmer World Would not Do Its Work.

She was a large, determined looking woman, and when she came into the real estate man's office he scented trouble from her looks; and then he remembered the summer and his heart smote him.

"Say!" she started angrily, "that house you sold me is the coldest place I ever saw. I have had the hottest kind of a fire built, but can't get it warmed!"

"H'm," said the real estate men. "There must be something the matter."

"Well, I should say there was, and you've got to fix it, too. You guaranteed that house and I want you to come right out there and look at it. Why, a person'd freeze to death in that place sitting in front of a stove door," and she sat down in a right-it-out-on-this-line-if-it-takes-all-winter manner.

"H'm," said the real estate man, reflectively stroking his thin growth of chin whiskers. "Well, all right; I'll see about it."

And with that promise the woman went away, and the real estate man hunted up a furnace repairer and sent him out to see the house.

"Well," said the furnace man when he had returned from his examination, "what you need there is a draft. You haven't got enough draft in that furnace."

"Why, man alive!" ejaculated the real estate man, "there's a special draft to that furnace that runs through the back wall to the top of the house!"

"Well, that's all right," said the furnace man, dubiously. "You'll have to have a draft there or that thing'll never work. The whole thing will have to be raised about six inches and will cost about $30."

And after the real estate man had bickered him down to $28.50 the furnace man went to work and finished up the job.

And the next day the real estate man went out to look at it.

"Wow!" he said, as the maid let him in the front door. "What's the matter here?" "Where's your mistress?"

But just then she came down muffled up in a great wrapper.

"This house isn't a bit warmer," she said angrily. "Why, it's as cold as an iceberg in here," which was indeed the truth, and the real estate man turned up his coat collar and thrust his hands deep into his pockets.

"What's the matter?" he demanded, petulantly. "Doesn't the thing work?"

"I don't know," she said with a puzzled air. "It ought to be all right, but my goodness, it don't get any warmer—there must be something wrong."

And the real estate man concluded that there was, and, making an excuse of getting the furnace man again, he made haste to get out in the enervated sunshine.

That afternoon he turned up with another furnace man.

"Ho, ho," said that worthy as soon as he got into the furnace room. "What you need here is more draft to this furnace."

"What's that?" yelled the angry real estate agent. "Why, man, there's draft enough in that furnace to lift the mortgage on this house. Why, I just had the concern raised six inches."

"Well, I can't help that," said the furnace man, decisively. "This room is too small; there isn't room for the draft to get to the fire; what you need is a draft box built to the rear of the house. This will give a supply of good clear air which will pour in and go freely through the house and warm it up in a jiffy. The furnace is all right. That job will cost about $25," he added.

And the fire box was constructed, while the real estate man stood about with compressed lips, and the woman shivered under a dozen or so Navajo blankets in the kitchen.

The concern was started again, but with poor success, and the furnace man went about with an anxious look upon his face and got the servants to yell through the pipes while he tinkered at the registers and let down weights through the holes. But nothing was discovered, and yet the house remained cold enough to frost the steam from the kitchen kettle.

"U-m-m," said the furnace man, finally, "I'll tell you what to do. You go and get the man that built the furnace and bring him out here and I'll consult with him about it and we'll get it fixed up."

And the real estate man hired a carriage and spent two hurried hours hunting up the furnace man.

"What's that—that furnace wrong?" queried the furnace man after he had looked up the statistics on that particular house. "Why, that's one of our best furnaces."

But nevertheless he buttoned up and went along with the real estate agent.

A minute inspection ensued, while the parties all stood around anxiously and awaited the decision of this eminent authority.

"Well, I'll tell you," he remarked finally, as he contemplatively chewed off the end of an apologetic cigar. "This draft is constructed wrong. It is all right when the wind is from the west, but when it veers around it is more of a detriment to the working of the furnace than anything else. It ought to run to the front wall here—you'll have to have a new draft constructed. It will cost about——"

But then they fell upon him. And he had to use the real estate agent's carriage to get home in.

And after they had all gone the woman started out with blood in her eye on a tour of investigation. And discovered at the top of the house a skylight which acted as a draft to the furnace down below.

And the beautiful draft had scurried past the coaxing fire, ascended the specially constructed draft and shot out the open skylight at the top in cheerful volumes.

The house is now warm and so is the real estate agent, while the man that built the furnace is chilly, the woman laughs and the furnace repairers don't care.—Chicago News.

GEN. EZETA DEAD.

The Well-Known Salvadoran Soldier Succumbs to Disease at Panama.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

COLON, March 9.—A dispatch was received here from Panama this morning to the effect that Antonio Ezeta died in that city today.

Later, the news was confirmed.

(General Antonio Ezeta mentioned above came to this country about two and a half years ago, having been forced to leave Salvador, because of the unsuccessful issue of the revolution, in which he and his brother, ex-President Carlos Ezeta, took part. He escaped federal extradition with some associates, among them General Casin and Villator. Later he and his companions went to Acapulco, Mexico, where they again undertook to raise a revolution in Salvador. The attempt was unsuccessful. Antonio returned to San Francisco but later took his way toward the South American and Central American republics again.

Since his departure, but little was heard of him until a few weeks ago when it was rumored that the General was ill. This rumor was followed by another that the General had died, which now seems, at least, to have been verified.

Antonio's brother Carlos, the Ex-President of Salvador, is a resident in this city with his family, the residence being on Williams street.

The Ex-President grieves greatly over the death of his brother—the general, because they had long been together in feats of arms and in troublesome times.)

PARDEE WILL CONTEST.

The Widow of Dr. E. H. Pardee Makes a Deposition in the Case.

Charges That Geo. C. Pardee Tried to Prejudice His Father's Mind.

The examination of Mrs. Emma Pardee, widow of the late Dr. E. H. Pardee, was resumed this afternoon before Notary B. H. Griffiths. The taking of the deposition began yesterday and is a preliminary to the contest filed by her for the Pardee fortune.

Yesterday Mrs. Pardee testified to the undue influence which she alleges her step-son, George C. Pardee, used to persuade his father to dispose of his property as he did. She said that the son visited their home frequently and talked with his father. She declared that, on such occasions he had tried to prejudice her in her husband's mind.

She also testified that during the last years of his life her husband took powerful drugs to alleviate pain and that they produced a marked effect on his mind, on some occasions making him the victim of strong hallucinations.

WOMEN AS ARTISTS.

How They Thrive in Their Business in This City.

THE RESULT OF EXPERIENCE.

Facts Concerning the Fad of Decorating Rare China.

THOSE WHO USE OIL AND WATER

Struggle of Many to Overcome the Competition of the Metropolis.

One of the less prosaic pursuits of life by which daily bread may be honestly earned lies within the field of art. China painting as a fad has reached such dimensions that not a few young women have taken it up as a means of support, while society ladies of artistic tendencies have adopted it as a pastime. It is a sad fact, though nevertheless true, that Oakland as a city does not offer many advantages to artists. It has no art school, no opportunities for exhibit of the work of local artists, and does not possess metropolitan advantages. The tastes of its people may be artistic enough, as the many homes, artistically beautiful, testify. But it lacks that stimulus which only large centers of population can give to art and artists. The artists say that the people of the coast have not grown up to it yet, have not fully developed their powers of artistic appreciation. But they have hopes of a promising future for artists on the coast.

HOME PATRONAGE.

There is another thing—lack of home patronage—which one of the artists seen by a Tribune reporter complained of. It is the same in respect to buying pictures as in buying some other products. San Francisco attracts considerable of Oakland patronage, which ought to support her home industries.

On account of the hard times, sales in pictures have not been lively of late, but the artists look forward to better times in the spring. During the holidays, however, business was brisk.

WOMEN OF THE PALETTE.

Among the women artists in Oakland are Mrs. Benton and Mrs. Gelwicks. Mrs. Benton came to California in the early days of its history, and Mrs. Gelwicks was one of the first pupils in the Art School in San Francisco.

Among the younger artists who have studios here, Miss Briggs is said to be very promising. Miss Nicholls also is said to do very good work. Miss Lou Wall, Miss Herrick and her sister and Miss Hyde, who is president of a sketching club, have studios in San Francisco and are prominent in art circles. Miss Wall is at present traveling abroad.

Among other women artists of our city are Miss L. MacBride, whose specialty is pen and ink sketching; Mrs. Buteau, well known as a teacher of china painting; Mrs. MacDonald, Miss Colby, Miss Burrall, Miss Collins, Miss Roberts, Miss Holmes and Mrs. Miller, who prints in pastel.

Mrs. Benton enjoys the distinction of being the oldest artist on the coast, besides being among the first in Oakland. She was the first teacher in drawing ever employed in the San Francisco and Oakland schools. When the Oakland High School opened, Mrs. Benton took charge of the drawing department. The year 1856 had marked her advent into the public schools. Her career as a teacher did not, however, begin there. Ever since her thirteenth year she taught in different branches of art.

"There is hardly any department in art," she said, "in which I have not practiced—oil painting, water colors, tapestry, etc. At present I am not doing much teaching, nor do I make an effort to sell my pictures in Oakland, having, usually, orders from other places. I do not now make any exhibit of my work. Ten years ago I used to place my pictures in the Mechanics' Fair, but now I am perfectly willing to leave room for the younger artists. I have had some very talented pupils. Miss Burrall, Miss Briggs and Miss Hyde used to be among my scholars, and they have become quite promising artists.

SUBJECTS SELECTED.

"I have chosen my subjects from Italian scenery, also from California, as the Yosemite, the Mission and Monterey. Figures are, however, my preference. I make a specialty of perspectives, and have invented a mechanical appliance for its study. I am also preparing a work on the subject, the idea being not only to show the theory, but to furnish also a means by which the eye may be convinced while the ear is taught."

Miss Benton is also an artist, though at present she is engaged principally in literary work and giving lectures on cities in Europe which she and her mother have visited during their travels.

WORKING IN LEATHER.

"I am most interested," said Miss Benton, "in the revival of the old German art of working in leather. The design is raised by hand and is worked on both sides. It is both durable and beautiful. Tapestry painting, in imitation of the old German art, has also attracted and fascinated me very much.

"There have not been many artists in Oakland," Miss Benton continued, "in fact, Oakland is not as artistic as it ought to be. Its people do not buy works of art. Nor has the city been able to support an art school. We need a great deal to make us an artistic city."

CHINA PAINTING.

Miss E. M. Porter paints the most beautiful china. Speaking of her work, she said: "I had some very good sales during the holidays. Hand painted china is very fashionable, you know. Miniatures are my specialty. I believe there are not many artists in Oakland beside myself that paint heads on china. It is very difficult, and it is necessary to mark a drawing first, which I do not usually do, putting the colors on at once, unless it is a conventional design."

Miss E. L. Knowlton also makes a specialty of china painting, but the art of oil painting is not foreign to her. "I have been very successful since I came to Oakland about six months ago," she said. "I find that Oakland is an extremely artistic town. Her young people certainly show a great deal of talent. My favorite design in china painting is flowers, and my favorite among flowers is the violet, and I never meet with any difficulty in disposing of my violet pieces. I always make the drawing first and then lay on the colors. Scroll work in gold around the edge of a plate is very fashionable now and has been for two or three years. Purple seems to be most in demand among colors. In oil painting I choose for my subjects landscapes, fruits and flowers. I have no preference among these Californian sunsets, and the hills furnish my subjects in painting."

Miss Knowlton had some very handsome work in her studio. There were plates, one in pale, delicious pink, another of violets with pale green background, a third decorated with hawthorne blossoms of pale pink, with leaves of a delicate green and scroll work of gold. In painting, her work is characterized by soft, distant effects.

LOCAL SCENERY.

Mrs. D. W. Gelwicks is one of Oakland's first artists, both in point of time and excellence. Her studio was richly adorned with products of her art, she being equally at home in oils and water colors. Mrs. Gelwicks makes a specialty of local Californian scenery. The wild flowers of the State she knows well how to transplant to her canvas in warm and true colors. "Oakland Oaks," a piece of the water front, with Alameda hazily in the distance, a few characteristic sketches of the Missions, show the scope and character of her work, which has been pronounced good and true to nature by those who know. Some pink tea roses and a study in pinks were beautiful in rich and warm colors. Mrs. Gelwicks echoed the views of many others of the local artists when she said that the market at present is somewhat dull, resulting from the hard times. In San Francisco, the market generally is better, but for several years even that has been dull. In hard times, naturally, the first things people must do without are the luxuries of life. As a rule, no large sales have been made lately anywhere, according to what many of the artists say.

HAVE TO WORK HARD.

Mrs. S. P. Lathrop was hopeful of better times. "I think business is picking up, she said. "It is generally good here, and artists are like others—they have to work hard to get established. But with the spring times will be better. Oakland, as a rule, is an artistic town, but it is conservative. It is not ready to embrace every one who aspires to be an artist. But Oakland has people of refinement and culture, who love art. My field of work lies in figure painting, but I often choose flowers and landscapes as subjects for my pictures. In my religious painting, I work without models. I made good sales before going to Los Angeles. One of my pictures, a life size painting called the "Virgin and Child," is now in the possession of Father McCarthy of Riverside, to whom it was presented by the Sisters of Mercy in Los Angeles."

Miss Culver pursues art along the lines of china painting and in oils. "I have the best sales in painted china," she said, "and like that work best. Prices, however, are only fair. I usually choose my subjects from Californian scenery and flowers."

DECORATIVE WORK.

Miss Lizzie Gremke is also partial to china painting. "The violet is my favorite flower, and I use it a great deal in my work. Violet designs always find purchasers. I do not originate all my designs. We can take more liberty in copying in decorative art than in oil painting. China painting is a fad that is increasing more and more, but prices are becoming lower, because crockery dealers hire artists to do work by the piece, and as they procure their crockery at wholesale prices they are able to sell it for less. Pictures sell very well, though the hard times have made the demand somewhat slack. But the great trouble in Oakland is that there is no place to exhibit pictures except two or three store windows which the owners kindly offer at times."

Only a Shower.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CINCINNATI, March 10.—Serious apprehensions were created here last night by a thunder shower early in the evening, which gave three-quarters of an inch of rain fall in a short time. The shower turns out to have been of a local character and the indications today point to not more than fifty-two feet of water in the Ohio river.

MISS HANNA'S FIANCE.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Miss Hanna, daughter of the Senator from Ohio, appears to be a good deal of a manager herself. Senator and Mrs. Hanna admit that their eldest daughter really is engaged to Mr. Beery, the successful young bridge builder of Toledo, who has for some little time permitted it to be known that he was Miss Hanna's fiancee.

Mrs. Hanna, speaking for public, stated that the denial of her son arose from a desire to have the engagement kept out of the papers for the present, and not from any disapproval of her daughter's choice. Mr. Beery early in the autumn first approached Senator Hanna for the purpose of formally asking his daughter's hand in marriage. At the time the Senator was too busy with political matters to give the answer desired by the young people, and put them off by saying that he could not then give it proper attention. Again Mr. Beery approached the Senator in the very height of confusion attendant upon his selection for the Senate. Again the Senator said that he could not give the matter attention at that time. Then the young people decided to take matters in their own hands, and engaged themselves forthwith. When the family left Ohio to come to Washington Miss Hanna, after the train had moved out of the station, showed her mother the handsome engagement ring given her as a parting present by Mr. Beery.

Mrs. Hanna went on to say that while she thought her daughter should have waited for her father's formal consent, in the matter, she could not blame her for taking matters in her own hands as she had done. Personally, Senator and Mrs. Hanna like Mr. Beery and approve of the match, but for the present did not care to have anything mentioned in public. Having brought about the engagement despite Mr. Hanna's desire to procrastinate, the young people next contrived to steal a march on the Senator by giving the news to the public. Miss Hanna, before leaving her home in Ohio, wrote to her grandmother in Toledo and told her to have the announcement of her engagement made in the Toledo papers. No time has as yet been set for the marriage, as Senator and Mrs. Hanna do not care to have their daughter leave them for a while.

HOLDS WORLD'S RECORD.

Champion Watson Recommends Paine's Celery.

Brings Fresh Blood and Regulates the Whole Nervous System.

It is useless to attempt to compare any other remedy with Paine's celery compound.

Paine's celery compound is another sort of thing entirely from any substitute that was ever handed over a counter.

It puts fresh blood into the shrunken veins, regulates the expenditure of nervous energy, and positively cures general nervous debility and such specific nervous disorders as neuralgia, sleeplessness, melancholia, hysteria, headaches, lassitude—in a word, Paine's celery compound is able to soundly build up the nervous system and make it healthy and active.

Among the testimonials received last month by the proprietors of Paine's celery compound was the following:

Boston, Feb. 8, 1897.

Gentlemen:—The strongest of athletes sometimes feels languid and drawn out. I have often found myself feeling so, more especially in the spring before the outdoor season begins. I have tried many things, but have found nothing that does me so much good as Paine's celery compound. I say this with much pleasure. Respectfully yours, J. P. Watson.

Mr. Watson is the world's professional champion jumper and pole vaulter. He defeated Tom Burroughs and others at the world's fair in Chicago.

Not long ago Hjertberg, the champion steeplechaser, wrote to Wells, Richardson & Company that Paine's celery compound had been of great benefit to him, and said that he wished to recommend the remedy to others.

John Graham of the Boston Athletic Association, who took the victorious American team to Athens; James Michael, the champion long distance bicyclist, and George Wright of Wright & Ditson, are among those who have recently indorsed this best of all spring remedies. Advice from such men is worth following in a matter of health and strength.

Gen. Solomon Dead.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SALT LAKE, March 10. General Fred Solomon, late of the United States Volunteer Army, died in this city last evening. At the outbreak of the Rebellion he was a resident of St. Louis, and was mustered in as Captain of the Fifth Missouri Cavalry, was afterwards appointed Colonel of the Ninth Wisconsin Volunteers, and was promoted Brigadier General in July, 1862. He was breveted Major General in 1864.

General Solomon was Surveyor-General of Utah under three administrations.

Bismarck's Views.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, March 10.—A special to the Herald from Berlin says:

"Prince Bismarck's organ severely condemns the participation of Germany in the Cretan question, it says: 'It is not correct policy to risk the sound bones even of a single German soldier for Oriental interests, which are not ours, or from alleged Christian and humanitarian motives, such as England uses to cloak her efforts to advance her own interest.'"

Worthless Guns.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, March 10.—A special to the Herald from Montevidio says:

"While the crew of the old-fashioned cruiser Yantic were exercising at target practice in La Plata river, one of the guns was discharged prematurely, killing one man, and seriously wounding two others.

VOLUNTEERS REJOICE.

Result of the First Year's Work of the Army of the Lord.

The first anniversary of their organization was celebrated with a camp fire last night at 1060 Broadway by the Volunteers of America.

Among the speakers were: Lieutenant Kellaway, Captain Brundage of Hope Hall, No. 2 of San Francisco, Lieutenant John Anderson of Hollister, Lieutenant Moore and Charles Barnes of the San Francisco headquarters.

A brief review of the movement was given by Lieutenant Kellaway. In August, 1896, the Oakland branch was established, having now twenty-five members. A debt of about $160 had been incurred, but this, it was hoped, would be cleared in three months. California has seventeen posts and about 500 soldiers. The progress since March, 1896, has been encouraging. It was particularly emphasized by the speaker that every Volunteer must be a supporter of the churches.

The work done among ex-prisoners was the subject of Captain Brundage's talk. During less than a year, the home had had thirty-two inmates, twenty-four of these have afterwards been accounted for as leading a reformed life. For about sixty, positions have been secured. Three other such halls have been established in the United States during the year by Mrs. Ballington Booth.

DEATH OF MRS. JONES.

She Was Formerly a Well Known Resident of This City.

A telegram was received this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Poor of 1320 Filbert street, announcing the death of their daughter, Mrs. John Winston Jones at her home at Pittsburg, Pa.

Mrs. Jones was well known in this city where she spent the greater part of her girlhood. She was a graduate of Mills' Seminary and had many friends in San Francisco and Oakland. She married a prominent Eastern man, nine years ago and went East to live. She leaves two small children.

MARRIED IN SECRET.

The friends of T. M. Stateler of Alameda have been given a surprise. The statement has been made that he is a married man and has been married for the past two years. The statement originated from Mrs. H. R. Jacobson of Kingsburg, Fresno County, who claims that Stateler married her daughter, Lotta, January 15, 1895.

Stateler refuses to discuss the subject and refers questioners to his attorney, Robert A. Friedrick. The attorney admits that he has received knowledge that a marriage contract was signed by Miss Jacobson and Stateler when the latter was a minor but Stateler never assumed any marital rights, duties or responsibilities. The attorney has also been informed that proceedings for divorce will be instituted with Stateler for the defendant. Stateler is 22 years old and is the son of Thomas K. Stateler, general passenger agent of the Northern Pacific Railroad. The son lives with his parents in Alameda and Miss Jacobson also lived in that city two years ago. Stateler paid the young lady many attentions then but no one suspected a secret wedding.

PHYSICIANS BANQUET.

The Alameda County Medical Association gave an elaborate banquet last evening at the Hotel Metropole.

The menu contained many toothsome delicacies and excellent music and witty speeches contributed largely to the enjoyment of the banquet. Responses were made to toasts by Harry Melvin, Alexander Rosborough, Dr. H. D. Boyes, Dr. Edwards, Miss Mollie Conners and John P. Irish. The guests included Dr. F. S. Buteau, Dr. H. G. Thomas, Dr. F. R. Muffer, Dr. E. J. Boyce, Dr. Myra Knox, Dr. J. L. Adams, Dr. W. J. Wilcox, Dr. A. Fine, Dr. H. E. Muffer, Dr. Rucker, Dr. W. B. Huntington, Dr. O. D. Hamlin, Dr. J. P. Dunn, Dr. Carl Knox, Dr. F. W. Morse, Dr. Milton, Dr. Currigan, Dr. Taylor, Dr. Medros, Dr. Beckwith, Dr. Porter, Dr. Patterson, Dr. Wakefield, Dr. Kitchens, Dr. F. L. Adams and Dr. Shannon.

MORE SCHOLARSHIPS.

The Regents of the State University have decided to create fifty-six undergraduate and seven graduate scholarships, in addition to those already existing.

Thirty-five hundred dollars a year was appropriated by the Regents for the purpose of aiding not more than twenty-eight students each year. These scholarships are to be divided equally between the seven Congressional districts and are to be awarded by the faculty of the University, in accord with mental ability, character and needs. They are to be known as the University of California scholarships.

Levi Strauss has supplemented the appropriation of the Regents with a yearly contribution of $2,500

The demons of despair follow the footsteps of the man whose ignorance or carelessness has loaded him with a burden of weakness and disease. There is no royal road to health. No one can trespass the laws of nature and escape the consequences. True, some may do what others may not. Each one has his limitations. The puzzle is to understand it all. Before any one thoroughly understands his system, many mistakes are made. This is ruinous to health, disastrous to pocket. What must it not be for a family of three, or four, or a half-dozen? In the average family, the mother is the manager, the nurse, the general superintendent. Her wisdom directs the household. She is responsible for manners, morals, health. How necessary then that she have able assistants. Most especially in the matter of health. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser was written for her especial benefit. It is what its name indicates—a home physician—a common-sense medical adviser. In its 1008 pages of plain language, with its 300 illustrations, she will find ample descriptions of symptoms of failing health, with simple inexpensive prescriptions for the arrest of disease. It contains more information about the human body in health and disease than any other book ever published. It has had a larger sale (680,000 copies at $1.50 each) than any medical book in the English language. This great book may be had absolutely free, in paper covers, by sending twenty-one one-cent stamps, to pay cost of mailing only, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y. If you prefer fine French cloth binding, send ten cents extra (thirty-one cents in all).

WORK FOR OAKLAND MEN

Home Mechanics Will Be Employed on the Eighth Street Bridge.

Promise to That Effect Made by the Contractors to the Board.

The Board of Public Works held a meeting this morning.

The question of awarding the contract for repairing the Eighth street bridge, was taken up last Wednesday, but the matter was put over for one week in order to allow the Board time in which to confer with the Bridge Company regarding the employment of none but Oakland men on the work.

This morning Colonel McMullan representing the Bridge Company was present, and verbally agreed to employ Oakland men in all positions save the Chief Engineer and Superintendent.

Mr. Wilson wanted a clause to that effect put into the contract, but the question of its legality arose and the matter was compromised by McMullan's agreeing to write a letter to the Board to the effect that he would employ Oakland men.

The contract for repairing Eighth street bridge was then awarded to the San Francisco Bridge Company. The bid was: Planking, $10 a thousand; fencing, 8 cents a foot; piling 25 cents; iron bolts, 3 cents a pound.

The cost of the improvement will be $5,203.40.

The Secretary was directed to re-advertise for filling on Lake Shore avenue, and to re-advertise for bids for fire hose. At the time the bids for the Lake Shore avenue were received, the avenue was too wet to be worked and the contract was not awarded.

"THE TRIBUNE" THANKED.

The following letter has been received:

"W. E. Dargie, Esq., Editor of Oakland Tribune—Sir: On Sunday evening, March 7th, the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Methodist Church of Oakland, Calif., passed a resolution of commendation and gratitude, complimenting the Oakland Evening Tribune for being the only paper in the city that had come out fairly and squarely for the temperance cause. By order of the society.

"CHAS. B. TENNEY, Pres.

"Oakland, March 9, 1897."

LETERELL HELD.

Elmer Leterell, the burglar, who, while trying to escape from the Hotel Metropole on the 27th of February, was shot by Officer Henderson, was held over by Judge Wood to answer before the Superior Court, with bonds fixed at $2,000.

Died in San Francisco.

Bjarne F. Dahl, died yesterday in San Francisco after a short illness. His wife lives in Berkeley, but the couple have been separated for several years. Dahl was formerly a prosperous broker, but ill-timed investments in mining stock, soon left him bankrupt.

UNION LABEL — OAKLAND, No. 36

WEDNESDAY.....MARCH 10, 1897.

When Vice President Hobart was sworn in he made a very modest speech craving as a presiding officer the indulgence of the Senate, making the impression that he was unused to Parliamentary ways. Now as a matter of fact, Vice President Hobart is an old hand with the gavel. He has been Speaker of the New Jersey Assembly, and President for two terms of the New Jersey Senate. If he has kept unruly Jerseymen in order he will be quite able to maintain order in the Senate.

It is assumed in some of our exchanges that if President McKinley were to sign the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill which failed to become a law at the last session of Congress, the bill would be renewed and take effect as law. The President has no power to sign such a bill because it died with the last Congress. It can only be renewed by what is equivalent to the passage of a new bill which must go through all the stages of progress in the next Congress. All that may be accomplished in a few weeks, or the Appropriation Bill may be delayed many months, or possibly go over to the regular session, of Congress which begins next December.

"Megargee," a contributor to the Philadelphia Times, describes General Garfield's trip to Washington when he was going to be installed as President. Only one incident is here noted: "About ten miles beyond Baltimore General Garfield's mother observed that the lamps in the car were still burning though it was bright day. They had been left lighted on account of the tunnels in Baltimore and the porter had forgotten to extinguish them after the last tunnel had been passed. "James," said the old lady "put out them lamps." Her sense of thrift did not relish the waste of oil the needless illumination was causing. The general obeyed his mother. Standing on the arms of two of the seats of the car he turned down the wicks of the lamps until their light was extinguished. He did this so quietly and unostentatiously that I could not help admiring the man who thus honored his mother's simple request."

No more striking difference than the one here noted has been known of late of the methods of our own country in dealing with Cuba and the methods of France. Consul General Lee wanted war vessels in the harbor of Havana and a premptory demand made for the release of American citizens from prison. Nothing came of that demand. Here is a dispatch from Santiago de Cuba detailing the French way of backing up a demand:

A young French girl, Mlle. Louise Flament by name, who was arrested here a week ago by the Spanish authorities, as a political suspect, has been liberated. After she had been kept seventy-two hours in the incommunicado state, the French Consul demanded her trial or immediate release. The demand was refused. Two days later a little French warship steamed into this port from Martinque, and, accompanied by its commander, the Consul renewed his demand, this time insisting on the prisoner's unconditional release, the withdrawal of all charges against her, apology for the outrage committed upon her, acknowledgment of a reasonable claim for damages and a royal salute to the French flag. To do all this the Spanish authorities were given six hours' time. In the meantime the Frenchman cleared for action, and then calmly awaited results. Before the expiration of the third hour everything had been acceded to, and when the Spanish cannon began to boom their salute of regret to France the young French girl was already at home receiving the congratulations of her friends.

The Next Message.

It is assumed that President McKinley will send a brief message to Congress next week which will be confined principally to a statement of the objects for which the extra session has been called. If there had been no tariff question there would have been no extra session. The tariff is so closely related to the question of finance in its broader aspect, that some reference may also be made again to that subject. It is of course not in the power of the President to confine legislation to the subjects which he outlines in his message. But if there is an understanding in advance that only certain measures will be considered the Speaker can be relied on to do the rest.

Aside from the chief measure to be discussed, a special interest attaches to the coming session because it will at an early day disclose just the strength which the new Administration has in Congress. There is no doubt about the Republican strength in the House. But while it is believed that there will be a small majority in the Senate for the Administration, it may possibly go down to zero on some test question. Until the first vote is taken on some important question which divides parties, it cannot be accurately known how many Senators beyond an actual tie, will stand by the Administration.

At the Two Universities.

The twelfth anniversary of the founding of Stanford University was celebrated at that institution yesterday. Founder's day will be more and more accentuated as the years go by. In twelve years great things have been accomplished at Palo Alto. Where there was little more than a country house and a horse ranch, there is now a great University with permanent buildings, a large faculty, and more than a thousand students. A town is growing up around the University which will finally become one of the most important educational towns in the State. It is not at all likely that Stanford University will ever be less than it now is. The prospect is that it will be a far greater institution as it ripens with years.

It has been suggested that the number of students should hereafter be limited to the present accommodations. One of the most interesting and inspiring facts is that students seek the advantages of a university beyond its present capacity to receive them. They want just what is to be found there. It is hard to turn away young men and women who are hungry for an education. As the institution ripens it becomes more attractive. It is comparatively poor at the start even if it has millions for a foundation. There is a great deal of wealth outside of money which cannot be gathered in a single decade. The old universities of Europe are rich in the facilities that have been acquired in three or four centuries. Harvard University is comparatively rich because it has had time to gather treasures in all lands.

Stanford University has been fortunate in having a President who is great enough for the place, and broad enough to cherish a catholicity which cannot be confined to any narrow limits. The commonwealth of science and scholarship has the world for its theatre. The modern scholar is in touch in some sense, with all the scholars of the world. The President of a great University is much more than the administrative head of such an institution.

The University of California is now beyond the contingency of financial want. Its annual income has been doubled by a recent act of the Legislature. It will be able hereafter to accommodate all the students that may ask for admission, if properly qualified. Nearly a hundred high schools, seminaries, and private schools have become feeders of that institution. The unsightly tents will give place to buildings which will finally appeal to the sense of fitness of things by their architectural beauty.

When the income was increased the Regents proposed to set apart $3,500 for scholarships. Now comes Levi Strauss, a well known citizen of San Francisco, and offers to give $3,500 for a series of years for the same purpose. Mrs. Hearst has already founded a number of scholarships for young women.

There will soon be a hundred scholarships affording just enough help to enable poor students to pull through from year to year. Every year some students are compelled to leave because they have not the means to meet current expenses. At Harvard University for a long time past it has been understood that no student, if he has real merit, shall be compelled to leave that institution for lack of means to pull through. Yet that University is not rich enough to make tuition free. Some day there will be equal facilities for hungry students without money at Berkeley. One of the best things that can be said now about the University, is that while in its earlier days it had little favor with the public, it is now in favor with the whole community.

A correspondent of the Chicago Record, writing from Circle City, Alaska, under date of December 21, describes the cold of the winter as ranging from 20 degrees to 40 and 50 degrees below zero; yet one hears less complaint about the cold there than is heard in Chicago. These are among the more important statements made by this correspondent:

To those who stay and work the country offers great rewards in comparison with what the average man can make below, and the chance of a fortune. In this district the mines offer the only source now, for Circle City is fully built, and the men who worked at it last summer will have to do something else, for there will be no building to speak of. At the present time it is very quiet. Many men went out, and almost all the rest have gone to the different creeks to sink prospect holes or to drift out pay dirt, which in some creeks does not have to be burned, as there is no frost after they get down to the pay. Last summer $500,000 was taken out of Birch Creek District, and this winter they expect to take out $200,000, allowing $500 to the man, a very low estimate. As the country has not yet been thoroughly prospected this amount will probably be increased next year and for some years to come.

Parties are now out and more are going to prospect creeks over the range, and before spring new discoveries will undoubtedly be made. The new Cloudyke strike in the Northwest territory (Canada) is an example of how little is known of this region. Only fifty miles up the Yukon from the old Forty Mile Post, where the Canadian Government now has a police force, it has been casually gone over several times by prospectors who kept to the main creek or river. Last summer, a squaw man was induced to go up a side creek of the Cloudyke by his Indian brother-in-law, and they found the gold on what is now asserted to be the richest creek in the gold region, and one of the richest ever struck anywhere. I myself have panned and seen panned some wonderfully rich prospects on the surface, as high as $5 to the pan. If the reports now coming down from Cloudyke are true they have it richer still on bed rock.

Ohio has a new State tax law, known as the Goodale law by which nearly $500,000 is annually paid into the Treasury drawn from electric light, express and railroad companies. These are some of the details of the income: Adams Express Company, $8,420.36; American, $3,299.88; National $231.96; Pacific, $87.60; Southern, $146.40; United States, $5,918.60; Wells, Fargo & Company, $1,110.64; Pullman Palace Car Company, $3,466.45; Wagner, $2,295.82; freight line and equipment companies, $7,363.39; total, $466,645.39. Various enterprises paid the State as follows: Electric light companies, $11,142.74; gas, $19,173.29; natural gas, $3,266.93; pipe line companies, $29,765.56; water works companies, $3,368.72; street railway companies, $42,185.30; messenger and signal companies, $850.04; railroad companies, $326,859.72; total, $440,110.20."

Nearly the Same Old Story.

Can any one remember a date during the last third of a century when there was not either a crisis in Europe or one said to be close at hand? The storm that was supposed to be brewing has never broken over Europe. Great navies have been constructed. In thirty years naval warfare has been theoretically revolutionized. New armies have been created with new and more effective small arms. Guns have been constructed with a range exceeding twelve miles, and high explosives have been generally adopted.

All this preparation does not bring about war. The tendency has been to make it more remote. The fact is the nations do not want war. They want unbroken peace. The people are turning towards arbitration treaties as the hope of the world. Now when there is so much talk of Greek and Turkish complications the most powerful nations of Europe are enlisted to prevent a crisis which might break the peace of the world.

Four great nations are intervening to prevent Greece from engaging in a war with Turkey. For many weeks the news has been of such a character as to impress many with a belief that war was inevitable. And yet these four great nations are holding Greece back, warning and even chastising her in a mild way into less belligerent behaviour. The war talk is of course uppermost. It makes stirring news. But how is Greece to engage in war as a serious business with four great nations holding her back, and actually pledged to preserve the peace?

The cost of the Federal Government per capita has been constantly increasing during the last quarter of a century. The New York Sun recently prepared an exhibit of the cost of the Government from the year 1800 to 1895. The expenses during that time have gone from $1.91 per capita, to $5.48. This is the sum exhibit:

1800....	5,308,483	$7,400,000	$1.39
1810....	7,239,881	5,300,000	.75
1820....	9,633,822	13,100,000	1.36
1830....	12,866,020	13,000,000	1.01
1840....	17,069,453	24,100,000	1.41
1850....	23,191,876	37,200,000	1.60
1860....	31,443,321	60,000,000	1.91
1870....	38,558,371	164,000,000	4.25
1880....	50,155,783	170,000,000	3.39
1890....	62,480,540	321,700,000	5.14
1895....	70,000,0000	(est.) 382,900,000	5.48

The estimates for 1897, the population taken to be 72,000,000, is a per capita tax of $7.16 or about double what it was at the close of the Rebellion.

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

A captain in a regiment stationed in Natal, when paying his company one day, chanced to give a man a Transvaal half-crown, which, as one would naturally expect, bears "the image and superscription" of President Kruger.

The man brought it back to the pay table and said to the captain: "Please, sir, you've given me a bad half-crown."

The officer took the coin, and, without looking at it, rung it on the table, and then remarked: "It sounds all right, Bagster. What's wrong with it?"

"You luke at it, sir," was the reply.

The captain glanced at the coin, saying: "It's all right, man; it will pass in the canteen."

Thus apparently satisfied Bagster, who walked off, making the remark: "If you say it's a' right, sir, it is a' right; but it's first time I've seed the Queen wi' whiskers on!"—Answers.

Maggie had never heard of George Washington until Monday. She is a domestic employed in an uptown apartment house, where she has spent most all of her time since she came to this country from Ireland eight months ago. The janitor of the building informed her early Monday morning that she must take in coal enough to last until Tuesday, because he was going to celebrate Washington's birthday. "Please, ma'am who's Washington?" asked Maggie of her mistress an hour or so later. The statement of a few historical facts which followed failed to thoroughly enlighten Maggie, although she seemed to be greatly impressed with the importance of the person whose birthday the janitor proposed to celebrate. "Washington was the father of his country, Maggie," volunteered a member of the family. "The father of this country? Oh, my, my! What a big man he must be! Does he live here?" When informed that Washington had been dead a great many years, that he was a great general and the first president of the United States, Maggie asked impulsively: "And was it Washington, then, that owned the American eagle?" "Well, not exactly," was the reply, "but he was the man who drove the British out of this country." At this remark Maggie's countenance brightened and she exclaimed with animation: "Oh, now I understand. He was the St. Patrick of America."—New York Times.

A lawyer recently wrote to Edward Everett Hale a letter in which he said: "I do not know what use Boston has for Murphy," meaning Francis Murphy, the temperance advocate. Mr. Hale quotes this statement in a communication to the Transcript, and then proceeds to give statistics that seem at least to show a considerable need, on the city's part, for strenuous efforts by somebody or other to lead its residents back into the path of sobriety. In the first three weeks of 1897 the number of arrests for drunkenness in Boston was 806; this was 257 more than in the corresponding weeks in 1896. Mr. Murphy then arrived. At the end of his first week the arrests had been twenty-five less than in the corresponding week of 1896; in the second week they were twenty-three less, in the third thirty-six less, and in the week ending February 1st there were 184 less. In other words, in the four weeks of Mr. Murphy's stay in Boston the arrests for drunkenness have been 268 less than they were last year, while in the three weeks before his arrival here they were 247 more. With a logic perhaps not quite defensible, Mr. Hale says that this improvement is to be credited to the great blue ribbon orator, adding, as a second thought and saving clause, "and of those higher agencies to which he would himself refer his successes."—New York Times.

By a recent order of the Pension Bureau at Washington the number of pension agencies in the United States is now reduced to nine. The estimated saving to the Government by this change is something in the neighborhood of $160,000 annually. The following list of agencies and the number of pensioners to be paid thereat is: New York, 98,383; Boston, 94,457; Philadelphia, 106,575; Washington, 140,265; Columbus, 104,194; Indianapolis, 116,066; Chicago, 125,233; St. Louis, 101,709, and San Francisco, 23,098. The number payable at Washington includes the pensioners now residing in foreign countries, being a total of 3,781. The total number on the pension rolls is 970,673. No change is made in the payment of naval pensioners.

Grecian Imbroglio.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, March 10.—A special to the Herald from Canea says:

"The Turks in Candiamc have been relieved by a detachment from the foreign warships.

"The insurgents attacked Fort Hierapetra on the refusal of the Turkish garrison to surrender. Thereupon the foreign warships bombarded the insurgent position, and the latter were forced to withdraw.

"The Italian commandant here has ordered the correspondents of Greek papers to leave Canea and they will, in case of refusal, be forcibly transported hence to Cerigo on board a torpedo boat. A similar notice of expulsion has been served upon all Greeks remaining in Canea.

"M. Baraklyss the Greek vice-consul, who was ordered to leave Canea by Commandant Amerette, under pain of being treated as a prisoner, and who refused to submit except by force, was taken off by an Italian steam launch with the dragoman of the consulate and placed on board a Greek warship.

"Fighting took place between Turkish troops and insurgents at the outposts in the Akrotiri. Numbers were wounded and brought to town."

HOSTS OF CHALLENGES.

Why the Day of St. Patrick Was Chosen for the Fight.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CARSON CITY, Nev., March 10.—There was a decided increase this morning in the number of sporting men who arrived to witness the fight. More of them came this morning than any day yet, and it is expected that from now on, the increase will be steady. A majority of those already on the ground is of the sort who prefer to live without working and all sorts of sharpers are on hand. In justice to the Carson officials it must be said, however, that they are using every effort to keep known confidence men out of the place. They have already sent out a large number of men known to be laden with gold bricks and the like and whenever the town marshal spies a man whom he has reason to suspect he invites him to take a ride forthwith to Reno. A large number of prominent pugilists is looked for by the early part of next week, and if all reports are true, there will be more talk around the ring after the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight is decided, than ever took place after any single fight in the history of the prize ring. It is said that a representative of Joe Goddard will be here to challenge the winner; Peter Maher is also prepared to bet all kinds of money that he can defeat the man who wins March 17th. Joe Choynski will also be here, and it is said he will have a challenge to hurl. Last of all, Charley Mitchell is expected to be present, and that means that there will be all sorts of challenges and defiances flying around. It is reported that Mitchell intends to dare the victor to enter a contest with him. It is also said he will issue a few challenges for other people.

Dan Stuart was asked this morning how he came to select St. Patrick's day for the date of the fight, and was accused of catering to the Irish element in the Corbett camp, in so doing.

"Oh, I guess not," said Stuart. "When I put the date of the fight on March 17th, I never thought of it's being St. Patrick's day. If anybody had come to me and asked when St. Patrick's day came, I could not have told him to save my life. Corbett signed articles of agreement December 17th, and I set the day of the fight three months from that day. That is all there is in the story, and that is how the fight came to be set for the 17th of March."

NEW TARIFF BILL.

The Effect It Would Have on Goods Now in Bond.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, March 10.—The World says.

The dispatch from Washington predicting that Congress at its special session will at once increase the revenue by adding from 10 to 35 per cent to the schedules of the Wilson bill, has created a small panic among importers and an almost unprecedented rush to get bonded goods out of the warehouses before the threatened increase takes effect.

The proposed summary action of Congress has taken merchants completely by surprise. While they were prepared for a special session to pass a new tariff law, they expected that the new bill would occupy the attention of Congress for at least six months, which would give them ample time to withdraw the $19,500,000 of goods which were in bond on January 31st.

It had never occurred to them that Congress might adopt a temporary measure for increasing the revenue, and the possibility of such a thing, with only about ten days to get their goods out of bond, at the present rate of duty, caused a genuine sensation.

It is understood that Butterfield & Company and other importers, of dress goods are among the heaviest withdrawers.

In banking circles, there is a greatly increased demand for loans on commercial paper. At one of the banks a loan of $500,000 was negotiated by a big importing firm for the purpose of withdrawing goods from bond, and the payment of duties thereon.

WAR AGAINST TURKEY.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, March 10.—A special to the Herald from Athens says:

"The general feeling here is that war against Turkey is unavoidable. It is believed that armed bands that have been sent out by the National League to different points in Epirus and Macedonia will give the signal for the struggle and the Greek army on frontier will then proceed to an invasion of Turkish territory.

"The gunboats Action and Ambrayia, with the gun vessel Approsesia, have been ordered to blockade the Gulf of Arta in order to prevent the landing of Turkish troops.

"The papers criticise favorably the Government's reply to the note of the Powers.

"The Greek vice-consul in Canea, M. Baraklys, having been forcibly conveyed on board the Alphios, by order of the Italian commandant, Ameretta, the Greek Government protested to the ministers of the Great Powers against the action of the soldiers."

GIANT HOAX.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

ST. LOUIS, March 19.—A theatrical advertising agent started a sensation in St. Louis by causing card boards to be tacked and hung and pasted in the city wherever his men could find space, these cardboards bearing in flaming letters the words "Bulletin, Bulletin, Warning."

A tornado is coming.

A large big black faced flag, like the one used by the weather bureau represented the idea that the pasteboards were issued officially. The condition of the weather was threatening, and when the people saw the cards they became very alarmed. Soon the police, the weather bureau and the newspapers offices were flooded with telephone and private messages, asking if a tornado was really predicted. The resident portion of the city gathered their families together and prepared for trouble. Many of the schools on the west and south side closed as soon as word was received of the supposed approaching storm, and the frightened children came home trembling in tears to tell the bad news to their parents. The scare reached the south side at noon. All through the locality where the fearful tornado of last May spread so much death the terror of the women especially was pitiful. Many families took refuge in the cellars and it was not until late in the afternoon when the murky clouds began to disappear, that they could be pursuaded to leave them.

In the meantime the police were busy tearing down the awe-inspiring placards, and assuring the people there was no danger. A cold reception awaits the Tornado Company and its advance agent has suddenly disappeared.

TROUBLE IN BRAZIL.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, March 10.—A special to the Herald from Buenos Ayres says:

"The situation in Rio de Janiero and Sao Paulo, Brazil, according to the Herald's correspondent in the former city, is very serious.

The Government, it is reported, will issue a decree declaring martial law, and will at once expel from the country the chief leaders of the Monarchist party. The troops on the Bahia will also be re-inforced by a corps composed of 6,000 men. This was decided upon by the Government, after an important Cabinet meeting.

"The people are greatly excited over the disastrous turn of affairs in Bahia, and their rage at the Monarchist's who are accused of fomenting the rebellion in that State, knows no bounds.

"An attack was made on the office of the Journal Libertad and the editor and proprietor, Colonel Gentil Castro, was killed. The office of the newspaper was destroyed. Viscount Curapreto a prominent Monarchist was attacked in the street but escaped with slight injury, friends coming to his assistance. The officers of the Journal Brazil and other Monarchist papers, have been threatened, and are strongly guarded by Federal troops.

"A mob in Sao Paulo destroyed the office of the Journal Commercio."

Peaceful Settlement.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, March 10.—A special to the Herald from Constantinople says:

"The evasive answer of Greece to the note of the Powers has been made known here. Seeing that the Powers have not yet changed their views respecting the measures to be taken in case of a refusal, the diplomatic circles here is of the opinion that it will be impossible to have recourse to eventual coercive measures before the expiration of two weeks.

"It is rather believed that the Powers will continue to negotiate with Greece to come to an amicable arrangement.

"However, the separate action on the part of Germany against Greece is not dissimulated. In that case it is not supposed that other Powers would interfere since they could only reap advantage should Germany eventually compromise her position in the East."

ORATORS ON DECK.

Law-Making Side-Tracked by the Senate Bribery Investigation.

THE LOBBY IS IN LUCK.

More Trouble Arises Over the Hour for Adjournment Sine Die.

A RUSH OF BIG WORK.

How the Closing Hours Are Being Passed in Sacramento.

(Special correspondence of the Tribune.)

SACRAMENTO, March 9.—The whole work of the Legislature today has been practically devoted to the bribery investigation for, although the actual proceedings were confined to the Senate, they were participated in by so many of the Assemblymen that calls of the House were frequent as the day wore on.

Such an outpouring of Sacramentans has seldom been seen as that which packed itself into the Senate chamber at both the morning and afternoon sessions, for in addition to an attendance of nearly all the transient population, the residents proper came to the scene to participate in the promised drama.

And the visitors were well rewarded for their trouble. Three of the most masterly speeches rendered on the floor of the Senate this session were made by Morehouse, Boyce and Stratton, the two first named being against the Examiner and the Oaklander for the newspaper men. Then there was the able argument of Col. George Knight to enjoy, so taking one consideration with another, the day was a red-letter one in the history of this memorable session.

George Knight, who appeared as counsel for the Examiner, made one of his characteristic speeches in presenting the case. Though suffering from a severe cold which brought about a marked hoarseness, he made the echoes of the Senate hall ring again with his fiery eloquence as he pleaded for his clients. His point was that the Legislature was not the proper place for such an investigation, but that the doors of the court rooms were open for it. Then he delicately stirred up a hitherto slumbering issue, for he protested that politics seemed to be figuring in the case.

Senator Morehouse's address, as attorney for the Senate Investigation Committee, was the most notable of the many stirring speeches he has made during the session. That he was worked up to the fighting point was easily seen, and the additional toasting he had received in the Examiner that reached his hands during recess gave a spice to his already peppery condition. He gave quotations, classical references and Shakespearean excerpts and he warmed up his audience so thoroughly that he was frequently interrupted by applause.

A few cross fires then took place and Senator Fred Stratton commanded attention with an argument on the legal points involved. He gave a very scholarly presentation of the facts and points at issue and quoted law as if he were an encyclopedia. Then he, too, took a turn at oratory and made a very clever conclusion to his remarks.

Senator John Boyce of Santa Barbara surprised all except his intimate friends. His speech was full of sarcasm, irony and fine invective and he flayed the Examiner with a stock of adjectives that became stronger with each succeeding word. Two or three times he became intensely dramatic, and friend and foe alike admitted as he took his chair, that his speech was one of the most masterly ever heard in the Capitol.

From the first it was easy to see how the sentiment was running, for despite the declamation by every orator that politics cut no figure whatever in the affair, it was very apparent that they not only did figure but that they predominated. The best evidence of this was when the roll was called on the question of committing Managing Editor Lawrence to prison, for with the single exception of Senator Chapman, who, by the way, had been directly charged in connection with the bill, the entire Democratic vote was for the Examiner people. This is how the ballot stood:

For committment—Androus, Aram, Beard, Boyce, Bulla, Chapman, Flint, Franck, Gillette, Gleaves, Jones, Linder, Luchsinger, Mahoney, Morehouse, Pedlar, Shine, Shippee, Simpson, Smith, Troutt, Voorheis, Wilkington, Wolfe—24.

Against committment—Bert, Braunhardt, Denison, Doty, Dwyer, Feeney, Hall, Henderson, Langford, La Rue, Prisk, Seawell, Stratton—13.

The vote to commit Reporter Levings was the same, with the exception that Stratton voted aye instead of no, as in the Lawrence case, and Smith no instead of aye. Stratton's reason for changing was that the question put to Levings was a material one. Smith thought that the record did not properly convey the subject matter.

Sergeant-at-arms Leslie Blackburn had an important part to play after the passage of the resolution, for the newspaper men went into his custody. After taking them to dinner he turned them over to the sheriff, from whom they obtained their freedom directly afterwards on habeas corpus proceedings. The writ was made returnable Thursday afternoon and Judge Hughes, who issued it, admitted the two prisoners in $1,000 bail, the security being furnished by Senator La Rue and Attorney Charles F. Hanlon of San Francisco.

There promises to be some sensational proceedings during the next twenty-four hours, for Senator Morehouse is very wroth over the action of Judge Hughes in admitting legislative prisoners to bail. He threatens impeachment proceedings for the judge, so there are chances that the Senate may be plunged in another vortex of investigation.

ADJOURNMENT IS NEAR.

Meantime the hours between now and the day set for adjournment are fast slipping away in a very unsatisfactory manner. Work in the Senate has been practically at a standstill for two days and with the crowded condition of the files and the various complications of legislation that are staring the members in the face the situation is fast becoming a serious one.

In the first place the general appropriation bill has not even been considered in Senate committee as yet. This will take at least two days, so that it will be Friday at the earliest before the measure appears on the floor of the Senate. The usual fight is inevitable and those who have gone through the mill once know that two days is a very small allowance to give for consideration of the bill on the floor of the Senate.

This will bring the time to the close of the present week. The bill will then have to go to the printer so it will be Monday before it can come up for final passage. This will bring the session up to the 15th and it will be a sheer impossibility to get the bill through the Assembly again by the next day, for a Conference Committee is certain to be in demand, and doubtless a free conference also. It can easily be understood therefore why it will be impossible to adjourn before the 20th.

Meantime war is quietly waging on the subject between the two houses. The Assembly refuses to set the day for adjournment, as the members of the lower House think they will then be in the power of the Senate. However, the Senate is retaliating by adhering strictly to the rules and the result is that all the Assembly claim and deficiency bills are blockaded, as are also all the constitutional amendments.

In order to get even some of the Assemblymen are now talking up a proposition that will put the Senate in a hole. It is to refuse to consider Senate bills as long as the claim and deficiency measures sent over from the Assembly are barred from the Senate urgency file.

The Senate, though, will give tit for tat if the House puts the threatened conditions into effect, for the programme in such an event is to refuse to consider Assembly bills of any description until the House recedes from its position. This the Assemblymen say they will never do, and as the Senators also refuse to surrender, the prospects of a legislative deadlock are hourly increasing.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT.

The county government bill will not be left out in the cold anyhow, for it will be through the Assembly in a few hours. The changes made in the Alameda County schedule at the recent caucus of the delegation were all offered as amendments to the bill today, and went in without any opposition.

The fee bill is also moving much faster than most of the large measures. The Assemblymen have put in some good licks at it and it will be before the Senate in the course of two or three days.

As for litigation in general the wholesale slaughter of the closing hours is now showing itself. Measures carefully drawn either by constituents or the members themselves are to die by the wholesale, for although many of them have escaped the dangers of committee, it will be absolutely impossible to bring them up for consideration.

A LEGISLATIVE LESSON.

This condition of affairs, by the way, conveys a moral that all persons directly interested in prospective legislation should bear in mind. It is to put in all bills of any importance as early as possible in the session—the first week if it can be done. It is true that this first batch of bills gets an overhauling and a scrutiny that can be escaped during the latter part of the session, but at the same time one thing is certain—the early bill will get a hearing.

There is nothing so annoying to members of the Legislature as the tardiness of many of their constituents. The session will be three parts over and then up will suddenly and expectedly come a measure, frequently of much local importance. In order to get it in a position where it can even be considered the legislator has to rush around from desk to desk to get his friends to stand in with him in pushing the bill along and then, after all this trouble, it is frequently impossible to reach the measure at all.

ONE ON MURPHY.

"Blinker" Murphy, whose political articles in the Examiner have given him a national reputation is quite a wag in every-day life, as well as with his pencil. He has a quiet way of going about everything that thoroughly disarms all suspicion and he generally manages to land his joke before his victim awakens to the fact that there is anything in the wind. "Blinker," or Al, as he is called among the boys, got a bad setback the other day, though.

Over the portico of the Speaker's desk in the House appears the legend "Legislatorum est justus leges condere." The Assemblymen have this precept confronting them all day long, yet nine out of every ten are ignorant of its meaning. As Al had a few minutes on his hands the other afternoon, he thought he would have a quiet little joke with Assemblyman Keegan.

Keegan hails from Santa Rosa, is a Populist and evidently of the middle-of-the-road brand. It looked like a pretty good bet that he might as well be asked about so much Sanskrit as to interpret the Latin on the wall in front of him. So Al dropped into a chair by his side and after apparently looking around the chamber aimlessly suddenly centered his gaze on the Latin phrase and turning to Keegan, said, "By the way, what does that mean?"

Al thought that Keegan would have to throw up his hands and plead ignorance, and he chuckled to himself at the approaching discomfiture. Much to his surprise, though, Keegan not only translated the words for him, but gave him the course to be pursued in framing a Latin sentence, and wound up by saying in rather loud tones, "Bring anything like that to me every time you get stuck. I used to teach school and I can help you out."

The few friends Al had invited to witness how he did up Keegan are inclined to think now that the joke is on him and he has evidently got the same idea himself, for he is willing to buy a two-bit cigar for anyone who brings up the subject.

SAW STRANGE SIGHTS.

Mrs. E. H. Pardee Tells of the Effect of Drugs on Her Husband.

Thinks That They Predisposed His Mind to False Impressions.

The attorneys in the Pardee will contest resumed the taking of the deposition of Mrs. Emma Pardee yesterday before Notary B. H. Griffiths, and probed into the effect of the morphine which the widow alleges he used to relieve his sufferings.

During the few months prior to the doctor's death, she said he had had hallucinations. At times he would imagine that hobgoblins of all sizes were about his bed and that they came for the special purpose of annoying him.

She made no claim that her husband was insane, but that he was in a highly nervous state; was much debilitated and that under the strain his mind slowly weakened. This she thought left him in a highly susceptible condition and that he was easily influenced by Dr. George Pardee, who, she claimed, visited him frequently during this time.

The further taking of the deposition will be resumed Saturday.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

The Annual Convention to Be Held Next Friday Afternoon.

The members of the Alameda County Christian Endeavor Union will assemble in their annual convention at the Brooklyn Presbyterian Church, East Oakland, Friday afternoon and evening. President S. W. Condon will preside and conduct the devotional exercises. Mrs. J. A. Cameron of Alameda will lead the discussion on social matters. Alex Stuart of East Oakland will make the report of the look-out committee. Miss Carrie Potter will read the report of the prayer meeting committee, and the junior workers will be represented by Miss Margaret Boyce of San Francisco.

A basket lunch will be served in the parlors at 5 o'clock. O. M. Vesper will lead the singing in the evening. Guy N. Campbell of San Jose will deliver an address in the evening on "Our Part in the Preparation for the '97 Convention." Reports of officers and election of officers for the ensuing year will follow. A large delegation of young ladies from Mills College will be present to participate in the exercises and represent their society.

MESMERIZED.

Bad Habits Make a Man Act Like He Was Under a Spell.

A man will try to convince himself by arguments so poorly founded that if they were presented by another they would be treated with contempt. As an instance: He may be ailing from the heavy poison of tobacco, or the lighter poison of coffee, the weakened condition will show somewhere in the body, eyes, head, stomach, heart, liver, bowels or somewhere. His doctor tells him to stop the habit, but each day the thought comes, "O, coffee and tobacco don't hurt me, its my stomach that is at fault; I'll have that cured and everything will be all right;" so he keeps on with his habits, and goes to drugging a poor old stomach that would do its work beautifully if the master would furnish enough vitality to run it, but he poisons his nervous system and robs the members of strength to carry on their work. When a man wakes up to what he is doing, exchanging his health and chance to succeed in this world for a paltry habit or two, he quits them and follows nature's wise laws.

It is easy to give up coffee if one can have Postum, the food drink, which is a fac simile in looks of fine Mocha coffee. In taste it retains a like pungency with coffee, but has a distinct flavor of its own. It is made entirely of pure grains, and has the ability to make red blood quickly.

Tobacco, morphine, whiskey, strychnine and coffee each contain much the same poisonous alkalcids, but vary in strength. Postum is a delicious breakfast drink; it is fattening and nourishing, for it is made of the grains intended by the Creator for man's natural use and scientifically prepared by the postum Cereal Co., Lim., of Battle Creek, Mich.

Beware of the fraudulent imitations of the original Postum Cereal grain coffee. Insist on Postum.

The Congregational Orchestra Tomorrow Night, With Trebelli.

The Black Flag on the Boards at the Oakland Theater.

Trebelli, Miss Jean Hush, and the Congregational Orchestra are surely a great combination when one is looking for a high classed concert. This is the combination that is to be heard at the Orchestra concert tomorrow evening at the Congregational Church, corner of Twelfth and Clay streets and, if one is to judge from the advance sale of tickets, a large and fashionable audience will surely pack the big church.

Trebelli, the bright and shining star at present in the musical firmament will sing on this occasion, to her last California audience as she leaves Friday for the East to sing the remainder of the season with the famous Boston Symphony Orchestra. Trebelli is considered by most of our critics who have had the pleasure of hearing her, to be the greatest artist that has visited the coast since Patti, not excepting Nordica who lately visited the coast. Trebelli has the advantage over Nordica in as much as her voice is younger. She sings on this occasion the numbers she has mostly pleased her San Francisco audiences with.

MLLE. TREBELLI.

Misses Jean and Florence Hush will assist at this concert, playing Greig's Sonate in G., a masterpiece of violin and piano. They met with great success last night in the Trebelli concert in the city and received much merited praise in this morning's papers.

The Orchestra under the leadership of Mr. William J. McCoy, has made great progress and a glance at the programme shows a varied and pleasing set of compositions by the great writers. The idyl for flute and four horns is the first of the musical novelties to be given by the orchestra and will be very pleasing.

Tickets are rapidly selling at the music stores.

THE OAKLAND.

The "Black Flag" is being given a spirited production at the Oakland Theater and it receives hearty recognition. The individual work of May Nannary and Al H. Hallett, is particularly praiseworthy and the completeness of the mountings add materially to an excellent production.

Next week will inaugurate a season of laughter an dmusic, when Lottie Williams and Ed. J. Heron, the talented young minth-marekrs, appear in Hoyts' "Bunch of Keys." This laughcreator is the oldest and most lasting of all fardal pieces and its humor is of the catchy order.

Lottie Williams and Ed. J. Heron have been delighting the theater-goers of San Francisco for the past six months and their retirement is regretted. Their season of four weeks at the Oakland Theater should be attended by crowded houses as laughter and music are potent drawing cards.

CLEVER AMATEURS TO CONTEST

The Affair Will Take Place in the Tabernacle Tomorrow Night.

BASKET-BALL IS BOOMING.

Donovan Replies to Remarks Concerning Oakland Ball-Players.

Politics had a detrimental effect upon athletics this week. In the clubs the all-absorbing topic was the election, and though some little work was done, there is nothing of any material moment to chronicle.

The boxing exhibition of the Acme Club Thursday night will be the chief affair of interest just at present, though the relay race of the cyclers also claims attention.

THE UMPIRE.

The California League of last year was not a grand success because it had at its head a man who did not consider the public, the players or anybody else except himself in regard to the way a League should be run.

Mr. Arthur Blake filled the positions of president, secretary, treasurer, general manager, advertising manager and every other position within the gift of the above offices.

He was the "Poo Bah" of the League, and he showed his great generalship and knowledge of baseball by engaging team after team until he had demoralized the League, the players and the public and wound up his season by charging the players more for the use of the grounds than they could hope to receive from the gate receipts.

The California League for this season will be handled by competent men who will furnish the best quality of baseball by California talent that can be found.

Prominent business men who are well known to the baseball public are interested in the affairs of the League, and as soon as the deal is closed for the grounds the plans of the League will be given to the public.

The League will be represented by the same teams as last year, the San Franciscos, Oaklands, Imperials and Stocktons, but many changes will be made to strengthen them.

Krug, Murphy and Moynihan of the San Franciscos, Eddie Smith of the Imperials and Russell, Pequiney, Sullivan and Shea of the Oaklands, have received offers to play in the East next season.

* * *

The following letter from Jack Donovan regarding last season's ball games is self-explanatory:

"Sporting Editor Tribune—Dear Sir: A criticism appeared in your last week's sporting column which came from a San Francisco correspondent and I consider it very unjust.

"The article stated that the San Franciscos, Imperials, Stocktons and Oaklands disgraced the ball field.

"Having played forty odd games as captain of the Oaklands (Acmes) and during that time I did not witness one act either on or off the ball field, which could be considered the least bit disgraceful by any of the Oakland players, I feel compelled to answer the aforesaid article.

"The reason this article was published was on account of an act of the captain of the San Francisco team in a game against the Imperials in which he threw the ball over the fence and ordered his men off the field, because the umpire would not call the game on account of darkness, and for this one act for which one man alone was guilty, forty or more players are accused of disgracing the diamond. Yours truly,

* * *

For some time past plans for a gigantic indoor meet have been maturing, but the promoters of the scheme were in a quandary as to who they should put in to manage the meeting. None of the local people were capable of handling such a gigantic piece of work and for a time it looked as if the meet would fall through, but a happy thought struck one of the directors and the name of Dave Shafer was proposed as the right man to fill the position and so he was placed in charge.

Mr. Shafer has gone about his work systematically, and has outlined his ideas to the directors of the company which is promoting the affair, with the result that they have told him to go ahead. He has given orders to Frank D. Elwell, the well known builder of bicycle tracks, to construct an eight-lap track on the fastest lines that he can think of, and it is very probable that the eight-lap track, as near round as the ground floor of the Mechanics' Pavilion will permit and banked high enough to permit of the introduction of quadruplets for pacing purposes.

The programme has not yet been decided upon, but it will be such that all classes of racing men, from the sprinter to the six-day grinder, will have an opportunity to ride during the three weeks' carnival. The first week, as the programme is at present decided upon, will be devoted to short distance racing for both professional and amateur riders. The second week will be devoted to semi-long distance racing, such as hour races, fifty-mile races, twenty-four races, in fact races of almost any distance to try the endurance of the riders and to please the spectators by the hard competition which these races will bring about, as all kinds of pacing machines will be used to make the riders pedal to their utmost. The third week will end the tournament and will be given over to the six-day riders. It is a long time since a six-day race was witnessed on this coast, the last time being about five years ago, and then the riders only rode eight hours a day.

Bald, Cooper, Kiser, Murphy, Ingraham, Loughead, Wells, Ziegler, Kimble, Gardener, Sanger, Eaton and a dozen other men more or less prominent will be here. Jimmy Michael, the fastest of the foreign riders, has been telegraphed for, and will leave Chicago for this city next week.

Of the long-distance riders (the six-day men) the following may be mentioned as possible entries in the six-day day race. They represent the cream of the talent in this country and their number will be increased by many other riders from all over the country. They are Schinneer, Hale, Waller, Gimm, Lawson, Ashinger and Miller.

THE UMPIRE.

BASKET-BALL PLAYERS.

A Fine Game at the Y. M. C. A. Tomorrow Night.

The fourth week of the series of basket ball games played between teams from Oakland and San Francisco will be opened in Oakland Thursday night, March 11th, in the gymnasium of the Y. M. C. A. at 8:45 P. M.

The teams to contest in this game are the two strongest of the league, having defeated all other opponents.

Basket ball is rapidly proving its right to be called the most popular of indoor games and to those who do not understand its principles and wish to see an exhibition of rapid and scientific play, an opportunity will be given Thursday night.

From present indications the championship of the league lies between these two teams. The Business Men's Team (San Francisco), claim the championship of the coast and as this has been an additional stimulus to the Athens Team (Oakland), the members are in a condition to play them the hardest game they have ever had.

In this game, Batzer, the star guard of the Business Men's team, will make his first appearance in Oakland. He is a marvel at this position and the fact alone that he will play should be a guarantee of a large and select audience. He and Titus, their goal thrower, are valued, so Captain Auger says, at no less than $10,000. Batzer having the ability to watch two men at once and Titus having a record of never missing the goal.

Admission to non-members ten cents, members free.

BOXING CONTESTS.

The Acme Club Entertainment To morrow Night.

The programme of boxing at the Exposition Building tomorrow night for the benefit of the Acme Athletic Club, promises to be particularly interesting. The contest between Chas. Tye of the Acmes and Ely, the champion of the Northwest, will undoubtedly be an exciting one, as the men are both exceptionally clever and anxious to win. They have been training hard for the match and will enter the ring in perfect condition. The Acmes naturally expect to see their man win out, but Ely will not be without supporters, as he is at present a member of the Olympic Club, many of whose members will be on hand to cheer him on.

The second match of the evening will be between Fields of the Acme and Reno of the San Francisco Athletic Club, and will be no less interesting than the first. Reno is the champion of the Pacific Coast in his class, has won many contests and has a reputation as a quick and thoroughly scientific boxer, while Fields is a veteran of the ring, capable of taking a great deal of punishment, strong and aggressive and equally scientific. Reno will have the advantage of height and reach, but it is expected that Fields will at least offset this in close work and mix-ups.

Lon Agnew, who is matched for a twenty round contest with Spider Kelly, will give a three round exhibition with E. J. Smith, one of the Acme's most promising amateurs. In addition to these there will be seven three round contests between the best of local men.

It is a much easier matter to arrange a match between third rate professionals than between first rate amateurs, and certainly from the standpoint of a spectator the amateur contest is the more interesting.

The Acme Club is deserving of praise for its efforts to advance contests that are distinctly amateur.

The general admission has been placed at 50 cents, stage seats $1. Only those seats back of the stage have been reserved.

The affair is in charge of a special committee composed of Frank Kitchen and Staples, and all the details have been perfected.

Philip Ward of the Olympic Club will be the referee, J. Bird the announcer and W. Sharp timer.

The preliminaries will be between Gilbert vs. Brown, Agnew vs. Smith, Simpson vs. Arena, McNamara vs. Kirchner, Lawler vs. Beatty, Easterbrook vs. Shimick and Wagner vs. an unknown.

RELIANCE WHEELMEN.

Preparations Are Being Made for the Relay Race.

Percy Hayselden, who had his wrist broken in a fall while visiting in Stockton, has entirely recovered from his injury. It will be remembered that he easily won the last road race given by the club.

Percy Mott and Charlie Gooch will ride at San Jose on Wednesday, the 10th, and Mott and Deacon will ride at Sacramento.

Joe Keating is visiting in Sacramento and when the boys go up there he will probably be prepared to take care of them.

Bert Elford has been chosen to ride the first relay and the selection meets From now on all of the riders will go From no won all of the riders will go into active training for the relay. If weather does not permit, the preparatory work will have to be done in the gymnasium and on the home trainer.

One of the new members of the wheelmen is Fred Blanchard of the Oakland High School team. He is considered quite a fast rider.

Encouraging reports are received from our members in New Zealand, namely, Fred Wilkins, Ben Dusenbury and L. A. Peckham. All three are succeeding quite well in business.

Wilkins will be remembered as one of last year's relay men, while Peckham was the rustling captain of the Reliance wheelmen in 1894, when the racing team swept everything before it.

Dusenbury, while not a rider, was considered a trainer of no mean ability.

All the talk amongst the wheelmen is in relation to the relays and no suggestion of club runs will be considered until after April 4th.

President Al Swain of the Associated Cycling Clubs and Chairman Adams and Chester G. Myrick of the Road Racing Committee, have commenced training for a 100-mile race over the relay course. Adams, on account of his well known sprinting abilities is the favorite in the betting.

All the boys are just commencing to get well from their injuries in the twenty-five mile race.

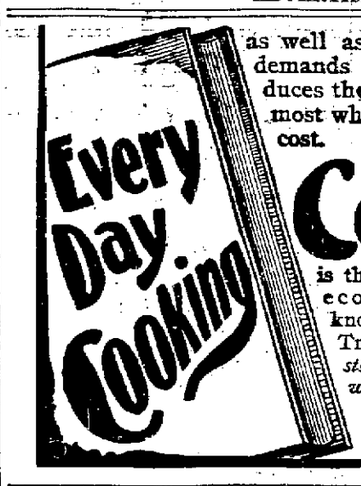

Helping the Needy.

The efforts of the San Francisco committee appointed to secure aid for the army of unemployed and destitute persons in the city is meeting with the success it deserves. There are many good, but poor families who are absolutely in need of food to sustain life. The hard times have had bad effects all over the country, but particularly so in San Francisco. Hundreds of laborers and mechanics with large families dependent upon them, have been forced to ask for assistance. This has been given in many instances, but yet there is not enough to go around.

Charitably inclined persons are urged by the committee to help along, either by contributions of money, food or clothing. These can be forwarded to the committee or to the Armory on Howard street, where they will be used to the best advantage.

Efforts are being made to secure work for the men and it is expected that with some help during the next month or so, the worst can be tided over until better times relieve this distress.

A fine spray of water shall then be turned on while the mass is again being turned, until the whole is thoroughly dampened The mass shall then again be turned with shovels and deposited on the street in uniform layers, so that, when thoroughly rammed, it shall be six inches in thickness

When prepared for asphalt or bituminous wearing surfaces, clean, broken stone not larger than two inches in any direction shall be scattered over the surface of the concrete with one stone to each three square feet of surface. The stones shall be pressed into the concrete for about one-half their depth, after which the concrete shall be protected and maintained free from disturbance or injury for seven days, during which time it shall be kept moist.

The concrete shall be thoroughly dry and clean before being covered with bitumen, asphalt or wooden blocks When prepared for wooden block wearing surfaces, the concrete foundation shall be given a perfectly smooth and even surface by "striking" the top of the concrete with cement mortar, mixed in the proportion of one of cement to four of coarse, sharp sand, which when hard and dry shall be covered immediately before the blocks are laid, with a coat of boiling liquid asphalt, not less than 1-16 of one inch in thickness

On business streets, the finished concrete foundation shall present a surface cross section to conform with the plan on file with the City Clerk for the improvement of the street The concrete shall have a uniform thickness of six inches between the outer gutter lines between which and the curb it shall be four inches in thickness

All concrete provided for in these specifications shall be thoroughly mixed by hand on a prepared platform, or by improved rotary machine mixer and tamped to the satisfaction of the Street Superintendent or his inspector, and shall be in place within thirty minutes after mixing, and thereafter not disturbed

ASPHALT CONCRETE.

The asphalt shall be in the proportion of one part coarse sand or fine gravel, two parts of fine, clean, sharp sand, and four parts of clean, hard crushed stone of a size that will pass through a one and one-half inch ring, and refined asphaltum in the proportion of ten pounds of asphaltum to each 3 and ½ cubic feet of the mixture of sand rock and gravel

The sand, rock and gravel shall be thoroughly mixed in the given proportion by hand or by machine mixer and heated in a suitable apparatus to 300° Fahr, and when the mixture has attained this temperature, there shall be added to it, refined asphaltum which shall be previously melted, and which shall be applied to the aforementioned mixture of sand, gravel and rock while at a temperature of 250° Fahr.

The refined asphalt shall be at least 90 per cent pure and shall be applied to the mixture of sand, rock and gravel gradually, the mass being turned constantly by hand or machine mixer during the application so that each stone and particle of sand and gravel will become thoroughly coated with asphalt Any of the materials in the mixture shall not at any time be subjected to a temperature exceeding 350° Fahr

When thoroughly mixed, the concrete, while still hot, at a temperature of at least 200° Fahr, shall be laid in place in such a manner as to avoid disintegration of its mass, and shall then be thoroughly tamped. The concrete shall be of a thickness specified in the Resolution of Intention for said work, and its surface shall be "struck" smooth and even

SECTION VIII.

BITUMINOUS ROCK PAVEMENTS

Upon the foundation of concrete there shall be spread a layer of bituminous rock, which shall be two inches in thickness when finished, and which shall be prepared and laid in the following manner:

The bituminous rock shall be of the best quality, and shall contain not less than 12 per cent and not more than 17 per cent of bitumen The bitumen must be hard, firm and elastic, and it shall not vaporize below a temperature of 250° Fahr. It shall be free from all coarse sand, clay or vegetable matter, of a medium degree of hardness and of such a quality as to make a good cement.

Before laying, it shall be heated in properly prepared kettles to a temperature of at least 250° Fahr, and not to exceed in any case a temperature of 350° Fahr Any material overheated or burnt will be rejected

The bituminous rock when thus melted or disintegrated shall be spread over the foundation in a uniform layer while at a temperature of at least 200° Fahr. by means of hot iron rakes, and it shall be immediately rolled with hot rollers weighing not less than 250 lbs to the lineal foot, and not less than two feet in width, until the layer thus treated presents a smooth and uniform surface and has a thickness of at least two inches.

The disintegrated bitumen shall be entirely free from lumps when placed upon the foundation before rolling; and while still warm and plastic the pavement must be dusted with fine Portland cement and then be rolled with a roller of at least ten tons weight which rolling must continue for not less than five hours for each 1,000 square yards of pavement laid, and then be closed to traffic for at least three days to allow for cooling and consolidating.

In all bituminous work provided for in these specifications, the raw materials will be subjected at all times to inspection by the Street Superintendent or his authorized agent, and any material rejected or condemned by the proper officer shall be immediately and permanently removed from the work.

SECTION IX

ASPHALT PAVEMENTS

Upon the foundation of concrete there shall be spread and constructed an asphaltic layer which shall be two inches in thickness after ultimate compression, and shall be composed as follows Asphaltic cement, 10 to 17 per cent by weight, sand (thoroughly dried), 88 to 76 per cent by weight, impalpable powder of limestone, 2 to 7 per cent by weight. The proportions of asphaltic cement, sand and limestone powder shall be such that, after the asphaltic pavement layer has received its utmost compression the voids between the particles of sand shall be completely filled up with asphalt, and no more asphalt shall be present than may be necessary to secure this result

All asphaltic cement used shall be composed of either refined Bermuda or Trinidad Lake asphalt, or a refined natural solid California asphalt, each of which shall be at least 85 per cent pure and be mixed with a refined natural liquid California asphalt, no less than 97 per cent pure and it shall be free from all deleterious substances, such as non-bituminous organic matter, soluble salts and loam It shall not be the residue obtained from the artificial distillation of coal, coal tar or petroleum oils It shall be of even and uniform composition, and shall contain nothing that will vaporize under a temperature of 300° Fahr under ordinary treatment Its contained asphalt shall be of a permanent and cementitious nature suitable in all respects to make, upon proper admixture with the refined natural liquid asphalt, a durable and satisfactory cement

The refined natural liquid asphalt shall be obtained by treating in suitable vessels, and at a suitable temperature, a natural liquid asphalt, so as to deprive it of all water, of all oils vaporizable under a temperature of 350° Fahr., and of all other injurious substances, and the refining process shall be so conducted as in no wise to impair the valuable qualities of the liquid asphalt. It shall be absolutely free from admixture with any compounds of paraffine or of coal tar, and it shall be of no less than 97 per cent pure.

The resulting asphaltic cement shall be free from water, volatile oils and all other deleterious substances, and its contained asphalt shall in all respects be suitable to meet the requirements of an adhesive and lasting cement, and it shall in all respects have the temper and other qualities necessary to produce a pavement that shall not be too soft in the summer, nor too hard and brittle in the winter

The sand shall be clean, sharp, silicious sand free from loam, mica, clay or any earthy impurities On sifting, it shall have at least 15 per cent of material that will be caught on a forty mesh per inch sieve, 25 per cent of material that will pass an eighty mesh per inch sieve, 10 per cent of which at least must pass a one hundred mesh per inch sieve. If the sand to be used does not contain the desired fine material, mineral dust unaffected by water may be used to make up the deficiency.

The sand and the asphaltic cement shall be heated in separate vessels to about 300° Fahr, and in no case shall the temperature be permitted to reach over 350° Fahr.

LEGAL.

After being thus suitably [illegible] proportion of the limestone powder, [illegible] shall be added to the hot sand, and the sand, limestone powder and the asphaltic cement in their proper proportions shall then be mixed together in a suitable power mixer so that every particle of sand shall be thoroughly coated with a thin layer of asphaltic cement.

The mixture shall then be brought on to the street in suitable carts, and shall be spread at a temperature of about 250° Fahr. on the foundation which has been previously prepared and cleared of all rubbish, and which has thoroughly set and dried.

The asphaltic mixture shall be uniformly spread with hot iron rakes to such a depth that after receiving its ultimate compression, the finished asphaltic layer shall show a thickness of no less than two inches After being spread, the mixture shall be ironed and compressed with hot iron rollers, weighing at least 250 lbs to the foot run, after which a small amount of hydraulic cement shall be swept over it, and the whole thoroughly compressed by a steam roller weighing not less than 250 pounds to the inch run, the rolling to be continued for not less than five hours for every 1,000 square yards of surface.

Special care shall be given to the heating and manipulation of the materials to insure a thorough mixture at the [illegible] temperature, without over heating or burning, and the asphaltic mixture and the materials contained therein shall be at all times subjected to inspection by the Superintendent of Streets or his inspector. The resulting pavement shall show an even and smooth surface, true to grade and official cross section, and free from all hollows and inequalities

COUNCIL NEARS ITS END.

A Number of Routine Matters Disposed of in a Rapid Manner.

The Council chamber in the City Hall was filled with curious people last evening. A rumor had gained currency that Councilman Bassett would introduce an ordinance closing the saloons on Sundays, and representatives of both the saloon and anti-saloon factions were in attendance.

Councilman Bassett, however, failed to put in an appearance and the sensation seekers were doomed to disappointment. Councilman Towle was the only other member absent.

The meeting was an unusually short one and had been specially called to consider an amount of business that had been hanging fire for some time.

Among the matters that were to be considered was the fixing of the water rates for the ensuing year.

Ex-Mayor W. R. Davis was present to represent the Oakland Water Company, and asked that the matter be deferred till some evening when the Council could consider the water rate question in detail.

Mr. Heitmann asked that this be done, but it was objected to by Manuel and Marshall, the latter saying he did not wish to attend another Council meeting this week. On motion, the question was laid over till the other business had been transacted.

When the water rate question finally came up Attorney Davis spoke at length on what he termed the unjust rate which had been fixed. The ordinance under consideration fixed the rates the same as last year.

Davis quoted statistics and claimed that the price per hydrant should be $3.50 or $4, rather than $1.75. At the conclusion of Mr. Davis' remarks the ordinance was passed to print unchanged.

ORDINANCES DISPOSED OF.

Regular routine business was then taken up, and the following ordinances were disposed of:

Authorizing the City Assessor to procure valuation of property from the County Assessor. Passed to print.

Changing grades of East Twenty-first street. Passed.

Granting J. P. Taylor the further privilege of occupying the foot of Franklin street with his coal bunkers for one year and eleven months.

License Up North.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 10.—At the village and town elections held in many parts of Minnesota, the issues were generally local, party lines not being drawn. At Waverly, the contest was between the young and the old men, the former electing the entire ticket.

Wells voted on high or low license for the liquor traffic—low license winning. The issues mostly voted on was license or no license. The following voted in favor of license: St. James, Hector, Morristown, Atwater, Glencoe, Fairmount, Slayton, Sherburne, Cokato, Morgan, Montevideo, and Hayfield.

Those voting against license were: Winnebago City, Elmore, Windom, Brownsdale, Elbow Lake, Minnesota, Heron Lake and Bellingham.

River Rising.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, March 10.—The melting snows and heavy rains caused a rise of 23 inches in the Mississippi River during the last 24 hours. Old river men predict the highest water known for ten years.

Regulating Stockyards.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 10.—The Assembly by a vote of 25 to 7 passed a bill to regulate stock yards in Nebraska. It is very stringent in its provisions.

The Merchants' Exchange Talks About Telegraph Avenue Repairing.

At a meeting of the Merchant's Exchange last evening the members decided to protest against the "pocketing" of the bills Nos. 558-559 by the Assembly.

Chairman Arper said that he had heard the Assembly had "pocketed" these bills, which were introduced for the purpose of permitting the garnishment of government officials' salaries. The members of the Exchange, by a unanimous vote, decided to protest against any such forgetfulness on the part of the Assemblymen.

LETTERS RECEIVED.

The results of the distribution of "Facts and Figures" in the Eastern States was shown by letters received by Secretary Pearce from residents of Tennessee, Illinois, and Indiana. Some of the letters were as follows:

"Webb Pearce, Secretary Merchants' Exchange—Dear Sir: Book on Alameda County and Oakland received. Thanks. I want to live in California and would like to buy ten or twenty acres of improved fruit land with the intention of engaging in fruit raising and poultry. Will poultry do well in Alameda County? At what price can I buy a place. Give me prices and terms on several different places.

"E. D. ALLEN."

"Webb N. Pearce, Oakland, Cal.—Dear Sir: Received "Facts and Figures" I send you a whole volume of thanks from a Yankee who is coming to California just as quick as circumstances allow me to sell out some real estate. I want to put out for the Pacific at once. We have had several families go from here, but they all seem to have struck for Southern California. I will not. Alameda County seems good enough for me.

"HENRY E. THOMPSON."

Secretary Pearce was instructed to answer the letters.

H. H. Pitcher of Livermore sent a request to the Exchange asking that that part of the county be permitted to have a share in informing the East of the advantages of Livermore, and that neighborhood. The matter was at Mr. Theo Gier's suggestion, referred to the publishers of "Facts and Figures."

The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce sent a request to the Exchange asking that the members interest themselves in the passage of the Trans-Mississippi appropriation bill. It was decided to comply with the request.

A. H. Rott's resignation as a member of the Merchants' Exchange was accepted.

J. F. W. Sohst made a lengthy report on the condition of Telegraph avenue paving "Superintendent of Streets Miller says we are cobblers," said Sohst, "in trying to have the holes in that pavement filled.

"Miller is a poor cobbler himself or he would put the avenue in repair. We will keep right on working for that street until it is fixed.

As there was no other business the meeting was adjourned.
